PRES'T DEMANDS PURE DRUGS

Wants Pure Food Law Amended, Not Stringent Enough.

Washington, June 22.—Manufacturers of "dangerous drug brands" received a scathing arraignment at the last message transmitted to both Houses of Congress in which he declared that the pure food and drug law should be amended at once, as a matter of emergency. Recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States in which vital points of the weakness in the pure food law were pointed out, was the initiative on which the President urged new legislation.

President Taft is of the opinion that the sale of dangerously adulterated drugs, or the sale of drugs under knowingly false claims as to their effect in disease, constitutes such an evil and warrants its being called to the attention of Congress. In part the message is as follows:

"Fraudulent misrepresentations of the curative value of nostrums not only operate to defraud purchasers, but are a distant menace to the public health. There are none so credulous as sufferers from disease. The need is urgent for legislation which will prevent the raising of false hopes of speedy cures of serious ailments by mis-statements of facts as to worthless mixtures on which the sick will rely while their disease progresses unchecked.

"I fear if no remedial legislation be granted at this session, that the good which has already been accomplished in regard to these nostrums will be undone and the people of the country will be deprived of a powerful safeguard against dangerous frauds."

It is expected that the House will take the matter up at an early date.

Raleigh, June 22.—Onslow county is setting many other counties in the State an example in the encouragement of road building and the quickening of public sentiment for good roads in that the commissioners have decided to have constructed in each township in the county one mile of standard sand-clay road as an object lesson for education in the value of good roads. Representative E. M. Koonce, of Onslow, is here to arrange with Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt for a competent road engineer to be sent to Onslow to advise and cooperate in the location and construction of these special roads.

TINKERING WITH THE TARIFF

The Duty on Cotton Goods to be Reduced Fifty Per Cent.

Washington, June 22nd.—The House Ways and Means Committee has laid out its general plans for a tariff for revenue bill on the cotton textile schedule. This measure, the fourth in Democratic program, will be ready for consideration in three weeks.

The leaders want to cut the tariff on cotton goods fully fifty per cent, or even safely go below that, depends on the work on which the committee's experts will be engaged until chairman Oscar Underwood returns from his rest at Atlantic City about July 5th.

In the making of a tariff, schedule by schedule, and with governmental running expenses laid out a year in advance, the work that must be put into each schedule is greater than in the framing of a comprehensive tariff bill in which the amount of tariff to be raised by the measure can be split up among numerous schedules. So the work schedule has been designed to provide approximately the same amount of revenue that the same schedule under the existing law yields, and likewise will the cotton schedule be so framed as to yield approximately the same revenue that the same schedule furnishes. This is the work which the statistical experts of the committee are now doing.

Elizabeth Burrus Parker.

Passed into rest, Thursday June 22nd, Elizabeth Burrus, wife of Mr. J. H. Parker, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Burrus.

The publication of this announcement will give sorrow to every one who has not already heard of it. Wednesday night was a sorrowful one in the neighborhood of the Burrus home, where the stricken daughter and wife was slowly but certainly passing to that land where Peace, perfect Peace was awaiting the spirit of the young woman.

No gentler, more joyous and happy, one born to make friends of every one through a charming spirit, could be found, girl and woman, than Elizabeth Burrus. No more devoted and loving daughter, this when a few months ago when Miss Elizabeth was married and went to her new home in Jacksonville, Fla., there was, with the general congratulations, a feeling of loss, that one who had been the life of her set, the friend of every body, should leave. Her return a few weeks ago, gave no warning of the sorrow that was approaching those that loved her.

This morning at 10:30 o'clock, at Christ church, the funeral services will be held by Rev. B. F. Hunka. Interment in Cedar Grove cemetery.

AMERICAN SHIPS AT KIEL

Kaiser Inspects Naval Line in the Hohenzollern, Flying Stars and Stripes.

Kiel Germany, June 22.—The American warships, Second division of the Atlantic fleet, arrived here and are now moored in the inner harbor before the town surrounded by the array of battle ships and yachts gathered for the Emperor's great annual naval festival.

The Americans were met at sea by a dispatch boat carrying Lieutenant Commander F. A. Trout, American naval attaché at Berlin. Paul H. J. Sartori, American consular agent at Kiel, and German officers who had been assigned to pilot the visitors to their anchorage.

The arrival of the battleships was timed so that they would pass the outer fortification of Fricirhsort in the morning, when the national salute was fired by the forts and answered from shore. As soon as the visitors were moored the Louisiana saluted Admiral Von Tirpitz's flag, and the salute was answered promptly. In addition to the Louisiana and Kansas, the American battleships of the visiting division are the New Hampshire and the South Carolina. Emperor William arrived here from Hamburg aboard the Hohenzollern and was saluted with 33 guns by every warship in the harbor. The American crews, like the Germans, manned the sides of the vessels at the approach of the Imperial yacht and hoisted the German ensign.

The Hohenzollern, with the Emperor on the bridge, the Imperial standard flying from the mainmast and the Stars and Stripes from the mizzenmast, steamed past the German and the American lines, while the crews of each vessel in turn cheered.

At the end of the American line the Hohenzollern came about and passed between the South Carolina and the Louisiana to permit his Majesty a closer inspection of these battleships.

Escaped Convict Captured.

About three years ago John Moulton, colored, was sentenced to a term on the Craven county roads. Soon after he was carried to the convict camp where he succeeded in making his escape, and despite the efforts of the police he remained at large. Yesterday morning through Five Points, Chief of Police Lupton saw a negro on the train who he thought was Moulton. He stopped on him to halt, which the negro did, and upon investigation it was found that he was the man wanted. He was placed in Craven county jail and will be taken back to the chain gang to conclude his sentence.
