WOMAN'S TRIALS.
 The burden a woman has to carry through life are many but they can be lightened if she will turn to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. A soothing and strengthening medicine—subduing nervous excitability, prostration, hysteria, hot flashes and the many symptoms which may be caused by disturbed circulation to women. For those "dragging-down" pains or distress and for the derangements and irregularities of the "Favorite Prescription" has had many thousands of testimonials from people living in every part of America. Another important thing to every woman is that this medicine is made from efficient medicinal roots, without the use of alcohol, narcotics, or any injurious agents. Full list of ingredients given on bottle-wrapper and sworn to by Dr. R. V. Pierce—who is President of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Every woman is invited to write to this Institute and receive confidential and sound medical advice, entirely without cost from one who makes the diseases of women his specialty.
 "I can cheerfully recommend your remedies, especially your 'Favorite Prescription,' for all female disorders," writes Mrs. M. M. MORRELL, of Bluff City, Tenn., Route 4. "During the past seven years I suffered from pains in the back and ovaries. Tried many remedies but found only transient relief until I was persuaded by a friend to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After giving this remedy a fair trial, I found that it would do just what it is recommended to do. I used it in all seven bottles. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Pierce's remedies for all female derangements."

The GLOW of the RUBIES

"I'm a damned—"
 He raised his arm and dropped it.
 "Well, never mind what," he finished with a lift of the shoulders.
 "But I want to say something. It's about what I offered you for those stones. The price—the amount I named—wasn't even a decent gamble; but it was all I could do, and oh, I wanted one so badly, Dicky! And now you've made me feel like a dog. And I can't take your gift, old chap, any more than I could afford to offer you the real value of one of those beautiful stones. Here" And he passed them back to me.
 "I know each of them to be worth anywhere from forty to fifty thousand dollars," he said quietly. "They're the kind the crowned heads scoop for jewels of state."
 I nodded, and, getting up carelessly, I strolled to a window.
 "Devilish lovely night," I said, poking my head out. And it was. Stars overhead and all that sort of thing, and lots of them below, too—I could hear them singing over on Broadway.
 "All right, old chap; then here they go into the street," I said. "If my friend can't have 'em, then no jolly crowned heads shall. That's flat!"
 Billings started forward with a regular scream.
 I waved him back. "Don't come any nearer, old chap," I said, holding my arm out of the window, "or, dash me, I'll drop them instantly. Six stories, you know—stone flagging below."
 "But, Dicky!"
 "If you don't say you'll take 'em, I count three, I'll give 'em a toss, by Jove! One!"
 "Here, Dicky! Don't be a—"
 "Two!" I counted. No bluff, you know; I meant jolly well to do it.
 "Just one word—one second, Dicky!" he yelled. "Let me off with one, then. Dicky! Dicky, old chap! Be a good sportsman!"
 I hesitated. Dash it, one hates to take an advantage.
 Billings stretched out his arm appealingly. "Do, old chap!" he pleaded. "Give me just one—one only!"
 His hand shook like a quivering what's-its-name leaf.
 I yielded reluctantly. "Oh, well, then, call it off with one," I said. And with a sigh I tossed him one of the rubies and dropped the other in the pocket of my smoking-jacket. Billings wiped his forehead, and then he thanked me and wiped his eyes.
 "So good of you to give in, old chap," he sniffed. "Never will forget you for it!"
 "Oh, I say, chuck it, you know!" I protested.
 "Whole family will thank you," he went on in his handkerchief. "Princely magnanimity and all that sort of thing—you'll just have to come up for the week end with me this—"
 "I will!" I reached forward eagerly and insisted on shaking hands. By Jove, what luck!
 And Billings looked regularly overcome. All he could do was just shake his head and pump my arm. Why, dash it, this seemed to affect him more even than giving in about the ruby. It was the first time I had ever accepted his invitation, you know.
 "Tell me what, old chap," he said, as soon as he could speak. "I'm going to tell you what to do with that other stone. You have that for her?"
 "Her!" By Jove, I was so startled I lost the grip on my monocle. Billings nodded emphatically.
 "Yes, sir—for her; she'll be along one of these days."
 "By Jove, you know!" I was almost dizzy with a sudden idea. I fished out the jewel and held it before my glass, squinting doubtfully at it. I wondered if it was good enough for "her."
 "I say, Billings," I murmured thoughtfully. "Blondes or brunettes, you know—which wear rubies?"
 "Both!" He said it with a kind of jaw snap. "They wear anything in the jewel line they can freeze on to."
 "But which?"
 "The worst! Blondes, my boy—blondes, every time; especially those going around in black." Billings spoke gloomily. "Let me tell you, my boy—and I know—don't you ever have anything to do with a blonde if she's in black, especially black silk—her!"
 By Jove, his uplifted finger and fierce way of saying it gave me a regular turn, you know. But then there was the ruby, and I was thinking that—
 "Perhaps the four of 'em in a bracelet," I muttered, "with something else to help out. They might do."
 "They might," said Billings in a tone of coarse sarcasm. "They might do for a queen!"
 I fished a quick look at him. "Just what I was thinking," I answered gaily.
 "Meaning," said Billings, yawning, "let's go to bed."
 And just as I rang for Jenkins I suddenly was seized with a perfectly ripping idea that checked a long yawn right in the middle and almost broke my jaw. For I saw how I could do something handsome that would even up with Billings in a way for the ruby he wouldn't take.
 "Tell me what, old chap," I said, stepping him on the shoulder. "You are going to have them tonight?"
 "Have—have what?" bawled from him. "Rubies? I tell you I won't take another."
 "Rubies!" I ejaculated contemptuously. "Rubies nothing! Something better—something worth while, dash it!"
 I say he would never guess it. "They're rubies!" he said. "I was surprised."

