SHORT PASSING EVENTS

Wednesday morning was low temperature here, 45 degrees. It now looks like no frost on this weather turn, but warmer and rain again before a frost comes.

Only two minor cases graced the police court docket yesterday afternoon and but a short while was consumed in the session. The police are having an easy time just at this period.

On Saturday, November 4th, there will be a meeting of the Craven county Teachers' Association at the court house in this city. This will be the first meeting of the present school term and the officers for the year will be elected. Every teacher in the county is urged to be present.

Information received in this city yesterday from Brooklyn, N. Y., stated that Mr. Roswell Mills had passed away in that city on the previous day at the age of 73 years. Mr. Mills was at one time a resident of New Bern and has a host of friends who will regret to learn of his demise.

We owe it to ourselves to investigate every movement of importance, many ideas concerning Christian Science have gone abroad that are absurd. Judge Clifford P. Smith, who lectures Friday night at the church edifice is familiar with the subject of his lecture, and can and will correct such impressions.

Several North Carolina cities are suffering from epidemics of different diseases and the public schools have been compelled to close for a few weeks. New Bern is especially fortunate in this regard. There is but little sickness in the city at present and the attendance of the schools is especially good.

Next Wednesday, November 1st, the oyster season will be officially opened at this port with Mr. John H. Russell as Inspector. The bivalves have already begun to be brought into port in considerable large quantities and local consumers have had ample opportunity to purchase as many as they desire at a reasonable price.

Thanksgiving Day is only a few weeks distant, and already large, fat turkeys have made their appearance on the local market and are being sold to prospective celebrators. The price of fowls just at this time is comparatively low and those who are contemplating a "turk feast" at that occasion would do well to purchase now.

November the 10th is the date that has been set for the conference of the Craven County Board of Education and all the school committeemen in the county. Several men prominent in the educational circles of the State will be present at this conference and it is to be hoped that every committeeman and also every member of the Board of Education will be present.

While dredging for oysters off Oriental late Tuesday afternoon, three young men from Pamlico had a narrow escape from drowning. In some way their boat, a small sloop, overturned and they were thrown into the water. Fortunately a gasoline boat was near and they were rescued. Yesterday morning the revenue cutter "Pamlico" went down from this port and rescued the overturned boat.

Never before has so much interest been manifested in a serial story in this city as is now being shown by those who have been reading "The Third Degree" which appears in each Sunday's issue of the Journal. This story has a thrill in every line, and it keeps the reader guessing as to what will be the final outcome. Next Sunday another installment will be published. Don't fail to secure a copy on that day.

Local coal and wood dealers have been troubled with orders during the past few days, and large quantities of fuel for household use has been disposed of. There are always a large number of people who wait until the very last minute to purchase a supply of coal or wood and they are usually the ones who sit in the cold and await the arrival of the fuel which they failed to purchase, while the weather was warm and the dealer was not rushed with orders.
