

The Prudent Farmer

THERE is a great deal being said through the country about the importance of farming as an occupation. The fact is, that the great mass of people are just beginning to understand the value of land and the independent position of the farmer. The great drawback to farming in the past has been the lack of knowledge with regard to methods of agriculture and the precaution on the part of the farmers to lay up money in good years for possible emergencies when crops fail.

The farmer who deposits his surplus money in a strong, safe bank can tide over a season of bad crops, when it comes. This bank issues Certificates of Deposit, yielding interest at the rate of Four Per Cent.

one way out of it. The world says unless you have "the goods" you are not fit. It matters little what you make unless you have regularly and persistently. Therefore it is not wise to save money while you may and invest in something that is good and absolutely safe? By taking stock in the October Series of the NEW BERN BUILDING & LOAN ASSOCIATION (established 1885-22 years) which we now have no sales you not only lay the foundation for a snug sum, but become a factor in the town's uplift, as the money circulates freely and improves business conditions generally.

At the end of seven years when the stock matures and you draw out $100, $500, or $1000, to suit only $84, $400, or $800, it comes so easy it's like picking money up out of the street.

Our offices will be open on Saturday and Monday nights, Oct. 16th and 17th, from 8 to 9 o'clock for the purpose of receiving subscriptions, or explaining the details of this proposition to all who may be interested.

PRESIDENT TAFT TO GO TO PANAMA

President to Consider Matter of Fortifying the Canal. The Wages of Labor and Tolls. Vessels Must Pay.

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 15.—As announced Monday, President Taft will leave for Panama within four weeks to make the most thorough inspection of the canal yet held, and on the results obtained offer recommendations to Congress second in importance only to the original authorization for building the canal.

Although advisers have counseled the President against leaving the country for the eleven days required to make the trip, he feels that the reasons brought to his attention in support of the visit demand his immediate presence on the Isthmus.

President Taft will make a special study of plans for the distribution of coal at the two terminals of the canal in order to prevent any monopoly of the sale of coal. He is determined that private interests shall not seize the monopoly, and to this end, if the forthcoming inspection warrants such action, coal stations will be established by the Government which will supply not only war vessels, but ships of commerce. President Taft believes that the facts obtained should be embodied in recommendations for presentation to Congress at the earliest possible moment.

Although Jan. 1, 1915, is given as the date for the completion of the canal, it is expected that the work will be finished before then and the President insists that the details of administration shall be arranged in readiness for the opening.

One of the problems to be confronted is the form of government for the canal. It may be decided to govern the same along the lines followed by England with her crown colonies. A Governor would be appointed who would be responsible solely to the central Government. Such control would be essentially military, especially if it is decided to fortify the canal.

A New Magazine For Lovers of Adventure.

Any one who likes excitement will be more than ordinarily interested in the news that the Ridgeway Company, the well-known publishers of Everybody's Magazine, have issued a new publication which will be entirely devoted to "the most interesting and thrilling adventure stories to be found anywhere."

It's called Adventure, and the first number has just made its appearance. If the contents of this issue can be considered a fair sample of what is to follow, is safe to assume that the publishers have found what they are looking for—and then some.

Adventure is a well-made magazine. It has 192 pages of better paper than is usually found in a purely fiction publication. The serials and nine or ten exciting stories, with appropriate drawings, go to make up what most people will consider a very good 16 cents' worth indeed.

"Yellow Men and Gold," "Can a Man be True?" and "The Crook and the Doctor" can be specially recommended to those who like to have their thrills handed out to them in rapid succession.

If the energy and skill with which the publishers have handled Everybody's Magazine counts for anything at all, this new publication can be relied upon to go some. Folks who know the history of the inside workings of the magazine game, will talk with wonder in their eyes and voices of the skyrock progress of Everybody's Magazine from a home organ published by John Wamsucker to its present position of the biggest selling 15-cent general magazine in the field.

It is said that Adventure starts with a circulation that would do credit to an established publication of long standing. The Magazine itself is unique, physically attractive and powerfully interesting. It ought to create and fill a distinctly new place in magazines, and be the means of entertaining a good many hundreds of thousands of people monthly.

Here's Good Luck to Adventure!

G. T. Randolph Dead

Kinston, Oct. 15.—The people in this city were shocked this morning to learn of the death of one of our most esteemed and valued citizens, Mr. Charles T. Randolph.

Mr. Randolph came here about eighteen years ago and engaged in the manufacture of buggies and other vehicles, making a success and acquiring considerable property. His product is recognized all over the state as being of the best standard.

Mr. Randolph was active in all affairs for the uplift of this community, was pleasant in his social relations, straight and honest in his dealings and as he fore remarked, had made many friends in his adopted home.

He was born in Washington 64 years ago and his whole industrial life was in the building of vehicles, and his factory has won a state wide reputation.

Mr. Randolph worked in New Bern several years with the well-known firm of G. S. Waters & Son Carriage Manufacturers, finally marrying the daughter of Mr. Waters, the issue of this happy marriage being nine children.

