REGARDLESS OF COST LIVING.

It is not alone the very rich class that lives regardless of the cost involved. Many classes of wage earners spend fully as much as the rich, in proportion to the amount of money they receive. Human nature turns to meet changes, and prosperous conditions breeds extravagance among the once poor, as readily as it does among those who have gone from rich to richer. The wage earner can be extravagant in prosperous times in two ways. By working just enough to maintain a living, that is, if three days wages will enable him to live seven, then work but the three days. The second mode is to work hard the six days in the week, and spend all the wages earned, not necessarily in wasteful living, but living without laying aside any money from the wages received.

Many a wage earner cries high prices because with increase of wages he buys of the higher priced articles, and is not careful in his purchases. In foods there are many that can be purchased, at higher prices perhaps than the same sold for some years ago, but not higher if the increased wage pay be considered. Two factors accentuate high prices of every thing among wage earners, these are indifference to work with a purpose of saving, and because of good wages being careless as to cost of living, that is buying articles that enter into living expenses, without thought of the price of each, or whether substitutes at less cost may not be used instead of the higher priced ones.

The Steady Job.

"Do you think worry kills more people than work?" "I'm sure of it," replied the sarcastic scientist.

"Why?" "Because so many people find it easier than work and devote their time to it."—New York Journal.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye-blochy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health.

Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal purgatives reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headaches, dark rings around the eyes, yellow skin, a most loathly feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are sending help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give the necessary help.

"About three or four hundred dollars," he said, "these are the figures in my place who has been with me over two years, but it will look well in the papers to give him."

"Oh, that's all right," he said, with a little crooked smile. "You know people have always said that I was close and hard, and I want them to think well of me when I'm gone."

"I was a little touched and said something, but he waved it aside, and we continued with the draft. When it was finished and as I was about to leave the office the old fellow smiled again like the crooked snake."

LAME EVERY MORNING

A Back is Always Worse in the Morning. New Bern People Are Finding Relief

A back that aches all day and causes discomfort at night is usually worse in the morning. Make you feel as if you hadn't slept at all.

Can't cure a bad back until you cure the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys—make you feel better, work better, rest better and sleep better.

Permanent cures in New Bern prove the merit of Doan's. A. L. Bryan, 123 E. Front St., New Bern, N. C. says: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as I know this remedy deserves all that can be said in its favor. Often my back was so lame that I could hardly arise in the morning. The secretions were unnatural, contained a sediment and plainly indicated the source of my trouble. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I procured a box at Bradham's Pharmacy and had taken but a few doses before I found that I was being helped. I continued their use and was soon completely cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster—Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Notes falling due on Sunday, or on a legal holiday, must be paid the day previous.

MARVELOUS DISCOVERIES.

mark the wonderful progress of the age. Air fights on heavy machines, telegrams without wires, terrible war in ventions to kill men, and that wonder of wonders, Dr. King's New Discovery—to save life when threatened by coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, bronchitis, hemorrhage, hay fever and whooping cough or lung trouble. For all bronchial affection it has no equal. It relieves instantly. Its the surest cure. James M. Black of Asheville, N. C., R. R. No. 4, writes it cured him of an obstinate cough after all other remedies failed. 50c. and $1.00. A trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Mexican Pearl Fisheries. The records of pearl fishing along the coast of Mexico go back to 1520. With little interruption this industry has been continuous to the present day.

Steel and Iron. Steel runs seven times as rapidly as iron.

Quick as Thought. "Quick as thought" is not very quick. While a light wave would travel around the equator in a second, a nerve wave makes but about a hundred feet a second.

"It cured me," or "It saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures. Sold by all dealers.

A Curious Will. Countess Anna Maria Helena de Nonilles, a member of one of the historic families of France, has made a curious will which has just been proved. She left her estate at Meads, Eastbourne, England, to found "St. Mary's orphanage," laying down the following rules for the education of the girls: No competitive examinations, no study before breakfast, no study after 6 p. m., all lessons to be learned in the morning, no girl to work more than four and a half hours daily. No arithmetic, except the multiplication tables for children under ten. No child with erysipelas of the spine to write more than five minutes a day until thirteen. Each girl must be certified by two phreologists as not deficient in conscientiousness and firmness. No child to be vaccinated.

Lame shoulder is almost invariably caused by rheumatism of the muscles and joints, quickly to the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. This liniment is not only prompt and effective, but in no way disagreeable to use. Sold by all dealers.

Like Some Other Epitaphs. "I was called in by a crotch eyed old merchant the other day," a Boston lawyer remarked, smiling. "He wanted me to draw his will, and this I proceeded to do, following his verbal instruction. Presently he said: "To each and every clerk who has been to my employ for ten years I give $10,000."

"This seemed like a considerable sum to me, and I ventured a slight protest, as he had a number of daughters, and his entire fortune was not large.

"Oh, that's all right," he said, with a little crooked smile. "You know people have always said that I was close and hard, and I want them to think well of me when I'm gone."

"I was a little touched and said something, but he waved it aside, and we continued with the draft. When it was finished and as I was about to leave the office the old fellow smiled again like the crooked snake."

