OFFICIAL PAPER OF NEW BERN AND CRAVEN COUNTIES

New Bern, N. C. March 14, 1911.

DEMONSTRATION IN CIVIC BEAUTY.

There have no doubt been many passersby the corner of Broad and Metcalf streets, who noted with varying degrees of emotion, the radical change in the lot on the corner. From being a wilderness of waste, a place of weeds, the final resting place of empty bottles and tin cans, it now presents a sight of being everything it was not before, and there is not all done yet, for with spring, there may be expected a green sward, that with the good fence on two sides and concrete walks on the other two sides will make it good to look upon.

This change has been wrought under the auspices of the Woman's Club, through its department that declares for a city beautiful, and this demonstration is to serve as an object lesson, to present the startling contrast between a lot left uncared for, and a lot cared for.

There are other unightly corner and inside lots in prominent and residential sections of New Bern.

There are beautiful homes surrounded by well kept grounds, and just over their borders are lots where repose in awful sight assortments of refuse, dead, dying and about to die, that must appal the house holders who are compelled to see and smell those terrible civic offenses, just over the line.

Civic health is dependent upon cleanliness. And civic pride has its stimulus in the endeavors of its people who preserve the cleanliness of its lots, alleys and streets. A city beautiful can only be so when both its habitated and un-habitated places are equally in order and clean.

The demonstration noted above points the way for civic beauty. It should be followed by property owners taking active hold of this kind of lot beautifying, until the entire city presents a wholesome and cleanly appearance, where now rubbish desecrates places that can be made a part of a city beautiful.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED BY LOCAL APPLICATIONS.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube is inflamed, it causes a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

A DREADFUL SIGHT

To H. J. Barpoon, of Freeville, N. Y., was the fever-sore that plagued his life for years in spite of many remedies he tried. At last he used Buckler's Arnica Salve and writes: "It has entirely healed with scarcely a scar left." Headache, boils, eczema, cuts, bruises, swellings, corns and piles like magic. Only 25c at all Dealers.

HAIR INSURANCE

INSURANCE AGAINST THINNING HAIR. In these up-to-date days, it is possible to purchase insurance on anything. Insurance is practically law for a chance, with the obvious fact that the insurance is not there until the insurance is needed. This is the case with Hair Insurance. It is not until the hair begins to thin that the value of the insurance is realized. The value of the insurance is not realized until the hair begins to thin. The value of the insurance is not realized until the hair begins to thin.

HAD A HARD SKULL.

The Marshall Catcher Who Was the Original Baseball. Ed Ashback, for many years a manager of minor league teams, in his book, "Humor Among the Minors," claims to be the originator of the phrase "hardball," which is now with its synonymous terms of "solid iron," "mahogany head," "concrete dome" and "diamond skull" so common in baseball.

A Bathing Mystery. Uncle Hiram (looking at bathtubs in a plumber's window)—Well, I swan! I've heard that these here New Yorkers are pretty natty, but I never supposed they had the cheek to take a bath in the front window—Judge's Library.

FOX HUNTING IN ENGLAND.

It is More Than a Sport; it is a Sort of Religion. In England sport is not only a religion; it is the religion. If a man is a good sportsman he need not be anything else. It may seem superficial to describe fox hunting as a religion and the fox as a deity, but it is a hard, solid, unshakable. The true fox hunting sportsman exhibits all the attributes of the devotee, the fanatic, the martyr. He is ready to die for his faith. I am sure he would cheerfully allow himself to be burned alive rather than hunt a bag of snipe. His friends would cut him dead if they suspected him of treason to the pure ideal of fox hunting. His club would relegate him. He would be a marked man. He would be a pariah, an outcast, a boaster, an outsider.

The power of the caste of fox hunters is as formidable as the power of the various Indian castes. It is a mightier might than the law, for it is driven by public opinion. The county would ostracize the wretch caught in the act of violating the fox hunting code. His career would be ended. Never more could he hold up his head. He would be a leper. The taint of snipe would hang about him forever.—James Douglas in London Leader.

A New Illness. A Chicago broker, who is not noted for his humor hearty so much as he is famed for his fear of his wife, found himself in his club at dinner time one evening much the worse for drink. He called a messenger boy with, with great difficulty, wrote this note: "Dear Wife—Will not dine at home. Have been taken unexpectedly drunk."—Popular Magazine.

A Cautious Youth. "Bobby, your father wants to see you." The boy looked dubious. "Do I want to see him?" he asked. "How should I know?" "You ought to be able to tell by the look in his eye."

A Well Known Judge Hands Down an Opinion. The Savodine Company New Bern, N. C.

Dear Sirs: From the use I have made of SAVODINE I believe it to be a very valuable remedy for catarrh and colds. It gives almost immediate relief in case of difficult breathing and inhaling it freely checks and gives relief in severe coughing. So far as I have had opportunity to use it, which is only a short time, I am much pleased with its efficiency. Very truly yours, T. F. SHEPARD, Bay City, Mich.

Judge T. F. Shepard is widely known and highly esteemed. He is a lawyer of recognized ability. For years he was Circuit Judge of the Eastern District of Michigan.

Four Hands. "A monkey has four hands," remarked the zoologist. "Yes," replied Mr. Cardwell. "It's a shame to see the animal neglect his opportunities. It could play an entire game of bridge all by itself."—Exchange.

Sturdy Horses. Siberian horses are sturdy. They will go thousands of miles at the rate of forty miles a day.

WARNING TO RAILROAD MEN. Look out for snakes and even dangerous snakes and horses trouble resulting from years of misreading. Geo. E. Bell, 608 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroading left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hip and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and much painful. I had a supply of Foley's Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and feet bed-spreaded completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley's Kidney Pills to every one of my railroad friends."—F. S. Duff.