On His Way Back Home

Cleveland, O., Oct. 15.—Colonel Roosevelt was up early yesterday morning as his special train passed through this city and was greeted by a large crowd at the station.

The engine of the special train in its run across the state of Ohio broke down and was forced to wait for another locomotive before proceeding. All on board took the delay good naturedly, looking upon the incident as merely that which might befall any train.

Mr. Roosevelt is now on his way to New York and upon his arrival there will once open the state campaign for the ticket nominated at Saratoga.

CRY FOR MEAT IN GERMANY

Rise in Prices and Scarcity Impair Health and Peace of Nation.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—The storm caused by the scarcity and high prices of meat continues; and, as before, it is directed exclusively against the restrictive measures framed in the interest of the home cattle raiser. Municipalities continue to pass resolutions demanding relief, and these resolutions are being supported by all parties. Even those who usually support, or are indifferent to protection now agree that the rise in food prices is becoming intolerable; and this in the interest of public health and public peace measures of alleviation must be taken at once.

A remarkable feature of the outcry is that it is joined by essentially middle-class centers. All parties in the Charlottenburg Municipal Assembly accepted a resolution demanding "that the frontiers shall be opened permanently to the import of cattle, free of duty and of quarantine." The burgemeister mentioned that the Municipal Council had sent in repeated complaints to the central government; but these had had no effect, and to re-inforce the complaint he suggested that the International Council should collect statistics from all parts illustrating the meat famine.

Herr von Pischel, minister of the Interior for the Kingdom of Wurttemberg made the following statement:

"Wide circles of the population demand towards reducing the price of meat. We cannot take offense at this demand, in view of the present extraordinary, and, for a great mass of the consumers, almost unbearable height of meat prices."

In Dresden, Dr. Tyska shows the consumption of all meats has fallen off 18 per cent. the consumption of beef actually falling 25 per cent. In Munich the consumption of beef has fallen off 25 per cent. In the whole kingdom of Saxony, despite the growth of population there were only 26,483 oxen slaughtered in 1908 as compared with 43,464 in 1905.

The Feast of Tabernacles

The feast of Tabernacles is to be celebrated by the Jewish community on October 18.

It is called in Hebrew "Succoth" and falls upon the 15th of Tishri in the Hebrew calendar, and lasts 8 days. The eighth day is called "The Day of Solemn Assembly."

This feast is ordained in Exodus XXIII, 17 XXXIV, 22, where it is called "The Feast of Ingathering," and in Leviticus XXIII, 34 and Deut. XV, 13. Leviticus we read, "Ye shall dwell in booths seven days—that your generations may know that I made the children of Israel to dwell in booths when I brought them out of the land of Egypt." This passage, it will be noted, sets forth the historical significance of the feast. Its agricultural character is suggested by its other name, "The Feast of Ingathering."

The Israelite who, in obedience to the Divine Command, left his house for the week of the Festival, and took up his abode in a booth or tabernacle, and lived through it as if were, an important epoch of his people's history, as thereby replenished the springs of Jewish sentiment. He was also, thereby taught, to remember that just as Israel in the wilderness was protected by God, so he is being guided in his earthly pilgrimage. God's love is ever with his children like a protecting cloud.

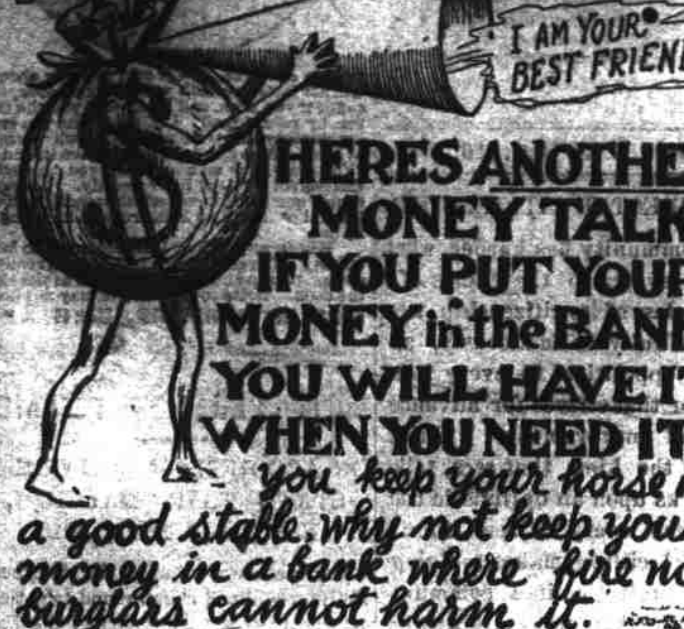

The second name of the Festival, The Feast of Ingathering, almost explains itself. The holiday comes in the Autumn, at a time when the husbandman in Palestine had safely garnered the produce of his lands. It was the time of the thinking of God as the giver. And so the beams of gratitude for the blessings he had and of responsibility for the right use of them was each year written upon his heart.

Services will be held in the Synagogue Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock and Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. H. A. Marshall officiating.
