BODIES IN NIAGARA'S DEPTHS

Believe Remains Can Never Be Recovered. Refused To Leave His Wife.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Watchers along the lower rapids and at points of vantage on the shores of the Niagara whirlpool fail to see any trace of the bodies of Burrell Heacock of Cleveland, and Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Staunton, of Toronto, the three persons who were swept into the whirlpool and drowned Sunday, through the breaking of the ice bridge over the Niagara river below the falls. Old rivermen say that the bodies never will be found. The whirlpool is a mass of floating, grinding ice cakes and the bodies in all probability will be ground to pieces in the milling of the ice cakes.

The bridge was considered perfectly safe. For weeks the great fields of ice had been coming down the river, piling up against the barrier, until it was from 60 to 80 feet thick and under the influence of zero weather had become firmly anchored to the shore. The jam was about 1,000 feet in length and in some places a quarter of a mile in breadth. For two weeks it had offered safe passage to the hardy and Sunday an immense crowd of excursionists came to view the winter wonder of the river. Had the accident happened an hour later in the day hundreds would have lost their lives, for the crowd was moving into Prospect park in the elevators that run down the cliff for the purpose of venturing out upon the ice. Somewhere deep in the great whirlpool sleeps the man partially identified as Mr. Staunton, who twice put aside chances of rescue in order to remain with his terror-stricken wife, and who, in the shadow of death—just at the break in the rapids—spurred assistance for himself and attempted to land about the woman's body a rope dangling from the lower steel arch bridge. The lad, Burrell Heacock, was cast in the same mould. Had he not turned back on the ice to give assistance to the man, he too, might have made the shore. On the bridge at the time it tore free from the shore besides these three were Monroe Gilbert, of this city; Ignatius Roth, of Cleveland, Heacock's companion; William Hill, an old riverman; William Labond, riverman, and an unidentified Italian. Hill, nearest to the American shore, heard the grinding and cracking of the ice, and ran at top speed toward the Canadian shore, calling to the others to follow him. Labond gave them warning that safety lay in that direction. Gilbert and the Italian followed their lead, but the others became confused. By the time they had regained their composure, the bridge was moving fast down the river.

YESTERDAY WAS "TIGER" DAY

A Large Number of Whiskey Sellers Faced Judge Foushee. Baker Bryan Will Be Placed on Trial Today.

Practically the entire session of Superior Court yesterday was taken up with the disposal of retailing cases. A few of the offenders managed to prove that they were not guilty but a large number were found guilty and were sentenced to the county roads.

The first case called was that of the State vs. The Mutual Aid Banking Company and John H. Fisher. There were two bills in this case and they charged the defendants with retailing whiskey by selling bills of lading. The first case was sent over to the Supreme Court while the second one resulted in a mistrial and was continued until the next term of court.

Messrs. Moore & Dunn, attorneys for Walter Grant, who is charged with incense, then asked the Judge to take up the case against their client. Solicitor Abernathy, however, was not quite ready in this case and asked that the defendant be required to give a bond for his appearance at the next term of court. There was considerable discussion on this matter; the defendant's attorneys contending that he was not able to give a large bond and would be compelled to remain in jail until June. The bond was finally fixed at $400.

When the afternoon session convened the following cases were first disposed of:

David Hatch, charged with retailing, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the county roads for 5 months.

Mark Bickers, charged with retailing, pleaded guilty, had already spent four months in jail, was sentenced to the county roads for 60 days.

Lehem Morris, charged with retailing, pleaded guilty. Had been in jail four months and was sentenced to the roads for 60 days.

Walter Jones, who pleaded guilty to the larceny of a bicycle on the previous day, was sentenced to a term of 6 months on the county roads.

O. Shaw, charged with retailing, pleaded guilty. Had spent four months in jail and was sentenced to a term of 60 days on the county roads.

Bryant Robbins, charged with retailing, pleaded guilty. Had been in jail five months, sentenced to serve a term of 60 days on the county roads.

The case of the State against Gary Hawk, white, was next taken up. In this case the defendant was charged with retailing whiskey in violation of the law. He entered a plea of not guilty. Quite a number of witnesses were examined and it was late in the afternoon before the attorneys concluded their arguments to the jury.

The case was given to the jury at 6 p. m., but the jury retired for the night about 11 o'clock without reaching a verdict.

