LAUGHTER.

Now It Has Been Defined and Some Folks Who Never Tried It.

What is laughter? An American humorist has called it "an undignified widening of the human mouth accompanied by a noise resembling a cough in the effort to avoid swallowing a chestnut."

"Laughter," says Professor Sir Charles Bell, "is a convulsive action of the diaphragm. In this state the person draws a full breath and throws it out in interrupted short and audible expirations. This convulsion of the diaphragm is the principal part of the physical manifestation of laughter."

"But there are several accessories, especially the sharp vocal exhalation arising from the violent tension of the larynx and the expression of the features, this being a more intense form of the smile. In extreme cases the eyes are moistened by the effusion from the lachrymal glands."

There are some people who cannot laugh, who are wholly unable to enjoy either the physical or the mental luxury of a laugh. Thus it was said of William III. that he was utterly at a loss to understand what could be got out of laughter except loss of dignity. There are many persons in history who have been, according to common report, incapable of laughter. Queen Mary I., John Knox, Robespierre and Malteje are examples. The Iron Duke himself rarely, if ever, went beyond a grunt.—Strenuous Magazine.

STRENUOUS MUSIC.

A Story They Tell of Strauss' Ability as a Conductor.

"The late Thomas Wentworth Higginson," said a Harvard instructor, "loved music, but not the extremely technical music of Richard Strauss. Ravel and others of that type."

"Concerning Strauss and his banging, crashing music, Colonel Higginson used to tell a story.

"He said that Strauss went one summer on a hunting trip in the mountains. It chanced that on a certain afternoon a terrific thunderstorm descended on the hunting party. Amid ear-splitting thunder and blinding lightning, amid deluges of rain whipped by a roaring wind, the huntsmen all sought shelter.

"Where, though, was Strauss? "Three friends set out in alarm to look for him. They feared that in the wild chaos of the storm he had fallen down a precipice. After a long while they found him. They found him doing—what do you suppose? "Strauss stood hunched on the summit of a lofty crag. The lightning played about him in vivid violet flashes; the rain deluged him; the thunder rolled and rumbled around him; the roaring wind flapped his outstretched arms and the music man, a ramrod in his hand, was busied gazing on his high crag in conducting the thunderstorm!"—Washington Star.

Neglect hurrying to their aid Means that urinary troubles follow quickly.

Profit by a sufferer's experience.

Mrs. Lina Arthur, Sr., 428 W. Second St., Washington, N. C., says: "I suffered greatly from dull, nagging backaches. I could hardly get around at times and was afraid to move on account of the knife-like twinges in my loins. My kidneys were weak and no doubt caused all the trouble. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and getting a box, I began their use. They relieved every symptom of my trouble and I am therefore pleased to recommend them." (Statement given January 13, 1907.)

CONFIRMED PROOF.

On November 19, 1810, when Mrs. Arthur was interviewed, she said: "I am willing to confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. They have been of such great benefit to me that I am always glad to make their merits known."

Wanted—Two Good Murderers.

Some curious letters passed between Garrick and a man named Stone. The latter was employed to get recruits for the low parts of the drama, and one night he wrote to Garrick, "Sir, the bishop of Winchester is getting a bunk at the Bear and swears he will not play tonight."

At first sight this seems peculiar conduct for a bishop, but it should be explained that the communication only refers to the man engaged to take that character in the play of "Henry VIII."

On another occasion Garrick wrote to Stone: "If you can get me two good murderers I will pay you handsomely, particularly the spouting fellow who keeps the apple stall on Tower Hill. The cut in his face is just the thing. Pick me up an alderman or two for 'Richard' if you can, and I have no objection to treat with you for a comely mayor."

The Only Mourner.

Ample Apology.

An Irish lawyer once addressed the court as "gentleman" instead of "your honor." After he had concluded a brother of the bar reminded him of his error. He immediately arose and apologized thus: "May it please the court, in the heat of debate I called you honors gentlemen. I made a mistake, yer honors." Then he sat down, and if the court was not satisfied it did not disclose the fact.—Case and Comment.

WIFE GOT TIP TOP ADVICE.

"My wife wanted me to take our boy to the doctor to cure an ugly boil," writes D. Brandt, of Stone, Ga., "and I told her to let it alone. I said 'You know, the doctor has a habit of putting his hands in your pockets, and if you let him do that, he'll cure your boy.'"
