BOUND OVER TO FEDERAL COURT

Alleged Blockaders Captured Near Pelletier, Waive Examination.

Levi Stubbs, John Higgins and Gray Wiggins, three of the alleged blockaders who were captured near Pelletier early Thursday morning by United States Deputy Marshal J. E. Cameron assisted by several deputies, were brought before U. S. Commissioner C. B. Hill yesterday morning for a preliminary hearing, but the defendants decided to waive examination and were bound over to the next term of Federal Court under bonds of $250 each.

Harvey Morse, another of the defendants asked permission to have his case continued until the 20th of September, this was granted, he being put under a bond of $200 for his appearance.

It will be remembered that Henry Wiggins, the father of John and Gray Wiggins, was bound over to court a few weeks ago on the same charge.

Innocent Storekeeper Suffers.

During the free-for-all fight which occurred on Middle street Thursday night and which created so much excitement for a short while one of the windows in M. Goldman's store was struck by one of the scrappers and shattered. Considerable other damage was also done in this place.

Next Meeting at Elizabeth City.

John Havens Has Chances.

While at Stewart's Sanatorium yesterday afternoon the writer was informed that unless some unexpected complications set in John Havens, the negro man whose throat was cut Thursday night by William Bailey, white, he would doubtless be able to leave that place in about ten days.

Innovation in Census Reports.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Census Director Durand is preparing for an innovation in the publication of detailed information regarding the results of the last census. Instead of grouping the information according to subjects as heretofore has been done in census bulletins, he will present all the information regarding the people of a given county or city under one heading. Carrying this plan into execution he will begin the publication of State bulletins about the first of the year.

Speaking to-day of his purpose in connection with these publications, Mr. Durand said:

"These bulletins will contain at least the important figures derived from the population census both from the State as a whole and for its counties, cities and minor civil divisions. All the facts available regarding any given county or city which are contained in this bulletin will be published together in one place, one item below another, the name of the county or city appearing at the head of the column, the various subjects being listed down the side of the page."

He expressed the opinion that this method would be much more satisfactory than the old plan of distributing the information so as to make it available only for purposes of comparison as between localities. "Each place wants to know what it is doing," said the director.

There is to be special effort to distinguish the urban from the rural population in each county and those living in villages or cities of more than 2,000 people will be assigned to the former class.

Comparison with the population of 1900 will be made the purpose being to show the tendency of given localities city ward or country ward. Following this there will be a classification of each county as to color, race, nativity and educational qualifications, and statistics regarding these will also be presented.

BAILEY'S TRIAL WAS POSTPONED

Henderson Man Who Created Much Excitement Thursday Night Under Heavy Bond.

Wm. J. Bailey the young white man from Henderson, who created so much excitement on Middle street Thursday night, was brought before Mayor McCarthy yesterday afternoon to be given a preliminary hearing on a warrant charging him with an assault on Whitford Hurtt and John Havens. Bailey's lawyer however was not ready for trial and the case was continued until next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the defendant placed under a bond of $1,000 in default of which he was remanded to the county jail.

Charles P. Whitten, also of Henderson, was given a hearing on a warrant charging him with an assault on Havens with a deadly weapon and probable cause being found he was bound over to the next term of Craven County Superior Court under a bond of $150 which he secured and was released.

Cotton Market Grows Strong

Special to Journal.

New York, Sept. 9.—The market was strong all day and gave indications of a still further recovery in the near future. Spot sales were thirty four hundred bales at unchanged prices.

IS IT A DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY?

Richard B. Lane is a democratic candidate for the nomination of Sheriff of Craven county, on Thursday September 15th.

A Democratic primary should be one at which only democrats are allowed to vote.

The primary held in this county on September third was one at which democrats were named for the different county nominations, but in the City of New Bern there were votes cast at every precinct by men who are known as republicans.

Richard B. Lane neither asked for nor sought a republican vote on September third, nor on September 15th does he seek republican votes to assist his nomination.

