ut it is when you come to the grade Havana cigar, the cigar sells for 40 or 50 cents, that you se the tobacco chef at his test. He doesn't make his sauces then of such common ingredients as sugar, berga-mot, Heorice and so forth. No, he makes them of bacteria. The flavors of the high grade Havana tobaccos depend, you see, entirely on their terments. Each tobacco undergoes a different fermentation, and here the chef comes in, applying the bacteria of years which cause these fermenta-