"SWAT" AND "CLEAN UP."
 Never before this time has there been so much written published and talked on public health and sanitary matters. Particularly at this spring time has there been the general cry of "swat the fly," and this with an intensity of exclamation that arouses nearly every one to action. Those insects the fly and mosquito, are now held as responsible for the greater part of all human physical ills that lead to severe sickness and death. At the basis for sanitation comes cleanliness, simple and easy it would appear to just keep clean, both as to premises and person, surely for the pleasant sensation and agreeableness of it, if there was not everything involved in this being and keeping down filth, in having no rubbish heaps, in having fresh and carefully kept yards, alleys and streets.
 If every one would not merely "clean up," but keep so, there would not be the after cry of "swat the fly," and the ever present fear of malaria when a mosquito is heard. Like as in every thing else, it is the simple prevention that means everything, that starts in cleanliness, in carefulness, in giving heed to the things at hand, which saves the fearful toll in money and life, when cleanliness is not observed, and the ills that follow from neglect must be paid for at a terrible cost.

GOOD NEWS
 Oh, he has returned! Who is that? Why, old man Economy, with the noblest line of spring and summer samples, I most ever seen at prices way down yonder. He is very jubilant over his patronage of last season and takes this means of expressing his appreciation to the general public for the same. The tools at Sawyer's are seemingly trying to outdo one another.
 "You may be sharp," said the thread to the needle, "but I notice you are always getting it in the eye."
 "Oh, I don't know," answered the needle, I notice that whenever you get in a hole I have to pull you through."
 "Hush up you two," cried the thimble, "if it wasn't for my PUSH you would neither of you get along."
 Then the scissors cut in.
 And they are busy too, doing the right thing by all customers. Economy is stopping for the season with Stoves of Our Great-Granddaddies.

 The stoves of a hundred or so years ago were not things to be lightly passed over by the human vision if they were all like those advertised in a New York paper of the time in these terms: "A few Pyramidal Stoves, shaped nearly as follows: Standing six feet six inches high, with lion's feet, the bust of General Washington on top, the arms of the United States on each side, with regulating doors. The whole molded, ornamented and finished in a masterly style; forming an elegant stove for coal or wood; appropriate for churches, public offices, halls or large stores."

