BIG POLITICAL SLAM IN SIXTH DISTRICT

Says the Wilmington Dispatch. "We must admit, and are rager to admit, that we do not like worth a bean the fact that Democrats outside the District have to arrange primaries for those inside the district. Of course, party principles have nothing to do with it, and must not suffer by comparison and cannot suffer with any fair minded person, but we do not like such actions as noted. It either shows the result of thought lessness or it is a big "slam" on the folks of this district."

The above protest is surprisingly temperate, and the Journal again expresses surprise that no THE LAST GRAND EXCURSION more vigorous sentiment is voiced than this from the Dispatch's editorial column. Knowing well the democrats of the sixth district, the Journal would not designate them political weaklings, and yet their primary action is dominated by an outside committee, that sets rules, regulations and date. It would have seemed enough, for the previous committee, that said no nomination, and left the issue of naming a congressman to the democratic voters in the district Durham to fight it out for another nomi; nation. But instead another set of political nurses are named to fix up a dose of soothing syrup, a lar train leaving Asheville September quieting preparation, so that the democrats of the sixth have just to meet with everything laid out agent or write for them.

And what if no nomination follows? Or perhaps the factions have become tamed by their for mer experiences, together with the effect of the political soothing syrup, from the central political hospital. But judging from the democratic quiet in the sixth betokens some coming storm, it may be with in the party, and so get stomach or stimulate the Heart and settled, but if it is of the old genuine kind, where democracy really asserts itself, there is going to be like the stomach or stimulate the Heart and Kidneys. That is all wrong! A weak Stomach nerves always. And this is also true of the Heart and Kidneys. The weak nerves are instead crying out for help. This