It is the duty of the registrars and poll holders at every precinct to see to it that no republican votes on September 15th.

It is the duty of every democrat to preserve the democracy of the primary by seeing that no republican vote is cast on September 15th.

If on September 15, there is to be an honest Democratic primary...

Street's Weekly Trade Report

Richmond, Va., September 9.—Street's Saturday will say for Richmond and vicinity:

Trade conditions generally are fair and in wholesale circles more optimistic feeling is apparent, however, in some lines a dullness is noted. Dry goods are more active than formerly reported. Wholesalers of shoes and rubber goods continue to report good sales. Lumber dealers and manufacturers report a fair demand. Manufacturers of shoes or tobacco and cigars continue to do well.

Trunk and bag manufacturers continue running at full capacity. Mines and foremen of coal report slow movement in the East on account of high prices. Duffs and chemicals are active. Building operations continue somewhat active for the season of the year. Reports of the cotton crop are favorable.

RESULTS THROUGH CO-OPERATION

Local Chamber of Commerce The Force For Citizens to Work Through.

Editor Journal:

Hurray for New Bern. It was with great pride and pleasure that we read in your valued columns that the spirit grown by our enterprising citizen, Mr. Oliver H. Perry and which had been placed on exhibition at the Cincinnati exhibition by the Commerce were receiving praise from every one, and had surpassed anything of the kind, even to the point of making "the great apple districts of the country take a back seat." Here we are with all of these resources lying at our very feet, exciting the admiration of the entire nation. In addition to the apples now being exhibited at Cincinnati, samples of alfalfa and oats are also there, which will soon be augmented by a fine sample of cotton, full of bolls, and also a good specimen of vetch and oats growing together, also a good number of post-card views of New Bern, including the industrial, floral, firman and military floats during the Bi-Centennial parades are to be sent.

The Chamber of Commerce is leaving no stone unturned to set forth the advantages of this section in so far as it lies in its power to do so, and would be in a far better position to accomplish more if the business and professional men here would give it their support. Unfortunately there are a large number of men of that class here who look upon the organization as a mere nonentity, who are making their living out of the people, and are not willing to support so worthy a cause, forgetting that within the past year and a half the Chamber of Commerce has accomplished more good than anything of the kind ever known here before. The Bi-Centennial celebration, undoubtedly the finest event ever held in this and many other states, stands as a monument to the labor and unceasing attention of the committee of the Chamber of Commerce, aided by the Woman's Club of this city, as well as by the committees from the board of aldermen and fire companies. The entire responsibility of the success of the celebration was placed upon the Chamber of Commerce, and how well it acquitted itself will go down in history for the admiration of future generations, and that too without the cost of a dollar directly, thus far to the business men of the city. For the benefit of the public we will state that it was at one of the committee meetings that the question of how to raise funds with which to get the torpedo boat Dupont to New Bern arose. The Chamber of Commerce took the matter in hand and the Dupont is here distributing four or five hundred dollars a month among our business houses without the cost of a dollar to them. Even the coal bill of the Dupont for the past two months have been something like four or five hundred dollars. There is a class of men in our community that because great colossal factories and manufacturing concerns do not spring up over night in our midst think the Chamber of Commerce is doing nothing worthy of their support, and drop out from its membership under the least pretext. This is a very poor way to show their appreciation of the labor of those who are trying to uplift the place and bring its advantages and resources to the outside world and we feel that every business man who is making his living out of the public of this place, should come to the support of the Chamber of Commerce, pay his dues promptly and assist in building up the town.

The summer is over, a good fall trade is in sight, and our merchants, we believe, are to receive a very great benefit from the many good things done by the New Bern Chamber of Commerce, in their behalf. Let every business man and merchant in the city pull together for the good of the community and make a greater New Bern through a greater Chamber of Commerce.

W. G. BOYD,
Secretary.