ALL YOU NEED IS A CASCARET TONIGT
 No Sick Headache, Bilious Stomach, Coated Tongue or Constipated Bowels by Morning.
 Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.
 Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.
 A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.
 The path to the poorhouse is paved with gold bricks.
 Mrs. R. Brant, 11,115 Paden street, Parkersburg, W. Va., had an attack of isgrippe which left her a bad kidney trouble, and she suffered much severe pain and backache. Foley Kidney Pills helped me wonderfully."—For Sale by all Dealers.

CHAPTER X.
 A Nocturnal Intrusion.
 "Oh, but I say, it's impossible, you know!" And I stared at Jenkins incredulously.
 He grinned foolishly. "I know, sir; but he's in 'em, just the same, and I must say they do fit lovely—just easy-like."
 "By Jove!" I gasped helplessly. "Then the jolly things must be made of rubber, that's all! Why, look here, he weighs over three hundred pounds, you know!"
 Jenkins' head wagged eagerly. "I think that's how it is, sir; it's wonderful what they do with rubber now; my brother wears a rubber cloth bandage that ain't no bigger 'round than my arm when it's off of him, and he—"
 "There say," I said sleepily as I fell back upon my pillow. "Good night, Jenkins; hope you'll get enough sleep to make up for the other night."
 Jenkins sighed as he punched out the light. "Thank you, sir—and good-night," he murmured.
 How long I slept I cannot tell, as they say in stories, you know; but I was brought jolly wide awake by a light that shone through the bedroom's open door. For if there's one thing I'll wake me quicker 'than everything else it's a light in the room at night. Fact is, I always want it as black as the what's-its-name cave, or else I can't sleep. And this light came from the small electric stand on the writing desk. I could tell that by the way it shone.
 And just then the little silver gong in there chimed three jolly rum hour for anybody to be up unless they were having some fun or were sick. So I raised my head and called softly:
 "Jenkins—er—Billings!"
 No answer. Reluctantly I swung out and stepped within the next room. Not a soul there, by Jove! Then I moved over to Billings' door, which was wide open for coolness, like my own. I could not see the shadowed alcove in which the bed was placed, and so I stood there hesitating, hating awfully to risk the possibility of disturbing him; don't you know. And just then my eyes, ranging sleepily across the room toward the private hall, were startled by the apparition of an open doorway.
 Started, all right! And yet, by Jove, I was in such a jolly fog, I just stood there, nodding and battling at it for a full minute before I could take it in.
 "What I call devilish queer," I decided. I walked over and stuck my head out into the dark hall.
 "Billings! Jenkins!" I whispered.
 By Jove, not a word! Everything as silent as the tomb!
 "I didn't like it a bit—so mysterious, you know. Besides, dash it, the thing was getting me all waked up! I just knew if once I got excited and thoroughly awake, it would take me nearly ten minutes to get to sleep again. And, by Jove, just then the excitement came, for I got hold of the fact after I had stared at it a while, that the door of my apartment opening into the outer corridor was standing ajar. Why, dash it, it was not only standing, it was moving. Then suddenly the broad streak of light from the corridor widened under the lip of a freshening towel, and the door swung open with a bang.
 "And then I heard my name spoken."
 By Jove, I had been standing there with my mouth open, bobbing my head like a silly noddy, but, give me my word, I was suddenly wide awake as a jolly owl was not.
 A way down the corridor, by the wall white, a man was standing, reading a framed placard. Nothing particularly remarkable in that, but as the door swung he turned his head sharply and exclaimed:
 "Damn! Now, that will wake Jenkins!"
 I was surprised.

"Some people can't see good in anything, but it is always there," he said. "Why, out in my district a short time ago there was an uproar because a Miss Week married a Mr. Day. The grumblers complained that it was a loss of time, because a Week had been lost to make a Day. But those who had seen the sunshine all the time suggested that probably it wouldn't be long before that week would be enough days around to make up for the lost Week."
