GOOD FIRST DAY RESULTS

Over Fifty New Members Added Chamber of Commerce. Reports Made Daily.

Although the companies have not settled down to hard work, yesterday being Saturday and the first of the month, yet over fifty (50) new members have been added to the Chamber of Commerce. Their names with the names secured tomorrow will appear in this paper Tuesday morning. Great interest is being manifested. "Join the Chamber of Commerce and Boost New Bern" seems to be in the atmosphere.

Wherever a member of the Chamber of Commerce has made an effort to secure a new member he has been successful. The citizens are alive to the value of this great movement. "In union there is strength" is an adage that is as true as it is old.

Every member of the Chamber of Commerce is requested to secure application cards from the Captain of their company of the office of the Secretary. Ask your friends to sign these application cards and give them to the Captain of your company. Don't expect the other fellow to do all the work. Be one of the doers. Talk is cheap. What the world wants is producers. One member of the Chamber of Commerce secured eleven members yesterday. Another ten. It simply means a little effort.

On Friday night at 8:30 the chamber campaign will be closed with a meeting at which time all old and new members will be present. The final report will be read and the winning company will be awarded a handsome prize.

Makes Fine Showing.

We have lately received the catalogue of the A. & M. College at Raleigh. This technical institution is doing a most valuable work for our State. Men trained there are certainly making as good farmers, as engineers, as textile workers, indeed in all forms of skilled enterprise. Young men who want to enjoy life equipped for success in all industrial occupations will do well to consider the A. & M. Last year 630 students were enrolled—its faculty this year will include 51 teachers.

BANK AUDITING FOR DEPOSITORS

Peoples Bank Employs Every Publicity Method To Prove Its Stability.

Some years ago a number of progressive banks in this country got into practice the periodical auditing of their affairs by a committee of their directors. This step was felt to be an advance in the right direction yet many business men realized that there was still room for improvement. During the past few years a further and final reform has been made in bank auditing and now the up-to-date, properly managed bank has adopted the plan of periodically turning over all its affairs into the hands of a responsible independent accountant for complete and thorough auditing.

Apart entirely from the question, important as it is, of the strict accuracy to the work of every employee of the bank, there are many reasons why a bank should have its affairs periodically examined by an independent certified public accountant.

From the standpoint of the bank's customers and the public generally who, after all, have every right to be the most interested in the matter, the feeling that an experienced certified public accountant, free from either sentiment or prejudice, interested in nothing save his reputation for strict accuracy, fearing or owing allegiance to neither officers, board of directors, executive committee or any body of men in the bank either singly or collectively, hiding nothing but on the contrary anxious to discover everything—the feeling on the part of the public that such an accountant has scrutinized every detail of a bank's business and pronounced the institution to be sound and well managed will produce a sense of confidence in the bank that no amount of facts or figures given out by the bank itself can ever possibly secure.

In another column of this paper will be found the statement of the Peoples Bank under date of March 1, 1911. This statement which shows the bank to be in excellent condition has been prepared and is certified to by a public accountant, and the management of the bank is to be congratulated on its policy of placing its affairs before the public in the most open manner, a policy which is in accordance with the most approved methods in force in reliable financial institutions today.

OLD PROB USES PHONE NOW

Farmers Can Get Weather Forecast Daily By Telephone, Free of Cost.

Through the arrangement perfected between the United States Weather Bureau and the Southern Bell Telephone Company, more than 25,000 Southern farmers will receive the daily weather reports by telephone beginning July 1st.

The daily weather reports will be furnished the Telephone Company by the weather bureau, and the report will be read to the farmers by telephone operators. At a given hour each day a general alarm will be sounded, calling every farmer to the telephone. When they are all assembled—the report will be read. Any farmer who is not able to answer the signal and hear the report has the privilege of calling the operator and securing the information.

Almost every farmer's telephone line connected with the Bell system has six or more subscribers, and by reading the report to each line the work can be speedily accomplished.

This is the first comprehensive and systematic effort to furnish this information without cost to the farmers of the South. The spread of the telephone in the rural districts in the past few years has made it possible to reach such a large number of farmers through the Bell system, and the dissemination of weather news by telephone is one of the many practical uses for the telephone on the farm.

The territory of the Southern Bell Company covers the States of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Virginia and the southern half of West Virginia.
