The loss of the steamship Titanic, illustrates the demand of the present age-speed regardless of cost and danger. The ocean high way is no doubt the safest of all routes, for speed, compared to land and air routes, but when disaster comes, its toll exacts a fright ful percentage of life and material things. There is a facination in speed. It is a sensation that once experienced demands again the thrill, and men and women will pay to ride in an air ship, on the fastest train and on the swiftest steamship, no matter what the el so that what was once extreme risk is held today as not beyond the ormoney for any one to enjoy the 100 way agent or the undersigned. mile an hour airship, the 70 mile train, or the ocean voyage in less Interesting to Trace Derivation of the Famous Ranges of This Country.

Adirondacks: Derived from the Canlenga (Mohawk) Iroquois language, in which the original form is ratirontaks, meaning "bark caters."

Allegheny: A corruption of the Delaware Indian name for Allegheny and Ohio rivers, the meaning of the name being lost.

Appalachian: The name was given by the Spaniards under DeSoto, who derived it from the name of a neighboring tribe, the Apalachi. Brinton holds its radical to be the Muscogee apala, "great sea," or "great ocean." and that aphiache is a compound of this word with the Muscogee personal participle "chi/" and means "those by the sea."

Blue Ridge: So called from the hug which frequently envelops its distant summits

Catskilli: The mountains were called katsbergs by the Dutch, from the num ber of wildcats found in them, and the creek, which flows from the moun tains, was called Katerskill, "tomcats creek."
