THOUSANDS VISIT EXHIBIT HALL

Visitors Profuse in Their Praise of the Magnificent Exhibits. Local Concerns Well Represented.

Yesterday morning the doors of the large exhibit hall on George street were thrown open to the public and from that time until the doors were closed last night there was a steady stream of admiring visitors. The building, both on the exterior and the interior, had been beautifully decorated for the occasion and the scene was indeed an attractive one.

Of course the agricultural exhibits were the chief attractions. Practically everything that is grown by the farmers of this section of the state was on display and the very best of their crop, too. Corn, cotton, potatoes, apples, and hundreds of other products were attractively arranged upon the large tables. The farmers of Craven county are to be congratulated upon the excellent showing they made, and we wish it was within our power to give each and every one of them a substantial prize. They could not have possibly arranged a more attractive display of their products.

In the section set aside for the live stock exhibit were found chickens, turkeys, ducks, hogs etc. This section was not as complete as the committee would have liked for it to have been, but the animals and fowls which were on display were greatly admired by the thousands.

The local merchants and manufacturers realizing the advantages of advertising the stores and factories at this time, were well represented. The booths occupied by them had been attractively decorated and with the excellent displays which they contained, could not but attract the eyes of all passing by. Among the most noticeable displays were those of Messrs. S. Coplon & Son, J. S. Basnight Hardware Co., H. C. Armstrong, Virginia Carolina Chemical Co., E. H. & J. A. Meadows Fertilizer Co., New Bern Produce Co., J. S. Miller, J. M. Mitchell, Hyman Supply Co., Broad Street Grocery Co., G. S. Waters & Sons, J. J. Baxter, J. A. Jones and the F. S. Duffy Medicine Co. There were also a large number of other exhibits merchants and dealers, but the above mentioned exhibits attracted especial attention.

The North Carolina agriculture test farm at Raleigh also sent a very fine exhibit.

The exhibit hall will be open again today and tonight and it is hoped that every person in New Bern will be able to visit these exhibits. There is no admittance fee charged, and those who attend will be given attractive and useful souvenirs by many of those who have booths in the hall. Remember, this is the last day that you will have an opportunity of seeing these exhibits and if you fail to visit the hall today you will a rare treat.

GREAT DAY ON AVIATION FIELD

The Air is Also Man's Domain, In Space Defying Aeroplane.

The power of sixty horses exerted through the medium of a gasoline eight cylinder engine, and driving a seven foot propeller blade of wood that, invisible to the eye, revolved 1200 times in a minute, lifted Bird-man Witmer up into the sky yesterday. Six thousand persons followed with their eyes the graceful flight of the aviator as his biplane first lifted itself from the earth and then soared away over Neuse river, then turned back upon its path and in a great two mile circle came swooping over the aviation field and twice more made a great ring in the upper air, finally dropping lower and lower until it touched the ground and ran for a distance between the two long lines of spectators.

The first flight was at two o'clock and an equally successful flight was made at 3:30. This afternoon the Bird-man Witmer will again take to the sky on his Curtiss biplane and promises a variation in his performance, so that it will be well worth a second trip to the field for them who went yesterday. They say there were over four thousand people inside the fence yesterday, and several thousand took a free view from the outside. It was a great day for amusement, for besides the exhibition down the street and a real Ferris wheel, a high dive and a midway of no small attraction. It was a pretty clean kind of a midway too, from the Hindoo lady poised in the air by magic art to the 'biggest snake in the world.' And refreshments that were actually refreshing at reachable prices. It seems that all the town was trying to push through the gate at one time and the autos were passing in or packed in the street outside. The transfers did a rushing business and yet "everybody" walked.

Really the high dive of Harry Six is something "fierce," 100 feet into a tub of water. When Harry went in all the water came out and went over the surrounding crowd. This will be repeated today; be sure to stand near the tank.

It will be warmer today too, and that will be better to see the horse races. If you have any sense, stand back when the birdman asks for a clear getaway. There would be something doing if you got in the way of sixty horses. Besides why worry J. Leon when he has so much to do besides clearing the field? Mr. Birdman gives us a stunt or two today!

