"No people in town, village or city can be really prosperous or happy with-out being brought together frequently to share common amusements and reto share common amusements and re-creations and exchanges of opinion, it is such attractions that have con ed in a great degree to make Paris, London, Florence and Rome pilgrim

The above from that veteran writer, John Bigelow, carries in well expressed language. what in the local vernacular of the day is tersely expressed by two words "get together."

A municipality is only a great social, the business, the religious and co operative stand prominent, because all these make up the home circle into a unity of life and action, into a mutuality that with stands any outside force, because being a friend to the institution, has there is the perfect understanding kindly furnished one of the 13 rooms to and confidence between every be furnished. Where is the natural center for a community to gather for common amusement and recreation, but at the school building. Here is the is productive of a social feeling that breeds a citizen friendship, which arouses that community of feeling that means community of united interests, that has been gained by getting together. With this full local understanding and friendship, there is a citizenship that can and will make the municipality grow and expand. Noth ing outside can with stand its progress. Outsiders rush into join their fortunes with such a community whose interests are thus united. There are no dull business periods, no tiresome seasons, in: stead every thing is on the move forward. There can be no hesitation, no pausing, for the community in one body is pushing forward, and the entire municipality is carried along, with no thought stipation. or purpose, except forward, ever forward.

REASON ENTERONED.

I have just received twenty sincers who are engaged by indus-al heads to study their establish-mts from top to bettom with a view finding by scientific study the meth-a of working, accounting and han-ing labor which will improve on the I traditional habits. Some extraordimanagement means is illustrated by the story ng, as told by an expert. Ordinarity a brick mason makes eighteen different sets of motions in laying a single brick. He bends over, in the first place, to pick up one brick, and in lifting it he lifts ten pounds of brick and about a hundred pounds of brick mason—the upper part of his own body. In laying 1,000 bricks in a day's work he lifts 100,000 pounds of brick mason. This was an about waste of labor. So a common laborer was hired to put the bricks where the would not have to stoop for them. Another thing is that when a picks up a handmade brick, which is always a little thicker at one side than on the other, he tosses the up, turning it over until his tells him which side is the top The cure for this was to have all the bricks piled top up before they were brought to the masons. Then, further, every one has seen the mason tap his brick several times to settle it into the mortar more waste of time. The cure was to make the mortar thinner, so that the weight of the brick would settie it into the right position. This was scientific management, "motion study." It raised the day's work for the average brick mason from 1,000 up to 2,700 bricks a day and in individual cases to much higher figures. The mason made only six motions where he used to make eighteen.—American Review of Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guess work in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can, t pry it out.
