VERY EXCITING RUNAWAY

Two Young Men Narrowly Escape Serious Injury. Buggy Demolished

A runaway that came near proving fatal for one of the participants occurred yesterday on Middle street shortly after 10 o'clock.

Messrs Nicholas and Hoyt Robinson, two young men from Pollockville came to the city yesterday morning driving an animal that had lately been broken to the harness and who was very fractious. While driving down Middle street the horse became frightened at an auto and began to rear up, Mr. Nicholas Robinson dismounted the vehicle and caught hold of the bridle in an attempt to quiet the animal but this seemed to do very little good as the horse gave a plunge and dragging the young man, dashed into a pile of chairs in front of J. S. Miller's. This upset Robinson, who letting go was run over by the buggy, while his brother thrown forward by the sudden halt fell between the front wheel and body of vehicle on the axle, where unable to move he was carried a long way, the horse dashing through the passage along side of Scott's stable knocked off a rear wheel finally bringing up in a horse stall. In entering this shed Hoyt barely escaped having his head knocked against the side of the entrance. A crowd rushed after the runaway, expecting to see a mangled body, but very fortunately both young men escaped serious hurts. Their clothes were torn and they were bruised but they behaved calmly, tho the situation was one to upset strong nerves. The horse was not injured. The buggy was badly damaged.

In Memoriam

On Sunday night May 8th the angels came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwards in New Bern and bore to his heavenly home the fine spirit of their darling boy James Melville aged 2 years and nine months. Though his precious life was so brief on earth he had gained the love of all who knew him, and I have never known more sorrow over the separation from one so young. To know him, was to love him, his gentle ways and beauty of person, won all hearts, mama and papa are not all that miss him.

Precious no more will the patter of his little feet on the stairway and the sweet voice calling "grandmother Lottie" be heard to cheer our lonely hours, but in the city of our God we expect to meet thee again, where no burning fever, sickness, or parting can come but where the lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall lead them into living fountains of water and God shall wipe tears from all faces. Ere sin had touched his fine soul God had his place prepared and called him to join the throng of infant souls, who stand around the great white throne, we always think of our darling in very sweet strain of music, and every beautiful flower, which he loved so well. The days seem long without the music of his dear voice, but our sweet day we shall meet again in our Fathers' house of the many mansions, where no end farewells are ever spoken.

In Memory of Mrs. Virginia Harrison

Mrs. Virginia Blackledge Harrison, daughter of the Hon. William S. and Mary Hatch Blackledge was born in New Bern, N. C., Aug. 26, 1835, where she lived her whole life, and passed away on March 16th 1910. Between those dates is a record of a life of unselfish devotion to God and humanity. Born and reared in affluence, the only daughter spared her parents, she was cared for with anxious solicitude and loving tenderness. Her education was under the tutelage of Miss Varina Moore, whose select school at that time offered the very best advantages New Bern could give. Studious, conscientious and faithful, she improved to the utmost this opportunity for culture and development. When about 14 years of age, during a glorious revival of religion in Centenary Methodist church she gave her heart to God and His service, connecting herself with that church of which she was to her last day with us, a faithful and devoted member.

She was married at an early age to J. M. F. Harrison, a most successful merchant planter. Every luxury was theirs, having the most beautiful place in New Bern then home only refused in High Point during the raging of the civil war, at the close of which, at this time after these several years of absence she found her beloved church greatly deteriorated in numbers and influence. With her usual energy and determination she set to herself the task of restoring it to its former position, and by wise and helpful co-operation with her pastor was successful in building up "The waste places of Zion."

Left a widow at the age of 27 years with three small children, contending with changed conditions, she entered upon a heroic struggle to rear and educate them which she accomplished most successfully. Her oldest daughter, Corinne, after developing into a cultured, brilliant woman, was at an early age called to her heavenly home. The two living children are Miss Mary Hatch Harrison, of New Bern, and Mr. William Blackledge Harrison, of Chicago, whose two children are her only grandchildren. Her brother, Richard Blackledge survives her. Her father and his brother represented this section in U. S. Congress and in this State from 1811 to 1831.

Mrs. Harrison served in helpfulness several organizations formed for the benefit of the poor and needy. It was in the parlor of her home that the Ladies Memorial Association was formed, and she was one of the charter members. She was especially characterized by a tender, loving sympathy with the sick and afflicted, many can testify that her labors in the sick room, encouraged many to recovery from serious illness.

