SWANSBORO HAS PARK

Philanthropic Citizen Presents the Town With Beautiful Located Grounds For Park

A letter from Swansboro conveys the information that Mr. John A. Pittman, a leading merchant and citizen had presented that town with a tract of land to be converted into a park. Mr. Pittman is one of the wealthiest and most liberal men in that section and this gift is not the first instance of his generosity. The letter referred to has the following to say about the opening of the grounds which was made the occasion for quite a celebration.

Last Saturday was a red letter day in the history of Swansboro, when a new public recreation ground named "Oak Grove" was opened for use. The ground is the gift of Mr. John Pittman, the leading citizen of the town, and chairman of the board of commissioners of Onslow county. The proceedings took the form of a basket picnic in which the school children and members of the local Temperance Legion took prominent part. There was music and singing, led by Miss Sarah Johnson, of Northampton, Mass., who together with Miss Lucy Fessenden, of Philadelphia, who has been teaching school here during the past winter.

The Rev. W. S. Key gave a brief address in which he congratulated the town on the gift of the new grounds and expressed the earnest hope that everyone would regard it as their duty to protect the beautiful oak trees which adorn the park. Seats and tables for permanent use have been provided through the kindly and generous help of Mr. Claude Frassel, a well known local merchant.

College and School.

The University of Cincinnati through Dean Herman Schneider has originated a plan of co-operative industrial education whereby a student studies one week in the university and then works one week in shop or factory.

Principal James E. Armstrong of the Englewood high school, Chicago, has been experimenting with the plan of segregating the sexes during the first two years in the high school and claims that he has demonstrated its value.

Wellesley recently compiled figures showing that the total valuation of her college buildings is $1,700,000. Since President Hazard entered upon his office in 1899 the number of students has increased from 653 to 1,212, the endowment from about $400,000 to upward of $800,000.

FOR CONSTIPATION

Dr. L. H. Parkman, a prominent Druggist of Harris, Pa., says "Clemens' Kidney and Bladder Pills are the best for constipation. These pills are a real relief and they are the only pills which do not injure the system. They are sold by all druggists and are the only pills of the kind." - Harris, Pa.

MARK TWAIN PASSES

Death of World Wide Known Humorist, Writer and Author

Reading, Conn., April 22.—Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), died at his home, near here at 6:30 p.m. Thursday. He became unconscious at about 2 o'clock and sank gradually until death. He did not again recover consciousness.

Hope of recovery was abandoned when it was evident to the physicians attendant upon him that the patient was gradually losing ground. He had been conscious through practically all of his illness, and had had considerable knowledge of his condition and of the fight that was in progress. His spirits kept up to the last night he tried to joke a little with those about him.

The final unconsciousness came very gradually, and those about him thought it might be merely one of the periods which he had experienced before in this illness. He did not rally, however. At no time during his last hours did he appear to be in great pain, and the end came easily and without struggle.

With Mr. Clemens during the night and day was his daughter, Clara, her husband, Osnip Gabrilowitch; Albert Blue-How Paine, his secretary; Dr. Robert H. Halsey, and the nurses. Late in the afternoon his personal physician, Dr. Edward Quintard, arrived from New York, and joined the group at the bedside.

Samuel Langhorne Clemens,—"Mark Twain"—soldier, printer, pilot, reporter, lecturer, editor, publisher, author, was born on November 30, 1835, in the little town of Florida, Monroe Co. Mo., a hundred miles or so northwest from St. Louis.

"Guess who's at the VICTORIA, next week"

SHORT PASSING EVENTS

The large force of mechanics who are engaged in rebuilding the Norfolk & Southern machine shop, are rapidly progressing with their work. Three fourths of the heavy girders that are to hold up the roof have been placed in position and these are being covered with heavy planking preparatory to the roof which will doubtless be of state. It will however be several weeks before the work is completed.

This morning at 11 o'clock Professor Harry Waller, the world's strongest man will give a public exhibition at the corner of South Front and Middle Sts. Though a small man, weighing only 128 pounds, he performs feats of strength that are remarkable. Among his stunts he drives a 60 penny nail through two inches of plank with his bare hand, breaks steel chains by chest expansion and many other difficult feats.

CHILD WATCHES MOTHER KILLED

Four Year Old Girl Sees Man Blow Out Parent's Brains.

North Plainfield, N. J., April 22.—Information conveyed by a four-year-old child led to the discovery of the murder of Mrs. Frederick Coverly in the dining room of her boarding house No. 17 Somerset Place, shortly before noon today. The woman was found stretched upon the floor and the wall of the room were spotted with her blood.

Chief of Police Wiles, of this place and Chief Kieley, of Plainfield, with about a hundred men are making a search of this vicinity and toward the Watchung mountains in automobiles, hoping to run down John Grant, who boarded with Mrs. Coverly and whom the children accuse of slaying their mother.

Chief Wiles was in his office when four-year-old Marion Coverly walked in and cried: "Will you please come and see my mamma? She is sick on the floor and won't get up."

Brief questioning convinced the chief that something serious had occurred and he hurried with the little girl to her home. On the floor of the dining room was the prostrate body of Mrs. Coverly with her brains spattered about on carpet and wall.

According to the story related to Chief Wiles, Marion said Grant and her mother were "talking loud." She said she and her sister stood in one corner when Grant drew a revolver and blew out the woman's brains.

Ball Players' Oddities.

Leon Ames, the corker pitched pitcher of the Cubs, considers it an ill omen to be knocked senseless by a batter's ball.

Mark Athrock, third baseman believes that if he strikes out three times in succession it is a sign something unpleasant will be said to him by his manager.

F. P. Brown, holds the amusing belief that if he pitches a no hit game Frank Chance will be all smiles. (Marty says this belief is purely theoretical, but he is sure to verify it.)

Tray Coles has all the experimental material to a southpaw. For example he pitches in both hands. For some time he has been throwing in both hands. (They think he is a right handed man.)
