VILLAGES TO BE INUNDATED

Government Making Room For Great Elephant Butte Reservoir.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 29.—Preparations are being made by the Government to remove nearly 2,000 people from their homes in order to make room for the great Elephant Butte Reservoir near Engle, N. M. Six villages, ranging in population from 50 to 700, will be inundated when the water is turned in.

Among the towns to be obliterated is Paraje, once an important station and distributing point on the old Santa Fe trail, with a population then of 8,000. From Paraje the trail entered upon the famous Jornada del Muerte (Journey of Death), where scores died of thirst in the old freighting days.

The Government is now engaged in buying up the farms and village property on the native residents and by the time water is available the great basin of 30,000 acres will have been deserted.

A BIG DEAL WHICH MEANS MUCH TO LYNCHBURG AND THE ENTIRE SOUTH

An agreement has been entered into whereby Craddock-Terry Company will acquire a controlling interest in the Geo. D. Witt Shoe Company, January 1st. This deal is in no sense "a combination in restraint of trade," but is a very important move looking to the further development of the shoe industry of Lynchburg. The Craddock-Terry Company and the Geo. D. Witt Shoe Company have made wonderful progress in shoe manufacturing, but in order to get the best results, in order to produce the best shoes at the lowest prices, shoes of each grade and kind should be manufactured in a separate factory, and by consolidating the factories of both companies under practically one management, making in each factory the grade and kind of shoes which can be produced to the best advantage, it will enable both companies to make a great improvement in the quality and a material saving in the cost of the shoes sold by both Craddock-Terry Company and the Geo. D. Witt Shoe Company, and will naturally increase the rapidly growing demand for Lynchburg made shoes.

Craddock-Terry Company have long enjoyed the reputation of being the largest manufacturers of shoes in the South, but this deal puts them in a class with the largest manufacturers in their line in the world, and it makes Lynchburg a big factor in the world's commerce, so far as shoes are concerned.

While Geo. D. Witt retires from the active management of the business of which he is now president, he will leave his money in this business in the shape of preferred stock, and the Geo. D. Witt Shoe Company will continue, as heretofore, a corporation separate and distinct from Craddock-Terry Company, retaining most of the men who are now at the head of the various departments, and practically all of the three leading men, under the general supervision of T. M. Terry, as President.

Under this new deal, all of the shoe factories of Lynchburg (except one) will be under practically the same management, which means that more shoes will be manufactured in Lynchburg next year than ever before in its history. Craddock-Terry Company alone will manufacture more shoes than all of their Southern competitors combined, and Lynchburg will stand in the very front rank of "The Shoe Market of the South," and one of the greatest shoe markets of the world.

This announcement will be of great interest to the shoe trade all over the United States, as both of these prominent manufacturers enjoyed a prominence in almost every State in the Union, having shipped their wares in which they possess years of experience and a thoroughly practical knowledge.

TRY TO CENSURE TAFT DEFEATED

President Taft's Name Hissed During Deep Waterway Session.

St. Louis, Nov. 29th.—Jeers and hisses at the mention of President Taft's name, which marked the final consideration of the executive in delaying the President's attitude toward the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways Association, were an incident in the defeat of the resolution.

Conservative members of the Association, which closed its convention here Saturday night, made a strong opposition to the resolution and succeeded, under the leadership of Representative Richard Bartholdt and Governor Denson, of Illinois, in having it rejected. The resolution was:

"We are compelled to deplore the course of the executive in delaying the creation of the board provided for in the last rivers and harbors act, and in finally appointing a board which proved unfriendly to our policy and project, despite our patriotic efforts to aid him by information concerning the physical and commercial conditions that are known to us and others."

The resolution was not only rejected, but stricken from the records of the resolutions committee.

Ordnance and Fortifications Board Makes Recommendation.

Washington, Nov. 29.—A fleet of aeroplanes for the army is recommended by the Board on Ordnance and Fortification, of which Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood is president.

The recommendations of the board, in a public relations statement already advised by General Wood, as chief of staff, and by General Allen, as chief of the Signal Corps, for a number of machines.

The first encouragement to military aviation was given by this board, which three years ago, advanced practically all of its appropriations for the purchase of captive and dirigible balloons. The advance of aeroplanes is now advanced beyond the experimental stage, the board holds.

The board asks for $25,000 to conduct experimental ordnance work.

HOW TO PREVENT FIRES

Insurance Commissioner James R. Young Issues Statement.

Raleigh, Nov. 29.—"Let the citizens of the state look into the condition of their fires and they will save fire loss to themselves, to their neighbors and the losses of taxable property to their state and their towns," declared Insurance Commissioner James R. Young yesterday in discussing the situation in this state as to fires at this time. He says he is receiving an unusually large number of reports of fires from many parts of the state, the big increase marking the beginning of the resumption of regular winter heating. He says that very many of these reports show that the fire losses are due to defective flues and stove connections. He urges that every citizen controlling a building have it examined as to the flues and stove conditions at once, as a great many of the fires that are occurring now are preventable and the losses represent the grossest sort of inexcusable fire waste.

People Do Not Like Liquor Advertisements.

Have you noticed that very few newspapers in North Carolina carry advertisements for liquor houses. Every country editor in North Carolina could carry from one to five hundred dollars worth of advertisements a year for liquor dealers outside the State and get good rates for the space and the cash in hand for every line of advertising if they would accept such advertisements. The great majority of newspaper men do not want to and will not carry liquor advertisements, although the demand for space in newspapers by liquor dealers is great.

The man out of the State who is selling liquor, knowing that no liquor can be legally sold in North Carolina, except that which is shipped in from other States, is glad enough to pay good, liberal prices for newspaper space in which to tell about his goods.

There are exceptions, however, to this rule about carrying liquor advertisements, but some newspaper men have no scruples about it at least not enough to refuse the advertisements for liquor dealers.

Now, we are not throwing bouquets at those newspaper men who do not carry liquor advertisements, for some of them who refuse the advertisements for liquor houses just dare not carry such advertisements. Their patrons and subscribers would not stand for it. We do not mind telling you frankly that it would not be a paying proposition for The Enquirer to carry liquor advertisements. We fully believe that carrying even a small liquor advertisement in our paper every issue would mean to us a loss of fully five hundred dollars a year. We hope that belief is not our reason for not carrying whiskey advertisements. We hope that a motive a little higher than a few dollars made keeps us from accepting the money for space from the man who advertises that he has liquor for sale. But we do fully believe that if we were to carry from week to week advertisements for liquor houses that many of our very best subscribers would say to our point blank: "I cannot give you my money to send your paper into my home telling my boys about the fine quality of some distiller's liquor and telling them how to order it."

And we just as fully believe that good advertisers, men who are carrying space in our paper year by year, would come right up and face to face tell us that they would not pay for space to tell about dry goods in a paper that continually advertised wet goods—Morse Enquirer.
