

HINTS IN GETTING ALONG.
JULY SIXTEENTH.

JUST how the expression "horse sense" came into use, is not known. The meaning of the expression is simply an old fashion logic, simple analysis and actual truth. Make these principles the basis of your living and you will get along well. The man who uses "horse sense" is more successful than the man who depends upon smartness.

WAR DEPARTMENT MAP STOLEN

Two Important Documents About Alaskan Steal Disappears.

Washington, July 16.—Another mysterious "disappearance" of documents in regard to the Controller Bay, Alaska rights of way, has developed before the House Committee on Expenditures in the Interior Department.

Major J. B. Cavanaugh, assistant to the chief of engineers, in charge of the river and harbor division, swore that he had been unable to find a map which Chairman Graham (Dem., Ill.) has proof was in the files of the War Department until a few weeks ago.

The map was alleged to have been filed on December 14, 1910, by Richard S. Ryan, the alleged Guggenheim agent, and purported to show his claim for rights of way around the bay.

Cavanaugh testified he had been unable to find any trace of the map.

This is the second document on the Controller Bay record which Miss M. F. Abbott, author of the charges that the Guggenheims were attempting to grab the only available outlet from the Alaskan coal fields, asserts is missing. The other was the famous "Dick to Dick" letter which Miss Abbott says she saw in the files of the Interior Department and which is alleged to have mentioned Charles P. Taft, brother of the President, as having "induced" the Executive to throw open Controller Bay to Ryan for entry.

A Well Known Man's Opinion.

The Savodine Co., New Bern, N. C.

We have derived so much benefit from the use of SAVODINE, that we wish to add our testimony to the list of those already acquainted with its merits.

My wife has been using SAVODINE for quite a while for cold in the head, also has found it a ready relief for CATARRH but above all that, is the fact of its having proved itself invaluable to us for our baby. A short time ago he was taken very sick, and we had to clap the little hands to his ear. We decided he must be suffering with otitis, and realizing that something must be done at once, we put a tiny bit of SAVODINE in his ear covered it with warm cotton and in a few minutes he was sleeping as sweetly as though he had never had a pain. We cheerfully recommend Savodine as we will always feel grateful for what it has done for us.

WHISKEY TRUST WILEY'S ENEMY

And Other Trusts Are Not At All Friendly to Him. House Committee Will Investigate.

Washington, July 15th.—While Dr. Harvey W. Wiley will not himself discuss the movement, which has taken concrete shape here, to force him to resign as chief chemist and pure food expert of the government, his supporters in that service declare that they have evidence to show that the prime mover in the whiskey trust, aided by manufacturers who have been fined for violation of the Pure Food and Drug act.

The fight of the Whiskey Trust dates back to 1907, when the bureau of chemistry was called upon to decide "What is Whiskey?" The decision did not please the trust.

The sugar trust is not friendly to Dr. Wiley, nor are the fruit canners, whose business has been hit by decisions rendered by Dr. Wiley.

The effort to oust Dr. Wiley will be investigated by the House Committee on Expenditures in the Department of Agriculture.

"We are going to the bottom of it," said Chairman Moss. "We want to see who is behind it. I have sent a call to the members of the committee for a meeting. We will discuss every phase of the matter and then subpoena witnesses."

Back of the opposition to Dr. Wiley, it is known, certain powerful interests are aligned. Just how compact is the organization is a matter of conjecture. It is certain that there is a powerful combination of manufacturers of food-stuffs who feel that the strict construction of the Pure Food law enforced by Dr. Wiley is against their business interests.

SHORT PASSING EVENTS

Although very little is being said in regard to "good roads" and the central highway just at this time, the matter is still being kept before the public in a general way. Box at this project whenever the opportunity is offered, for there is nothing that will assist in the materialization of a city's commercial expectations as much as good highways.

News was received in this city yesterday that Mr. R. C. Robertson, of Clayton, who came here a few weeks ago to assume the management of the Gaston pharmacy and who was stricken with an attack of typhoid fever a few days after his arrival and was taken home had succumbed to the disease. Mr. Robertson was unmarried and lived with his mother and sister.

So far as can be learned there have been but few mosquitoes in this city this summer. The writer has not heard a single one of these pesky little insects singing around on hot nights and has heard but few complaints from other persons. Evidently some one has mixed his slogan of "swat the fly" with "slam the mosquito" and has exterminated the breed in this section.

During the past week or two a number of valuable horses belonging to people in and near this city, have died, the animals in the majority of cases were suddenly stricken with what was supposed to be an attack of colic, and before aid could be given them they were dead. Over driving in hot weather doubtless caused these attacks, and owners of live stock should be careful with their just at this season.

The American Medical Association has compiled a number of interesting booklets on "Medical Fakes and Fakery." These pamphlets deal with the manufacturers of a large number of "fake" remedies that are now on the market and fully explaining the results that will come from using them. A postal sent to this association at No. 535 Dearborn Ave., Chicago will secure one of these pamphlets free of charge.

Yesterday the different polls in the city were open for the last time for registration for the vote on the Public Life School question in the city, township. Although the voters had been given sufficient notice, that the polls would be open and that unless they registered they would not be allowed to vote, there were a number who failed to put in their appearance and register. This action debars them from voting in this election.

While engaged in sweeping up the back yard yesterday morning a thought of Mr. J. E. Bell, who resides at No. 12 Crown street, occurred to a neighbor. This neighbor has a history and that would be highly valued by the owner. The ring formerly contained in the back yard, and which was highly valued by the owner, was found in the back yard. The ring was found in the back yard, and which was highly valued by the owner, was found in the back yard.

COTTON PRICES SLIGHTLY DECLINE

Foreigners Paying Lower Prices For Local Stock Than For Years.

New York, July 15.—Cotton values during the past week have fluctuated on a fairly narrow scale, the net result being a decline of about one-third of a cent per pound. Considerable liquidation was undergone and new short lines were reported created. Sentiment appears to be decidedly bearish, but traders are very cautious in selling.

The rains of the last few days have apparently given general relief to the western belt, eliminating the sustaining feature of the new crop months. At times bull operators and spot interests rendered sufficient support to check the decline. The easiness in prices was by no means of a runaway kind, good demand from trade interests and spinners purchasing for future delivery preventing a sudden break. On the other hand the feeling prevailed that the rains have not been sufficient in all sections and some cotton was bought on prospects for renewed dry weather in the southwest. Bull interests were again credited with buying new crop options and traders seemed to be convinced that a speculative long interest is still outstanding in these months. Old crop deliveries showed more activity during last week than for some time past.