Yesterday afternoon the Sheriff's deputies completed their task of summoning the two hundred special venire men from which the jury for the Baker Bryan murder case will be selected and the case will be taken up the first thing this morning. Much interest has been manifested in this case and there is not the least doubt but that the court room will be crowded with spectators. The defendant is represented by Messrs. Moore & Dunn and Guion & Guion. Solicitor Abernathy will be assisted by Mr. D. E. Henderson.

Annual Banquet Last Night.

Last night at their commodious quarters on Broad street the members of the Atlantic Steam Fire Engine Company were tendered a banquet by the new officers of the company, Messrs. M. L. Hall, chief; Thomas Lassiter, foreman; Cary's Barker, assistant foreman and Luby Smith captain of the hose.

In the large meeting room on the third floor a table had been erected almost the entire length of the building. On this was spread a tempting array of viands, shortly after 9 o'clock the members and a few invited friends were ushered into the room and seated at the table. Mr. M. L. Hall was master of the ceremonies and he presided in his usual eloquent manner. During the evening many toasts were made and general good fellowship prevailed. At the conclusion of the banquet the members extended their best wishes of thanks for the pleasant evening they had spent.

THE KING AND QUEEN RETURN

From India. Gladly Welcomed by Thousands. King Salutes American Flag.

London, Feb. 7.—In one of the worst snow storms London has known in many years King George and Queen Mary were welcomed back from their eventful visit to India to be crowned Emperor and Empress and receive the homage of their Oriental princely vassals. They have been absent three months. Despite the cold, thousands gathered along the streets and heartily cheered the King and Queen. The cold was so intense people had to stamp their feet and run up and down on the pavement to keep warm. A few Jays ago spring flowers were growing in the open. George and Mary were all smiles and were obviously very glad to be home again. No one disguises now that their visit to India was involved in great risks. The family group of the King, the Queen and the Prince of Wales, who met his parents at Portsmouth exchanged affectionate glances among themselves, and, at the same time beaming on the cheering populace, made a picture that aroused the warmest enthusiasm. The short drive to the palace was attended by two impressive incidents. Each of them has greatly stirred the people here. As the royal carriage drove by the American Embassy King George stood up and, turning impressively toward it, saluted the Stars and Stripes flying over the Embassy entrance. The crowds that witnessed this act of courtesy quickly recognized its meaning and cheered vociferously. At the gates of Buckingham Palace the enthusiasm of the people broke loose from the customary British stolidity. As their Majesties passed through the throng spontaneously burst forth into the stirring strains of "Home, Sweet Home." The effect was thrilling, and many shed tears. The Queen was so deeply touched that she was forced to raise her handkerchief to her eyes. After the royalties had entered the palace the crowds remained outside singing "God Save the King!" "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow!" and "Auld Lang Syne." Their Majesties responded by appearing on the balcony over the entrance, and they were then greeted with round after round of applause. The King looked thin after his anxious tour but he was bronzed and appeared unusually active and lively. Queen Mary seemed remarkably well and had more than her wonted color. Premier Asquith and other members of the Cabinet, the Diplomatic Corps, the Lord Mayor of London, the Mayors of the principal provincial cities and many officers of the army and navy were at Victoria station to meet their Majesties and formed a brilliant group in their uniforms and regalia.

Hon. John G. Woolley to Lecture Here.

Next Sunday Hon. John G. Woolley, of Philadelphia, will give two lectures in this city on the subject of prohibition.

Mr. Woolley is a lawyer by profession. For many years he has devoted the greater part of his time to the fight for prohibition and temperance, appearing in practically every State of the Union. He is recognized as probably the leading temperance speaker in the United States and his lectures and addresses have been tremendously effective. He will spend 15 days in North Carolina visiting every city and town of importance in the State, under the direction of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon League. Mr. Woolley is one of the most noted temperance lecturers in America and was twice the candidate for the Presidency of the United States on the prohibition ticket. Mr. Woolley will speak at Centenary Church and everybody is invited to hear him.

Mr. Woolley has been a commanding figure in national temperance work for more than twenty years. He is a native of Ohio and studied and practiced law. Since 1890 he has devoted himself largely to working and speaking against temperance. Since 1890 he has been editor of the New Voice. In 1900 and once since he was the candidate of the prohibition party for President, receiving the time 208,514 votes.
