NO SESSION OF SUPERIOR COURT

Held Yesterday. Judge Ferguson Indisposed. Greatly Improved Last Night.

Owing to the fact that Judge Garland T. Ferguson was indisposed, there was no session yesterday of Craven County Superior Court which is in session here this week for the trial of criminal cases. A report from the place at which he is stopping last night stated that the Judge was greatly improved and in all probability the session will be resumed this morning at the usual time.

The grand jury was kept busy all during the day hearing evidence and returning bills, but none of these were made public. The case of young Barnett, the young man who embezzled $249 from the Hall Tailoring Company a few weeks ago, is attracting considerable interest. The grand jury has not yet investigated this case and it will doubtless be the latter part of the week before it is brought to trial. There are still a large number of cases on the docket but the majority of these are of minor consequence and can easily be disposed of within the next three days.

In the case of the State vs. Addison Toler, of No. 2 Township, charged with abduction, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. This case was tried on Tuesday and the jury remained out all night.

A Well Known Man's Opinion.

The Savodine Co., New Bern, N. C. We have derived so much benefit from the use of SAVODINE, that we wish to add our testimony to the list of those already acquainted with its merits.

My wife has been using SAVODINE for quite a while for cold in the head, and has found it a ready relief for CATARRH but above all that, is the fact of its having proved itself invaluable to us for our baby. A short time ago he was taken very sick, and as he would clasp his little hands to his ear, we decided he must be suffering with earache, and realizing that something must be done at once, we put a tiny bit of SAVODINE in his ear covered it with warm cotton and in a few minutes he was sleeping as sweetly as though he had never had a pain. We cheerfully recommend Savodine as we will always feel grateful for what it has done for us.

REPORTER INTER-VIEWS MRS. CASEY

Says That She Knows Nothing In Regards to the Poisoning of Her Former Husband.

Mrs. Leona Casey, wife of Burrill Casey, both of whom are now confined in Craven county jail awaiting the action of the grand jury on a warrant charging them with poisoning her former husband, Mr. Joseph Whitty, of Lane's Chapel, was interviewed late yesterday afternoon by a Journal reporter. When the reporter was shown into her cell, on the first floor Mrs. Casey, who is a very homely woman, was sitting on the side of the iron bed which the cell contained.

She said that she was born in Lenoir county on Jan. 28, 1891, that she lived there until 1908 when she married Mr. Joseph Whitty, then they moved to Craven county. That in all their married life they had lived happily and had never had any misunderstandings. That after her marriage to Mr. Whitty she met Casey, and that all during the time that she lived with Mr. Whitty, Casey was in the habit of coming to their home at different times, and that there was no objection from her husband. She said that several weeks prior to his death Mr. Whitty had been in illing health and that his demise did not come unexpectedly. That on the day that Mr. Whitty died Casey visited her home and that about three weeks after his death she and Casey were married. That after Mr. Whitty's death there was considerable talk among the neighbors that she had poisoned him, but as she knew this was untrue she paid but little attention to it. That she did not know until yesterday morning that his body had been exhumed and that the stomach had been examined by a physician. That she was utterly dumfounded when Chief of Police Rouse, of Dover, called at her home Monday afternoon and placed her under arrest and brought her to this city. That she did not know at the time that her husband was in jail here on the same charge, and that since her incarceration here had not been allowed to see him or to communicate with him in any way. That she was not in the least afraid that if the case was ever brought to trial that they would be convicted, because there could possibly be no evidence that either of them had caused his death.

Taken as a whole she did not seem to be duly concerned in regards to the grave charges which they are facing. At no time during her story did she falter, and once or twice she became amused and laughed outright. The only thing that she seemed to be troubled about was the fact that she was not allowed to see or talk to her husband. The grand jury has not yet taken up this case, but will doubtless do so sometime during today, and the outcome of their investigation will be made known tomorrow.

Sprinkle, sprinkle, little cart,
How I wonder where thou art,
When the dust is high and dry,
Never can I find you nigh.
When the clouds send rain is set,
And the streets with rain are wet
Then you wing your little flight,
Sprinkle, sprinkle, left and right.

Coroner's Jury Held Inquest Over the Body Of David Fonville Yesterday Morning.

Yesterday morning the coroner's jury composed of the following gentlemen, Messrs E. B. Blackburn, foreman, C. P. Bartling, C. E. Ellison, C. T. Pumphrey, M. D. W. Stevenson and D. P. Henry, held an inquest over the body of David Fonville, the young negro boy who was shot and killed at his home in Dufftown Tuesday night by Charles Latham, also colored. At the conclusion of the inquest they rendered the following verdict:

"We, this Coroner's jury empaneled this 14th day of June 1911, to investigate the cause of the death of David Fonville, colored, hereby render the following verdict: That death resulted from a gunshot wound in the brain at the hands of one Charles Latham, age 12 years. Same was without malice and aforethought."

It was proven that the two boys were the best of friends and that they had been playing together on the eve of the tragedy. The murdered boy's mother stated that she was convinced that the shooting was accidental and she was co-operated by a number of other witnesses. Young Latham stated that they were having a playful dispute at the time the shooting occurred and that when he picked up the gun he had no idea that it was loaded. With such evidence as this before them the coroner's jury had no alternative but to turn the boy who fired the fatal load loose.
