IN ADVANCE LEGISLATIVE NEEDS.

The argument for a longer constitutional term of the General As sembly, in order to accomplish more legislation, would not secure the result. The fact of a flood of local bills consuming the time, to the exclusion of due consideration and passing of needed State wide legislation, would with an extension of the present sixty day period find no abatement of the present situation, of over crowding of lo bills.

What is demanded is that local matters throughout the State, be carefully gone over by each com munity, before the General As sembly meets, and these bills find a sufficient local majority to insure their passage without the usual delegation going to Raleigh to protest against their enactment because of not being known at home or not wanted by a majority of the local home folks. Eliminate this source of time consumption, and the bills of State wide import. ance can receive due attention and be passed or rejected without

As the Charlotte Observer says editorially."

"It is not so much lack of time which stands in the way of State wide measures as lack of crystallized public sentiment behind them. It is only varely that the legislature feels inclined—as in killing the Torrens system bill—to ge sontrary to the deliberate and generally expressed opinion of the State. When however, there appears to be about as much interest against a pending measure as exists is its favor, members can scarcely be blamed for differing on this point of the genuine demand. Those who feel disappointment at the falure of any particular measure before the session adjourned have only to maintain their attitude. If by educating their fellow citizens they can create public enthusiasm for it some future legisla ture will be more than likely to ac quiesce in their desires.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eastachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and upless the inflammation can be taken on and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarris, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the much dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarris) that cannot be cured by Hall Catarris Cure, Eard for circular free P. High Sounding Names.

Writing in his Paris paper on the growing custom on the part of parents to give their children "sigh sounding" names, Clement Vautel says: "When the boy is old enough to understand he rebels at being compelled to carry through life a name like Anacreon or Hipparchus. But he has company. I know a deputy whose parents named him Franklin. The name in itself is not so bad, but he has two brothers cal to the detriment of State-wide Voltaire and Socrates respectively Fracy this scene in the nursery Franklin howling because Voltaire has broken his toy, while Socrates laughs at both. The mother as peacemaker shouts, 'Stop, Socrates, or you'll be punished! In a narrow street in Marsellles one broiling hot day I saw a woman spanking a child, shouting in anger, 'You naughty Epaminondes; I'll teach you. Epamluondes! I could never think of the Theban general after that without laughing."

the Bland of Fire and the Lake of Snow. The Island of Fire is called the Home of Hot Devils. It is situat-ed in the midst of a large lake of boil-ing mud in the island of Java. The steam and cases which arise from the sticky mud form themselves into hubbles attaining a diameter of five or six feet and sailing high up in the air like balloons, carried hither and thither by the wind and finally exploding with a load creak.

The biggest snow take is seen from the summit of Hispar pass, in the Ka-rakoran range. It is more than 300 square miles in area. In Switzerland the sea of len might better be called the sea of snow, as the surface is bro-ken up by solar heat, which makes a minute fissuring in the ice, giving it ngs. The men applaud it, and the local police, recalling similar displays that led to trouble, become a little anxions. On the evening appointed the members of the club meet at a public house, where they arm themselves with all kinds of household utensils; then, led by concerting players or a tin whistle band, they start out and march along the crowded streets of the district.

One man carries a broom, another swab, a third a shovel or a coal scuttle or a fender or a poker. Fire tongs, blacklead brushes, washtubs buckets everything used in the ho in fact—is carried shoulder high. As they march along to the music in front and the discordant clanging of their baggage they sing snatches of songs in which the name of the victim occurs often.

The mission of the verses, which have been specially composed for the occasion by a local poet, is to hold up the henpecked one to ridicule, the rea-son for the demonstrators bearing the household goods being, of course, to remind him that, having fallen under petticent government, he will quickly ecome the slavey. When they reach the cottage where their victim resides they form a circle in front of the door and sing and clang their fenders and coal scattles more loudly than ever.

The man inside is invoked by the president during a halt in the pro-gram to "be a man" and join his brethren. Sometimes if he looks upon the affair as more of a joke than anything else he does their bidding, and they reform and march to headquarters with him at their head. Usually, however, his wife appears instead with a bucket of soapy water, which she promptly throws over the de strators, or she quickly causes a clearance with a hose pipe.

To the onlooker it is just an exhibit tion for laughter and nothing more, but behind the scenes there is gen ly a lot of trouble and heartaching.
A good number of these "henpecked" demonstrations have sequels in police courts. Sometimes it is an enraged victim being charged with assaulting a demonstrator, but more often than not the sequel shows a wife appeal to the magistrate for a separation or der.—London Tit-Bits.

BEAUTIFUL LEAVES.

And the Tiny Cells That Give These Their Brilliant Hues.
A leaf is one of the most beautiful things in nature, and it is very wonderful to think that it owes its lovely color to minute little living bodies or cells of chierophyll. This word con from two Greek ones, chtoros, gree and phullon, a leaf, and is used to describe the ordinary coloring matter of vegetation.

The chlorophyll cells or granule absorb the light and beat of the sun's rays and in some marvelous way. which only scientists can understand manufacture the sugar which is neces sary for the life of the tree itself by combining the carbonic acid gas of the atmosphere with the water drawn in by its roots. These tiny cells are so very small that as many as 400,000 have been counted in a square milli-meter of the leaf of a castor oil plant, and in order that they may come in contact with as much sunlight as possible the leaf turns slightly on its stalk toward the sun. If you notice the arrangement of the leaves on a bough you will see that nature has placed them so that they form an almost perfect "light screen" and catch all the sunshine that there is. If it were not for the constant work of these little chlorophyll cells the splendid trees in our forests would wither and die and there would be no reen things left in the world.-London Home Notes.

Improvements in Ocean Travel.

When Charles Dickens went to America he was stuffed into a miserable little cabin and bunk, as comfortable as Faistaff in the bock basket, and was bumped more unmoreifally than was fanche when tossed in the blanket. Now ocean voyaging is enfer and more tuxurious on the whole than any other form of travel without exception—London Telegraph,

Something In the Eye. Small substances, like cinders, dust or small chips of stone or metal, can often be removed from the eye by very simple means. Sometimes catching the upper lid by the lashes and pulling it away from the eyeball and down over the lower lid, then letting it go, so that as it recedes its under surface is swept by the edge of the lower lid, will clear it out. If this does not prove successful a loop made of a horsehair or of a long human hair can be passed under the lid and swept from the outer side toward the nose and drawn down. Better than this, however, is the washing of the eye or flushing with the eye dropper. out winding the clocks traveling bag, for they are invaluable, as their husbands and brothers and Catch hold of the lower and upper lid, draw them away from the eye and then fill the dropper, which is like a small syringe, with water and flush the eye two or three times.
