THE RISE OF THE STATE'S CAPITAL

The successful dedication following the completion of the auditorium building at Raleigh this week may be said to mark the rise of North Carolina's capital city from the provincialism that has long surrounded it. The News-Observer well calls it "an epoch-making event" and such it is, combining as it does with the splendid material growth of the city that has taken place within the past few years.

To be unable to receive its State's citizens has for years been a matter that made Raleigh fall in material, industrial commercial and population gains. The capital city of North Carolina was held in such sacred respect, locally, that this was deemed all sufficient to provoke an inrush of investors to build up and enrich the place. The old cry of "Raleigh for Raleighites" has given way to the broader spirit that partakes of metropolitanism. Not that Raleigh has lacked in hospitality towards visitors, but the provincial idea predominated, and this has kept back the natural growth of the city, lost it the State Conventions, all this operating to keep away the State help that would have been glad to contribute and aid in having a State capital city to be proud of and one to boast about to those outside North Carolina.

The week ushers in a new epoch, one that is the glory of every North Carolinian, for Raleigh is no longer localized, but Stateized, risen from provincialism to metropolitanism, arousing a State pride and enthusiasm that has never before been felt, that is well expressed in the sentence "Raleigh for all North Carolina, and all North Carolina for Raleigh."

MIDNIGHT IN THE OZARKS
and yet sleepless Hiram Scranton, of Clay City, Ill., coughed and coughed. He was in the mountains on the advice of five doctors, who said he had consumption, but found no help in the climate, and started home. Hearing of Dr. King's New Discovery, I began to use it. "I believe it saved my life," he writes "for it made a new man of me, so that I can now do good work again." For all lung diseases, coughs, colds, laryngitis, asthma, croup, whooping cough, hay fever, hemorrhages, hoarseness or quinsy, it's the best known remedy. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Coffee Goodness that has Spanned the Centuries

From the historic past of old New Orleans has come down to us across the centuries, a marvellously delicious coffee blend. So good is it that it has been an undisputed leader for over a hundred years. And today its use is rapidly increasing among people who love good coffee. It is, and always has been, the choicest Pan-American grown berry, roasted by a Unique Hygienic Process that Eliminates Harmful Elements while retaining and intensifying all the natural flavor and aroma. Until the building of the French Market Mills this rare old could be had only at the French Market in New Orleans. But NOW you all may enjoy it, daily, at your own table. For it is now sold everywhere in hermetically-sealed tins, in all its natural strength and delicious aroma.

"There is only one real old French Market flavor"—only one coffee with a history.

MORE THAN ENOUGH IS TOO MUCH.
To maintain health, a mature man or woman needs just enough food to repair the waste and supply energy and body heat. The habitual consumption of more food than is necessary for these purposes is the prime cause of stomach troubles, rheumatism and disorders of the kidneys. If troubled with indigestion, revise your diet, let reason and not appetite control and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and you will soon be all right again. For sale by all dealers.

Lame back is one of the most common forms of muscular rheumatism. A few applications of Chamberlain's Liniment will give relief. For sale by all Dealers.

Birds and Fishes, and Gales.
A correspondent recently reported what he described as the "curious freak" of a blackbird flying against a parlor window many times at the same spot continuously. Such an incident is not uncommon. Birds have been known to fight the winds at a time, day after day, with their own image reflected in a pane of glass, pecking and fluttering against the pane and quite exhausting themselves in their fury to demolish the supposed rival. It is another instance of how the arts of our civilization corrupt and confuse the birds. It is the same with fishes. Darwin tells a story of a pike in an aquarium operated by plate glass from fish which were its proper food. In trying to get at the fish the pike would often dash with such violence against the glass as to be completely stunned. It did this for more than three months before it learned caution. Then when the glass was removed the pike would not attack these particular fish, but would devour others freely introduced. It did not at all understand the situation, but associated the punishment it had received with the glass, but

WELLINGTON AS SIMPLICITY.
When Sir Edwin Landseer was painting the duke's portrait, hoping to save him the trouble of such sitting, he wrote and asked if he could let him have the trousers belonging to the uniform. The duke wrote back in all solemnity:

BERNARD CONCLUDES FROM HIS PERSONAL OBSERVATION OF COBRAS IN CEYLON, says the Balaclava American, that the serpent's traditional love for music is a pure fable and that the only effect of music is to arouse the reptile's curiosity, which is excited by any loud and acute sound. The cobra protrudes its hood from its burrow alike on hearing the music chamber's forte, the rattling of a chain and the sounds made by beating the ground with a switch. It appears to perceive only sounds of high pitch, for it pays no attention to the low notes of the flute or the beating of the drum. Bernard also confirmed in Ceylon, the reports of observations made in the London zoological garden on the supposed power of music to soothe the serpent upon birds, and he concludes that this power of fascination is also purely imaginary.

WOMEN
Women of the highest type, women of superior education and refinement, whose discernment and judgment give weight and force to their opinions, highly prize the wonderful curative and restorative properties of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Throughout the many stages of woman's life, from girlhood, through the years of womanhood, to old age, these tablets are a most valuable and reliable remedy.

Gave Up Hope

"I suffered five years, with awful pains, due to womanly troubles," writes Mrs. M. D. McPherson, from Chadbourne, N. C. "They grew worse, till I would often faint, I could not walk at all, and I had an awful hurting in my side; also a headache and a backache.
I gave up and thought I would die, but my husband urged me to try Cardui, so, I began, and the first bottle helped me. By the time the third bottle was used, I could do all my work. All the people around here said I would die, but Cardui relieved me."

TAKE The CARDUI Woman's Tonic

For more than 50 years, Cardui has been relieving women's sufferings, and making weak women strong and well. During this time, thousands of women have written, like Mrs. McPherson, in tell of the really surprising results they obtained by the use of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.
