published, printed in color on fine enamel paper; any one of these above would sell at 50 cents in any art store.

The Mysterious North Star

by GARRETT P. SERVISS, the eminent astronomer, is an article of unusual interest which discloses many hitherto unknown facts about this extraordinary planet is the result of a series of conferences with President W. C. BROWN of the New York Central Railroad President E. P. RIPLEY of the At-chison Railroad, President RALPH PETERS of the Long Island Railroad. It presents this subject of national importance from the intimate view-point of the men who run the roads, and is calculated to interest every thoughtful person.

The Problem of the Railroads

The Confessions of Nero by WALLACE IRWIN. The most amazingly humorous article that this well-known author has ever written. It is strikingly original in tone and the illustrations will make you gasp for breath.

The Pinkertons, the Police, and the Crooks by O'CONNOR DOUGLAS, is an article from material furnished the author by a reformed confidence man who has operated in this country and Europe for over thirty years and who writes of startling conditions little known to the general public.

Besides other articles and stories we must mention two crackajack stories:

The Watcher in the Pit by MAXIMILLIAN FOSTER, the most absorbing story of vengeance carried across two continents and an ocean.

Unmitigated Molly a most delightful story by EDNA KENTON. Both these stories are profusely illustrated from drawings.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Marie Montessori, a lecturer in the university at Rome, is said to be the most intellectual woman in Europe. Miss Helen Taft, the president's daughter, has the credit of being an excellent cook and of being able to make her own clothes.

Miss Anna Dreyfus of Chicago, teacher of French, has been honored by the decoration of officer d'academie, conferred upon her by the French government.

Mrs. W. Eames Colburn, wife of the head of a Chicago banking firm, has built a modern seven room house for her thirty-five prize cats. The house is fitted up with brass beds, silk draperies and lace curtains.

Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch, president of the Equality League For Self Supporting Women, is not yet un American citizen, because she married an Englishman. She has determined, however, to be naturalized in due form, though she would prefer to have congress make her a citizen by special act, as was done in the case of Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris.

Lady Greville is one of the latest additions to England's long list of American bearers of titles. Only a year ago the new Lord Greville was a younger son, but his brother and father have died since, the brother suddenly. Lady Greville is a daughter of the late John W. Grace of New York and the widow of Hugh S. Kerr of New York, who died in 1907.
