Care in Money Matters

Much money is lost by those who fail to keep accurate account of their income and outgo. Few make success of personal bookkeeping if they pay in cash.

The only practical way to have a complete record of expenditures and to secure a receipt for every payment, is to carry a checking account here and to pay all bills by check.

No business house would do otherwise and the simplicity of the plan adapts it quite as well to individuals.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS

Offered and Adopted by The New Bern Bar In Memory of Hon. W. W. Clark.

After adjournment of Craven County Superior Court June 16th in memory of Hon. W. W. Clark, the bar of the city met, at which Judge Henry R. Bryan presided.

The following resolutions were offered and adopted and after appropriate addresses by members of the bar the court reconvened and by order of the court, his Honor, Judge R. B. Peebles presiding, the resolutions were directed to be spread upon the minutes of the court and a copy published in the News & Observer and local papers, and a copy sent to the father of the deceased.

Our beloved and deceased brother William W. Clark was admitted to the practice of our profession in this State at the January term 1878 of the Superior Court, at the time entering upon the threshold of manhood.

It is within the memory of the living members of this bar the tribute at that time paid to the brilliancy of that examination. Predictions were then ripe as to the successfulness of the career upon which he was then entering; and how splendidly these predictions have been verified is but too well known to us all. To enter this bar in the year of 1878, young and inexperienced, meant courage born of that inward consciousness of power to produce all that was best of manhood and ability. At this Forum stood the Hon. Chas. C. Clark, the illustrious father of our lamented deceased, with his then partner, able and fearless, Frederick C. Roberts, Esq., and the distinguished Matthias E. Manly, Haughton, Justice, Hubbard, Greer, Stevenson, the last named, already called to that unknown shore. Precede to their ashes, and our present distinguished Chairman Judge Henry R. Bryan, who with our brother, H. C. Whitehurst and our absent friend who has sought the city of Winston for his home, constituted a galaxy of strength and legal ability equalled by few localities in our state and excelled by none. And while but still young in his chosen profession, this bar was augmented in strength and force through the admission of our distinguished Senator F. M. Simmons, and with such as he and those named, William W. Clark was called to oppose and vie with. To the strength of his own mind was added that of his distinguished father, and the firm then formed was beautifully characterized, not only as father and son, but of friend and companion: Side by side the mastery oratory of the one and the pure logic and deep fundamental knowledge of the law of the other echoed in these halls until an unfortunate accident disabled the elder from further engaging in the active life of the Advocate, and the duties of it all fell upon the vigorous mind of the younger, adding daily strength and vigor to an already powerful mentality, and daily ripening his knowledge of men, as nature and application had trained it in the law, until he reached that topmost round the coveted goal of the true and faithful lawyer.

Such knowledge as his could not be confined within the limits of his home, or within the lines of his State, but that reputation so justly earned had reached his nation's ear, and during the last term of Mr. Cleveland as the great Executive of this country, he named him to replace that distinguished Federal Jurist Augustus R. Seymour, whose latter life had been spent in communion with that kindred mind of our deceased brother. This appointment to the Federal bench met the acclamation of the bar of his State, and a factional difference in the politics of that day, alone prevented his wearing that judicial ermine so worthily bestowed and so richly merited by those attributes which so preeminently qualified him as jurist and man.

He was, as you all know, at all times punctilious in his observation of those ethics which distinguish the true lawyer from the charlatan. No paper or pen was asked of him when his word was given; no man or attorney could ever entreat his courteous treatment of bench or bar, and no act of injustice ever tempted him in the prosecution of a cause, and of him it might be truly said his client's cause was his own.

It can be but some slight consolation in this our loss to feel that the bar of the State has likewise felt that another great jurist has been called from his list. His loss my brethren of the bar, is a distinct one; the loss of his knowledge which cannot be transmitted to us, the loss of his personality which every individual of us feels; the loss of the example, as ever guiding to us, and the loss of his true friendship so cherished. And while his loved ones are crushed and shattered, it has caused in me a void which cannot be filled. With the hands of death upon his brow, he sat, and with his passing breath, spoke for a client's cause with an eloquence of language and logic which I never shall forget.

The "DuPont" Arrives

The torpedo boat "DuPont" after which Com. C. D. Bradham and a crew of the naval brigade went down to Charleston after last week, arrived in the city Sunday evening after an uneventful trip.

The boat is built entirely of metal, both steel and iron, 175 feet long, has a 17 foot beam, has two engines which develop 4500 horse power, carries 76 tons of coal and has a displacement of 165 tons. On the deck are located three torpedo tubes and three 1 pound guns. The torpedo guns use an 18 inch whitehead shell which is considered to be one of the most destructive missiles used by the U. S. Navy. The boat is painted black and when the deck is cleared for action it resembles an immense whale.

The engines can develop a speed of 26 knots an hour, and speaking nautically this is splitting the foam at a pretty lively clip.