A WOMAN'S GREAT IDEA

Constipation and kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion, good health. Try them. 50c. at all druggists.

A King's Coin Collection.

Victor Emmanuel is considered, and rightly so, an exceedingly clever numismatist. A rather interesting story is told of the manner in which the king, while still little more than a child, acquired a taste for the science of numismatics. One day he received a solid bearing the head of Pope Pius IX. A little later, finding another, he added it to the first, and in this way he collected fifteen. Meanwhile his father, King Humbert, presented him with about sixty pieces of old copper money, and thus was formed the nucleus of his collection.—McClure's Magazine.

Jotted Him Probably.

A professor at Cornell University, in some disagreement with his head, was walking over the campus deeply absorbed in brooding thought. He bumped into something, quickly raised his hat and said: "I humbly beg your pardon." Lifting his eyes in time to see a cow.

The next day, even more absorbed on the same subject, he collided again. "Get out of the way, you old cow!" he exclaimed and looked angrily up into the livid face of the wife of the president.—Circles.

NIGHT OF EMOTION

When I secured a contract on one of the largest railroads in India I took my wife and little daughter with me and established them in a bungalow on the line. I was away all day, sometimes for days together, but I left plenty of servants at the house and felt no concern as to the safety of my family. My wife, who was troubled with insomnia, slept alone, and our little girl, seven years old, slept in a room with me. In that hot climate it is impossible to keep the doors and windows closed, and when I came in late at night I had no trouble in entering.

One night I went home and, finding the door closed, climbed into my room through an open window. As I did not care to awaken Rosie, who slept in a crib in one corner, I took off my shoes before entering and stepped noiselessly. Undressing with the same caution, I got into bed and was soon asleep.

I was awakened by a low growl. Thinking that my big dog Bruin had come into the room, I was about to get up and put him out when I was startled by another growl unlike that of a dog, but strangely resembling some one of the wild animals with which the country abounds. But what sent a thrill of horror through me was that it came from Rosie's crib.

The chamber door opened near my bed—that is, it opened toward me instead of away from me. Here was a possible exit for me if indeed I gave up my child for lost and chose to make an attempt to save my own life. I might slip out of bed and through the door. It is said that self preservation is the first law of nature, and I confess I practically illustrated the saying. Catching sight of two glaring eyes in the corner in which the crib stood, I lost consciousness of all but one thing—my own immediate threatened death. Springing from the bed, I pulled open the door, which fortunately stood slightly ajar, slipped through and pulled it shut behind me. At the same instant I heard the sound of a heavy body striking against it and a terrible growl, which I now recognized as that of the man eater (the tiger) of India.

There was nothing to do but hold the door. True, the tiger would not unlash it, but I did not care to take even the most remote chance of letting him into that portion of the house occupied by my wife and the servants.

There was a transom above, and very soon glass shattered by the tiger's paw fell on my head. Looking up, I saw his nose protruding, but fortunately the space was too small to pass him. Realizing the fact, he abandoned this point of egress, and I heard the thud of his fore paws on the floor. I expected he would go out at the window, but he did not seem inclined to do so.

Hearing a step behind me, I turned, and there stood my wife in her night-clothes.

"Rosie!" I moaned.

"What of her?"

"Lost."

Without a word the mother sank in a swoon.

Now comes a surprise in my story, for which, whenever I think of it, I lift my eyes to heaven and utter a "Thank God!" Rosie herself came running along the hallway. A few hasty questions and answers explained her presence. She had heard low growls from the tiger under the window before he entered and, terrified, fled to her mother's room and got into bed beside her without awakening her.

Then came servants, but so great is the terror of the man eater among the natives that when I explained that I had left one in my room most of them fled. My wife revived, saw her daughter and swooned again, this time through excess of joy.

One feeling now took possession of me, a desire to have the blood of the creature that had so terrified me, that might have killed my child. Directing the servants to take my wife and daughter to their sleeping room and lock them in, I called for my repeating rifle and, going into the yard, took position near the window through which the tiger had entered. There was no sign of him, and I feared he had gone when I saw a bit of yellow fur above the window sill. It was the ridge of his back. I should have waited till he put his paws on the sill preparatory to jumping through the window, but I could not brook the delay. I called to the servants to bring me something on which to stand so that I could see into the room, but none of them dared approach. Finally one braver than the rest threw me a box. Taking it to within a few yards of the window, I mounted it in time to see the beast put his fore paws on Rosie's crib and in this elevated position stand looking about him. There was no time to spare. He would soon see me and come for me. I have never before or since known the perfect point of nerve with which I pointed my rifle at him, aimed behind the shoulder and fired. The tiger sprang to the ceiling, then fell back dead.

What has since puzzled me are my own changes and feelings, first horror at the supposed fate of my child, next the all pervading sense of my own danger and lastly fear giving place to a desire for revenge. The most pleasurable sensation I have ever experienced was the sight of the beast springing up and falling dead. I dislike to think that at the bottom of its nature has implanted the same brutal instinct, rage as that gives to the tiger. Nevertheless I have his skin, which I use for a rug and never step on it without a sensation of joy.