VISITORS FORFEIT FOOTBALL GAME

Washington Players Become Incensed At Refree's Decision and Refuse to Continue With the Game.

Yesterday the Washington high school football team came over to New Bern to play the New Bern graded school team. Twice prior to this game the local boys have suffered defeat at the hands of the Washington team but yesterday afternoon the visitors became incensed at a decision of the referee in the first quarter of the second half of the game and refused to continue. At this juncture the score stood 5 to 0 in favor of the local boys and the referee awarded the game to them.

Several thousand people were on hand to witness the game and there was much enthusiasm manifested, both teams showed up in fine form but it was easily seen from the first that the local boys were masters of the situation. Times after times the Washington adherents cheered their favorites and they exerted every effort to down their opponents but they saw that they stood practically no show at all, and when an opportunity was afforded they protested against a perfectly fair decision and when the referee refused to concede to their protests they refused to continue with the game.

Saturday afternoon the local team will play the Goldsboro team in this city. A few weeks ago they played this team and were defeated, but that time however, they have prepared a special plan and are expected to win.

GOVERNOR DELIVERS ADDRESS

Congratulated People of Craven County Upon the Remarkable Progress They Had Made in Past Few Years.

No more eloquent nor distinguished person could have been chosen to deliver the opening address of Craven county's big Agricultural and Stock Exhibit and Aviation Meet than Governor W. W. Kitchin, who so ably and eloquently carried out that part of the program before several thousand people in this city yesterday morning.

Governor Kitchin arrived in New Bern on the east bound train and was met at the train by a committee which had been appointed for that purpose and carried to the residence of Hon. S. M. Brinson, where he partook of a light lunch and removed the traces of travel. At 11 o'clock Governor Kitchin, Hon. S. M. Brinson, Mr. C. E. Foy and Mr. Larry I. Moore drove in the latter's handsome touring car to South Front street where the line of parade was formed. At a given signal the march began.

First in line came the New Bern police force, they were followed by the Second Regiment Band from Kinston. A large number of marshals on horse back came next, following them in the automobile came the Guest of Honor, Governor W. W. Kitchin, following this auto was another machine which contained a number of New Bern's most prominent citizens. This was followed by the Naval Reserves, the Coast Artillery, a squad from the revenue cutter "Pamlico," the local fire companies and a large number of citizens in automobiles and other private conveyances. The line of march led from South Front street to Middle. Up Middle to Broad, from Broad to George and up George to the exhibit hall. All along the line of march the throngs were congregated and cheer after cheer greeted the State's Chief executive as the automobile containing him and the committee who were with him passed by.

Upon arriving at the exhibit building the Governor was escorted to the seat of honor on the large speaker's stand which had been erected in front of the building. As master of ceremonies Mr. L. H. Cutler, Jr., then introduced to the immense throng Mr. J. Leon Williams, secretary of the New Bern Chamber of Commerce, and who has been one of the most diligent workers in making the Agricultural and Stock Exhibit a success. Mr. Williams, on behalf of the citizens of New Bern, extended to every visitor a hearty welcome. He related in a brief talk the history of the fairs and exhibits that have been held in this city in years gone by and concluded by asking every one of his hearers to get together and lend their aid in securing a permanent fair for New Bern.

Mr. Cutler then introduced Hon. S. M. Brinson, who in his usual eloquent and sincere way introduced Governor Kitchin.

Governor Kitchin said that for months he had been watching the progress of this exhibit with much interest and that he was more than glad to be able to be at its opening. Going on he told of the progress that had been made in all lines and especially along agricultural lines, by the people of New Bern and Craven county, upon the exhibit which he had been chosen to open and said that he hoped that he would see the time when New Bern would have a Fair Association and be able to have an event of this sort every year. The Governor's address was appropriately timed and the throngs who were packed around the stand were spellbound by his masterful oratory. In conclusion he thanked the people of New Bern for the hospitality shown him during his visit here and stated that he hoped to have the pleasure of returning at an early date.

At the conclusion of his address the Governor and party drove out to the Aviation Field and spent some time at that place. Owing to the fact that he was compelled to leave on the train for Wilmington in order to go to Southport today to make an address, Governor Kitchin was not able to stay for the aeroplane flight and the football game.
