NEWS FROM NATIONS CAPITAL

Preparing To Welcome Admiral Togo. National River and Harbors Congress.

Washington, D. C. July 21—For the past week the State and Navy Departments have been making preparations for the coming of Admiral Count Heihachiro Togo, Chief of the naval staff of Japan and the hero of the great sea fight of May 27-28, 1904 when his fleet met the fleet of Russia in the sea of Japan and brought about its entire annihilation in the course of the fight. In the last quarter of a century no such welcome has been extended to a foreign officer with the possible exception of the entertainment furnished to Prince Henry of Prussia, who came to the United States, not so much as a laurel-crowned hero of a well-won battle, but as the representative and relative of a friendly sovereign. Prince Henry of Prussia had never smelled powder except as a puff of saluting smoke may have assailed his nostrils. Prince Henry had never seen a shot fired in anger. No so Admiral Heihachiro Togo, Samurai and Noble of the land of the Rising Sun.

According to tentative plans of the departments Admiral Togo and his aide will arrive at New York August 4th, where the hero of the Sea of Japan will be met by Captain Templin M. Potts, U. S. N., who has been detailed by President Taft to represent the United States government during Admiral Togo's stay in this country including his projected transcontinental journey, for the Admiral will sail for home from Vancouver. The itinerary as tentatively prepared by the State and Navy Departments provides for a two days visit in New York and its environs. He is expected to arrive in Washington on August 6 where he will spend three or four days. During his stay in the Capital he will be dined at the White House and by Secretary of State Knox and the Secretary of the Navy Meyer.

The Admiral will be taken to Mt. Vernon on the presidential yacht "Mayflower" where he will deposit a wreath on the tomb of Washington and will also be shown over the Indian Head (Md.) naval proving grounds. Annapolis will furnish a side trip and there the Admiral will be given a glimpse of the alma mater of many of his brothers in arms, for Annapolis furnished educations for more than a score of the higher officers of the Japanese Navy.

Governor Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts, is in close sympathy with the educational work that is being done by the National Rivers and Harbor Congress looking to the systematic improvement of the rivers and harbors of the United States. Recently he appointed a waterways commission for the Old Bay State which is to take up the matter of canals, harbors and waterways, co-operating with similar committees or commissions in other New England states more particularly with reference to the canal between Boston and Narragansett Bay. In a recent letter to Secretary J. F. Ellison of Cincinnati, of the National River and Harbor Congress Gov. Foss said: "I believe that the question of waterway improvements to the end that the rivers and harbors, and connecting waterways may take their place to the fullest extent in carrying the commerce of the Nation, should receive the hearty support not only of the general government of the governments of the different 'States.'"

SIMMONS ON RECIPROCITY

Urgent Criticism on the Senator's Speech. What One Who Heard Says.

The following is an editorial of the Twin County Echo, of Rock Mount, N. C., of July 18th, 1911, written by its Editor, Mr. Frank A. Hampton, who was present in the senate gallery and heard from beginning to end, Senator Simmons' speech on reciprocity, delivered in the senate, July 10th, 1911.

A GREAT SPEECH.
"It was our privilege, while in Washington last Monday, to hear the great speech of Senator Simmons in opposition to the Republican party measure, known as the Canadian Reciprocity bill, which is supported by many Democrats in the senate.

"Our senior senator spoke for three hours, and during a greater part of the time, was under fire from some half dozen of the ablest Democrat senators, who were attacking his Democracy and endeavoring to confuse him. It looked like a concerted and premeditated attack and an attempt to impeach the Senator's Democracy on the part of the ultra-progressive Democrats. Among the Democratic Senators who attacked him were Kern, of Indiana; John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi; Stone and Reed of Missouri.

Disagreeing with Mr. Simmons as we do on many things, it was yet particularly gratifying to us to observe the manner in which he handled himself under vicious attack, and the ability and cool courage with which he defended himself and position. It was worthy of note, too, that in not a single instance did he descend from the high plane of battle that so well becomes a member of that great body. He yielded not at all to the insidious invitations and temptations provided for him to throw mud. In every instance he took care of himself, and not a single thrust penetrated his armor. The attack failed, whatever its object was and whoever was behind it. The Senator emerged from the contest with accumulated laurels and with the honors of war.