It is known to a few of her friends that an earnest prayer of her life had been that a child of hers might preach the word of God to all men. When in 1894 her youngest daughter returned to New Bern after musical study, gave up all for her accepted work in His vineyard and started the Christian Science work here. Mrs. Harrison's interest in the work increased constantly for as a co worker in her own church said she loved her daughters church as well as her own, for the good it was doing. Her charity for Christian workers was great and no kind word or deed done to her or others was ever forgotten by her. She lived almost wholly with her daughter whose loving care was so constantly spoken of by her to friends, the piety in her home was of the old Southern type, the friends of her daughter set her name as a splendid housekeeper was known to all who entered the home. She often recalled the special dishes she used to prepare. Many times was her home shared with the motherless and fatherless.

To all the interest of her church she was faithful giving active service for quite a while, past score years and ten. As a member of both the Foreign and Home Missionary Societies she was loyal to every obligation but her special work was with the latter in the superintendence of the "Baby Roll" to which she gave her fostering care. The roll came suddenly and without warning but as gentle as a tired child rears upon the bosom of its mother. She fell asleep leaving behind the testimony of a life well spent in the service of her family her children and humanity. She has entered into the joy of her Lord and her work is done.

One who knew and loved her.

A CALL BACK TO THE PEOPLE

Judge W. B. Allen for the Supreme Bench

(Editorial from Goldsboro Argus)

The friends of Judge W. B. Allen have thought that they had the right to present his name to the people of the State and to ask that he be nominated for the position of associate justice, and that they could do this without suggestion of any ulterior motive.

They have also thought that the people of the State had the right to name the man they prefer, and that this right was not taken from them by the fact that the Governor had appointed Judge Manning.

The suggestion to the contrary is not made by the friends of Governor Kitchin but by the friends of Judge Manning, and is an attempt to involve the Governor in the contest.

The Durham Sun, published at Durham, has sent out an editorial in behalf of Judge Manning which, when analyzed, is not more than an appeal to the sympathies of the people upon the idea that Judge Manning may be hurt if he is not nominated, and an effort to induce the friends of Governor Kitchin to support him by charging that the friends of Judge Allen are trying to rebuke the Governor.

The Sun mentions the fact that three Judges have been appointed by Democratic governors, who were not afterward nominated by the people. All were men of high character and ability, but it was not regarded as a reflection upon the governors who appointed them, nor upon the gentlemen themselves, that they were not nominated. The argument that the people must nominate the men appointed by the Governor, and that it is a rebuke to him not to do so, is subversive of our ideas of government.

From what source does the Governor obtain the power of appointment? The answer is from the constitution. Who made the constitution? The people. The preamble to the constitution says: "We, the people of the State of North Carolina," do ordain and establish this constitution for the better security of our civil, political and religious liberties.

Why did the people confer the power of appointment on the Governor? Manifestly because it was necessary for the office to be filled at all times, and as the people could not exercise their right of selection except at a general election, they authorized the Governor to make a temporary appointment, until they should have the opportunity of exercising their choice.

If this is not a correct view of the constitution, why was not the Governor invested with the power to appoint for the full term of office? Why hold a convention at all to nominate an associate justice when the Governor has made an appointment?

The friends of Judge Manning say he has been appointed, therefore he must be nominated, and all those who do not agree with them are rebuking the Governor.

The office of associate justice of the Supreme Court does not belong to Governor Kitchin, Judge Manning nor Judge Allen, but to the people. Let them fill it.

One of the greatest evils of the day is the tendency to concentrate power in the hands of a few men, and to curtail the rights of the people. The people have no right more important than the right to name their officers. Governor Kitchin has been at all times, and we are sure is now, an advocate of this view.

The character, ability and fitness of Judge Allen are admitted by those who oppose him, and his nomination will not be asked upon any other grounds.

His friends do not say that he ought to be nominated because he has served as a Superior Court Judge for nearly eight years, but that his experience as such will add him as a member of the Supreme Court, and that the elevation of Superior Court judges to the Supreme Court tends to strengthen both courts. Judge Allen has held court in nearly every county in the State, and lawyers and the people have had the opportunity to judge of his qualifications and ability.

His conduct on the bench has been such that there has been for several years a growing sentiment in the State that he would be elevated to the Supreme Court when there was a vacancy from the East, and this sentiment is not confined to the supporters of any candidate for Governor.

We believe the friends of Governor Kitchin will not be misled by the appeals being made to them, and that they will vote for the man who ought to be nominated.

We think that man is Judge Allen.
