TWENTY NINTH YEAR

The Prudent Farmer

HERE is a great deal being said throughout the country about the importance of farming as an occupation. The fact is, that the great mass of people are just beginning to understand the value of land and the independent position of the farmer. The great drawback to farming in the past has been the lack of knowledge with regard to methods of agriculture and the precaution on the part of the farmers to lay up money in good years for possible emergencies when crops fail.

The farmer who deposits his surplus money in a strong, safe bank can tide over a season of bad crops, when it comes. This bank issues Certificates of Deposit, yielding interest at the rate of Four Per Cent.

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS OF ONE DOLLAR OR MORE ARE CORDIALLY INVITED.

Therefore is it not wise to save money while you may and invest in something that is good and absolutely safe? By taking stock in the October Series of the NEW BERN BUILD ING & LOAN ASSOCIATION (established 1888-

BANKING IN ENGLAND.

The business of banking was not introduced into England until the seventeenth century, when it began to be undertaken by goldsmiths in London, who appear to have borrowed it from Holland. It was attacked, as innovations commonly are. Mr. Gilbart in his "History and Principles of Banking" quotes from a pamphlet published in 1876, entitled "The Mystery of

"Much about the same time-the time of the civil commotion-the goldsmiths (or new fashioned bankers) began to receive the rents of gentlemen's estates remitted to town and to allow them and others who put cash into their hands some interest for it if it remained but a single month in their hands or even a lesser time. There was a great allurement to put money into their hands, which would bear interest till the day they wanted it, and they could also draw it out by £100 or £50, etc., at a time as they wanted it with infinitely less trouble than if they had lent it out on either real or personal security. The consequence was that it quickly brought a great quantity of cash into their hands, so that the chief or greatest of them was now enabled to supply Cromwell with money in advance on