"The attack on Senator Simmons under such circumstances is to be deplored, and will react on his assailants who were thoroughly discomfited by their failure to break the force of his speech or successfully impeach his party regularity. The people know too well the Senator's eminent services to Democracy and fidelity and courage under all conditions, to countenance such methods.

"When you come to think of it, it required a high order of courage and independence for Senator Simmons to vote on the Lorimer case and on the other matters that have given opportunity for attack, according to his honest sentiments, when the country was howling for the other side, and this just on the eve of the senatorial primary in this State. Those who know him best say that the courage displayed by Mr. Simmons in these matters is in all respects characteristic of him. A demagogue or a time-server would have trimmed his sails to meet the prevailing winds. Senator Simmons refused to so forfeit his independence and self-respect.

"We wish to state here that 'The Echo' has not allied itself with any senatorial candidacy, and is not espousing at this time, the cause of any of the candidates. What we have had to say is entirely dissociated from the senatorial fight. But we do resent the character of the fight that seems to be well started against the senior senator from this State. Surely, if any man in the South may with all right lay claim to the name of Democrat, that man is he who led the Democratic party of North Carolina out of the wilderness, in what were perhaps the darkest days of the party's history in this State. And we venture the prediction that the supporters of any candidate will find it mighty hard policy to question the senator's demagoguery before the rank and file of the party, the greater part of whom still are proud and rejoice that they were members of 'the Old Guard of '36 and 1905.' These men still love their old general and attack on his character and demagoguery, either at home or in Congress, is not calculated to win their support for another candidate.

"There's no excuse for such an attack on Mr. Simmons anyway. We believe, in common with thousands of other people, that Mr. Simmons' vote was wrong on lumber, and has no doubt been so on other questions during his ten years in the senate. But whatever mistakes he has made have been mistakes of judgment. His ability and honor are above question. His handling of the question of reciprocity Monday, as well as his presentation of his own defense and the confounding of his assailants, was marvellous. He showed a thorough knowledge of all the intricacies and hidden forces and details of the matter, that caused him to walk up. None of the North Carolina newspapers in

ATTEMPTED HOLD UP

By Negro Near Cove City. White Man Drives Assailant Off.

Last Wednesday Mr. Brose Cox who had carried a drummer to Tuscorora, in this county, was driving on the road on his return home to Cove City, when he overtook a negro walking. The negro accosted Mr. Cox and asked if he would carry him to Cove for 50 cents. Cox who is in the livery business accepted. Before driving far Mr. Cox was told to give up his money, and looking around saw a knife held threateningly to enforce the command. Reaching into his pocket Mr. Cox opened his knife and with his money came out the knife. The negro slashed at the white man the blade just cutting his throat, going through the shirt collar and ripping open the shirt. Cox jabbed at the negro as fast as he could, striking anywhere within reach, until the negro finally rolled out of the buggy, and on to the road where he was left. Cox drove home and reported the occurrence. The next day an examination was made but only a piece of bloody shirt could be found on the road.

Benjamin F. Henderson Dead.

News reached the city yesterday of the death of Mr. B. F. Henderson which occurred at his home a few miles from Pollocksville, early yesterday morning. He has been in failing health for some time and his death was not wholly unexpected. He was about 65 years of age.

Mr. Henderson was a large farmer and one of the most successful in Jones county. He was quiet and unassuming in manner but was highly esteemed by all who knew him for his upright and sterling character.

He leaves a widow and a number of sons and daughters, Mr. Emory H. Henderson, a merchant of this city is one of the sons, to mourn his loss.

The funeral will take place from the home this afternoon and the interment will be made in the family's private cemetery on the home plantation.

National Bank of New Bern. Its Local and State Standing.

The advertisement of the National Bank of New Bern appearing in today's paper, calls attention to the fact that in the proportion of Surplus and Undivided Profits to Capital, this bank stands first among the banks in the City and third among the National banks of the State and also that it is one of the "Roll of Honor" banks in the Country.

To be on this Roll, a bank must have its Surplus and Undivided Profits, equal or exceed its Capital and as there are only four National banks in the State to have this distinction it is a matter of much pride to the officers and directors of this bank to know their bank is one of the four.

The National Bank of New Bern was established here in 1865 and during the forty-six years of its existence, has built up its Surplus and Undivided Profits to $105,000, besides paying out in dividends to its stockholders $467,053.

There are, at the present time 2173 banks in operation under National charters in the Country, and of these, only 1267 or less than 20 per cent are entitled in position on the Roll of Honor.