Com. Bradham and the entire crew are congratulated upon their success in making the trip without a single mishap. This shows that when New Bern people start out to do a thing it is going to be well done.

Fred Carter Bound Over

Fred Carter, a seaman on the revenue cutter "Famlico" who assaulted Will Adams last Saturday afternoon near the market dock, was given a hearing before Mayor McCarthy yesterday on a warrant charging him with secret assault. After hearing the evidence the Mayor decided that the case was too serious a one for him to pass sentence on and bound Carter over to the next term of Superior Court under a bond of $100.

Called to Find Any Clue

After a careful investigation among the negroes in the northern section of the city the police have failed to find any evidence or clue as to who the negro was whom John Hargett, the negro man who was found in a semiconscious condition in a cold chaise a few days ago, attacked him.

Hargett is still confined at the sanatorium but unless his reason soon returns he will be sent to the insane asylum.

The Mikado Revived in New York

The Shuberts have put the "Mikado" on at the Casino Theatre, Broadway, New York, with an all-star cast. New York is going wild over it, and every body is whistling it. The New York Sunday World, ever alert to supply its readers with the most popular music, will give two songs from the Mikado. One is "Three Little Maids From School Are We," and the other is "For He's Going to Marry You You." Words and music composed by Stanley Burdley June 20 and July 2.

Wants you have hidden in the "Ladies' Journal" transmitted by the New Bern.

GREAT CONFUSION OF OPINION

Government Indictment Against Bull Leaders. Cause Considerable Covering of Shorts. Market Closed Dull.

Special to Journal.

New York, June 20—There was considerable short covering today by those who had sold on the announcement of the government's indictment of the bull leaders. There was no other feature to the market and business became dull when the urgent covering of shorts was over. There is still a great confusion of opinion concerning the speculative status of the market.

Crop advices were uniformly good. Spot sales were five thousand bales at fifteen points advance over Saturday.

Bold Attempt AT ROBBERY

Mr. Ralph Lupton Shot In Leg By Negro Highwayman

While enroute from this city to Jones County yesterday morning, Mr. Ralph Lupton, a travelling salesman for the Carolina Grocery Company, was held up by a negro man when about 10 miles from this city, and after refusing the miserant's demand for money was fired upon, the ball taking effect in his right thigh.

The following is the substance of Mr. Lupton's statement of the affair: "Early yesterday morning I left New Bern in an open buggy enroute to Jones county to secure orders for my firm. When about 10 miles from the city a negro man who was very shabbily dressed walked out from a clump of bushes which grew beside the road and asked me to stop a minute. Thinking that the negro probably wanted a match or to enquire the way to New Bern I stopped the horse. He then walked up to the side of the buggy and said: 'Boss I want some money.' I told him that I would also like to have some of the same stuff, then he said 'I have got to have some money and you have got to give me what you've got.' After saying this he jumped away from the side of the buggy and grabbed the horse's bridle and at the same time drew a revolver from his pocket. In the foot of the buggy was my satchel in which was my revolver. I thought of this at once and reached down to secure it. When I made this move the negro fired, the shot striking me in my right thigh and going clear through."

After the negro had shot Mr. Lupton he took to the woods and has not been seen since.

Mr. Lupton immediately returned to this city where the wound was given medical attention.

This is not the first time that travelers have been held up in and around this city by worthless and desperate negroes, who refuse to work but had rather steal and even commit murder, and it is high time that something should be done to put a stop to it.

Negro Shoots at Officer.

After being ordered to throw up his hands by deputy officer Outlaw at Dover Saturday night, Leonard Hill, a disreputable negro of that place, drew a revolver and began firing at the officer. After the chambers of the revolver had been emptied, the officer who had in some miraculous way escaped injury walked up to the negro and placed him under arrest.

Hill was given a preliminary hearing yesterday morning before a magistrate and in default of an $150 bond he was brought to this city yesterday afternoon and placed in jail to await the next term of Superior Court.

Will Locate in This City

New York June 20th—Following plan of the Tel-post automatic telegraph Company to interlace the whole country at an early date with its web of automatic telegraph wires, announcement was made in New York today that has under advisement the expansion of this system to all parts of North Carolina.

Connection is to be established by way of Louisville, to which point the system will be extended July 1st from Chicago and Indianapolis, where it has been operating for the last 12 months. William H. McCollum, former Superintendent of Construction of The Postal Company, who is in charge of the extension of the automatic system, has been looking over the ground for some time reports conditions unusually favorable for the inauguration of work on the line.

Among the cities and towns under consideration for connection with the automatic system are: Raleigh, Goldsboro, New Bern, Winston Salem Salisbury, Charlotte, Concord, Elizabeth City, Durham, Greensboro, Asheville.

In addition to being a boon of inestimable value to the public, the Tel-post automatic system will save the newspapers of the country hundreds of thousands of dollars a year in telegraph bills through its cheap rates, great speed and accurate service.
