STRANGE ACTIONS CAUSE A TRAGEDY

Two Men Throw Cherryville Into Excitement. One Man is Killed.

Charlotte, Aug. 22.—The quiet village of Cherryville, in the foot hills of the Appalachians, was thrown into a state of wild excitement at two o'clock this morning by the rather peculiar movement of two unknown men, one carrying a gun. So strongly were the people wrought up that a posse was formed, and the strangers being spotted, several of the posse opened fire on the men as one reached towards his hip, though no pistol was found after according to reports received here killing one and the other being chased and captured.

The dead man was later identified as Ambrose Prutt, his companion Reilly Gallant was locked up, and later made a statement. C. S. Reynolds, who fired the fatal shot, was today ordered held without bond, by the coroner. He was acting as deputy to Chief of Police Bean.

Habeas corpus proceedings will be instituted at once for the release of Reynolds, who, it is said, is not blamed at all for the deed for which he is held accountable.

The men had been to a house of ill repute, and Gallant claims that they were dodging on that account.

The excited citizens thought that the men were preparing to burglarize a local bank. Intense excitement has followed the night's strange experiences. Another report was that the men were supposed blind tigers.

Still in Business

In some way it has become poised around that I am intending to go out of the fish dealing business. How this report started I have not been able to learn but it is entirely incorrect in every respect as I have no intention of retiring from this business but will continue at the same old stand.

Respectfully,
A. L. WILLIS,
Fish Dealer.

Spindles To Become Idle

Boston, Mass., Aug. 22.—Millions of spindles in the cotton mills of the country will be idle for periods varying from one week to sixteen days during the latter part of this month and the first half of September. Mills in New England employing 50,000 operatives have already posted notices announcing a further curtailment and it is understood that similar action will be taken by many other concerns.

In the southern states more than 300,000 spindles will be idle one week in September. A short time policy among numerous cotton plants in New England will be continued during September according to the present outlook.

Weekly Cotton Letter.

There has been little change in the cotton situation during the week and while the market has been fairly active prices are not materially changed from those of last week. The tendency is reactionary owing to the reports of more showers in Texas and forecasts of further rains.

On the recessions, however, a good demand has been noted and the opinion prevails that until additional reliable data on the growing crop can be had present prices reflect a fair value for the new crop.

Conditions in the Eastern section of the belt have been steadily improving and more optimistic views of a good crop are now professed than were thought possible a month ago.

Miss Giles condition report issued this week was very bullish. Out it showed 12 per cent deterioration in Texas which more than offset any moderate improvement East of the Mississippi. Her report would indicate a crop of less than twelve million bales. Since the figures were compiled, however, the Southeast had more rain which leads to the belief that the government report will make a better showing than Miss Giles.

The market has to a large extent discounted the damage already done and prices for the new crop seem to have reached a point of equilibrium around 12 1/2 cent. Any further damage would be followed by an advance and continued improvement would result in a further reaction.

That of an early frost or even average deterioration during the remainder of the season would over any material decline, however, and in view of the likelihood of more crop reports later on we believe that cotton can be safely bought on margins for good profits.

GOVERNMENT WILL APPROVE "TIPS"

Comptroller of the Treasury Allows Claims for Waiters and Porters' Fees Paid By Officials on Business Trips.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The Comptroller of the Treasury, who has the last say in the matter of paying out Uncle Sam's money and whose decision is binding, recently handed down an opinion that employees of the government who travel on official business may "tip" waiters, sleeping car porters and similar help and the "tips" will be ok'd in settling accounts. The publication of the decision caused much comment in the newspapers, but inquiry at the Treasury Department disclosed the fact that there is nothing new in it.

"The government has always made allowance for postage and fees, or 'tips' to waiters and sleeping car porters," said a veteran federal official.

"The rule varies in some of the departments, but the general custom provides that the clerk who is assigned to travel may do so at the head of the division does when traveling on official business and not stipt himself in the matter of legitimate expenditures. Sometimes it happens that a clerk returning from a trip fails to make clear expenses where upon the auditor may disallow it, or send it to the Comptroller for an opinion. Whatever the Comptroller may decide is the law.

"Speaking the power of the Comptroller, reminds me that only a few years ago—it was while the Wilson tariff law was in effect the Comptroller of the Treasury refused to authorize the paying out of the money appropriation for the sugar bounty. The claimants had to get a decision from the United States Supreme Court before the Secretary of the Treasury could pay the bounty. Of course, there have been times when a Comptroller has reconsidered and revised his opinion when this was suggested by the Secretary of the Treasury of the President.

"I remember one such instance. It was during Grant's administration. The claim related, I believe to advertising. There was a question as to the construction of the law under which the advertising had been ordered. When it came before the Comptroller he held that the money could not be paid. An appeal was taken to the President who sent for the Comptroller. The case was discussed, with no suggestion that a reconsideration of the facts might be productive of a reversal. The president is reported to have said at the conclusion of the talk that he would not ask the Comptroller to change his decision, but he believed he could appoint a Comptroller who might take a different view of the law under which the advertising had been ordered. Of course, the claim was paid."

Will Reclaim Swamp Land

A delegation of landowners from the neighborhood of Dover, met here Monday and were given a hearing before the clerk of Superior Court concerning a project to drain a large swamp in that section of the county wherein the members of the delegation reside.

This land is very rich but the expense of drainage is so great that it can only be done through the incorporation of the people who will be benefited into a body to proportionately bear the expense.

The legislature has provided a process by which this can be accomplished and it is quite likely that in a short while not only all the swamps in Craven county but most of them in eastern North Carolina will be reclaimed.

THE COLONEL GIVES ADVICE.

He Tells Negroes That White Men of The South The Ones to Tie to If They Want to Succeed.

New York, Aug. 23.—Colonel Roosevelt, former president of the United States, speaking last night before 1,100 delegates of the National Business Men's League who cheered him and pledged him the support of the negro electorate for a possible third term, counseled his hearers to make the most of their opportunities.

"The white man of the South," said Mr. Roosevelt, "is the vital man to have sympathy with the negro. When your neighbor likes and respects you, you have won your battle. The white man of the north does his worst work in interfering between the two peoples of the South and his best work when he improves their relations.

"I would not slur over the injustice with which good colored men are treated, but I feel that the really substantial way of conquering injustice is to train your people so that the white man will fully recognize in his colored neighbor a desirable neighbor. Every down-at-the-heel, ramshackle negro cabin is not only bad for the people who live in it, but is a reflection on the race.

"The man who lives a ne'er-do-well life of idleness is doing not only ill to himself but to his people. I believe in this league. As I wrote five years ago when I was president, I believe in it because it is out of politics. You also stimulate among your people principles of business enterprise. That is well. You recognize that you should build a firm foundation before you can erect your superstructure."

Lively Time at Bridgeton.

Last Saturday was indeed a record breaker with the law breakers at that place. The trouble started in the wee sma' hours Saturday morning and continued until late at night.

At four o'clock Lon Smith, Jeanette Holmes, June Hodge and Mary Johnson, all colored, were arrested on warrants charging them with f. and a. They were given a hearing late in the day, on account of the lack of sufficient evidence were released.

W. C. Chapman, a colored drayman, was the next person caught in the toils of the law on a charge of draying without license, but he too was released on account of the lack of sufficient evidence.

At four o'clock p. m., A. S. Johnson, Mayor pro tem, engaged in an altercation with Willie Barnes, a young white boy, of that place.

At eight o'clock that night just after Johnson had stood trial for attacking young Barnes he was attacked by Fred Barnes, a brother of Willie Barnes.
