WILSON MAN SHOOTS HIS WIFE, CLAIMS SHE WAS UNFAITHFUL

J. W. Beland Charges That Mrs. Beland Was Guilty of Infidelity.

WIFE IN SANATORIUM HUSBAND IN LOCKUP

Three Shots Fired, One of Them Likely to Prove Fatal.

Wilson, N. C., Aug. 23.—Great excitement was created here this morning at about 9:30 o'clock when it was reported that J. W. Beland had shot his wife at their home on Spring street infidelity being the alleged cause.

C. T. Gillikin, a boarder in the Beland home, is named as being the cause of the deplorable affair. According to reports Beland caught his wife and Gillikin in a bath room together last night and after a few words this morning drew a pistol and opened fire on his wife, one bullet penetrating the abdomen, and two others lodging in the steel ribs of her corset.

Mrs. Beland was operated on at the Wilson sanatorium but it is thought that the chances for her recovery are slight. Beland was arrested and placed in jail.

The Belands stand well here and some think her husband's suspicions and charges are unfounded. She has not been in condition to make a statement since the shooting. Her children maintain that she is innocent.

On the other hand it is generally believed that a gentleman of Beland's type would not have acted so rashly had he not been positive of his wife's infidelity. An effort will be made tonight or tomorrow to have Beland released on bail.

Later—Mrs. Beland's condition is very serious. The attending physicians say she cannot live.

JOHNSON-JEANNETTE BOUT CALLED OFF

New York, August 23.—The Johnson-Jeannette boxing match set for September 25th at the St. Nicholas Athletic Club, has been declared off this afternoon "for the betterment of the sport," by Jesse and Edward McMahon the promoters of the bout. The McMahon brothers called off the match after a conference with the State Athletic Commission.

"There has been some adverse criticism about this match," Edward McMahon declared, "and the commission apparently do not want it to be held. That is why we are calling it off, for the betterment of the sport. The commissioners do not want Jack Johnson to appear in a match in New York city."

"The commission decided long ago," said Commissioner O'Neil, "that Johnson would not be permitted to fight here. We believe now as we did then that the presence of Johnson in a ring contest in this State would be inimical to the best interests of boxing, the status of which has greatly improved under the Frawley law."

FIGHT TO BE KEPT UP Says Farmers Won't Relax Efforts Until Road is Improved.

Mr. A. S. Holton of Olympia was one of the most recent visitors at the Journal office to protest against the condition of that villainous piece of corduroy road the other side of Bridgeton. He was in yesterday morning.

"If you have any doubts about the losses to which the people of Reelsboro and that section are subjected on account of this road," he said, "just go around to any of the groceries and see the quantities of broken and scrambled eggs there are to be thrown out. Ask the reason and you will find that this was hen fruit that farmers attempted to bring to market over that corduroy road."

"You may get tired of hearing us farmers talk about this terrible stretch, about a mile of water-soaked logs, on a level with the water on each side, but I tell you we are not going to let up on the thing till ditches are dug on each side."

"All the County Commissioners would have to do would be to ditch the road, throw the material up over the logs and then use a split log drag over the road thus made. It was all I could do to stay in my buggy as I came over that stretch this morning. Can hardly get a wagon over it at all."

OFFICERS SEIZE ILLIGIT STILL

Located the Outfit Before Day Yesterday Morning.

NOT A PART MISSING The Whole Plant In Read- iness For Another Run. No Arrests.

The biggest seizure of illicit distilling apparatus in many a day was made near Maysville yesterday morning. Messrs. Sam Lilly, U. S. Deputy Marshal and J. E. Cameron, internal revenue collector, left the little town of Maysville Thursday night, in a terrible downpour, and struggled through the bushes and scrub of a savannah that stretches to the eastward for a distance of a mile and a quarter from the railroad. At three o'clock the officers came upon the still, in the middle of a gallberry swamp, completely surrounded by bushes, vines and thorns, so that it could not be seen five paces away.

The men had been struggling through the wickedest sort of underbrush thoroughly soaked by the rain, for over two hours, but they felt well repaid for their hardships when they inspected the outfit by the aid of their lanterns. There stood the largest still that has ever been cut up in eastern North Carolina since these officers have held their commissions. Not a part was missing. The pot was full of spent beer, the cap—a part of the equipment seldom found when a distillery is raided—was on the pot, leading to the big copper worm, and the whole plant was all ready for another "run."

The still had a capacity of at least one hundred and ten gallons at a "run" and had evidently been in operation a very few hours before the officers arrived. The heavy rain has washed away many of the evidences of operation like discharge of by-products and footprints that might have helped the finders to make arrests, but everything seemed ready for another day's work.

The officers stayed by the still, protecting themselves as best they could from the rough night, until daybreak, when a fruitless search was made for some of the whiskey that might have been left near the outfit. None was found, however, and the discoverers of this blockade factory started in to cut the still up. They finished their work in time to have the pot, cap and big copper worm hauled to the depot at Maysville, and to take the morning Coast Line train for New Bern, where they arrived pretty well played out. Deputy Marshal Lilly was obliged to go right to bed, and stay there yesterday. The position of a revenue officer in the Carolinas is not a bed of roses.

The officers would have "sat on the still," as the phrase goes in blockader's parlance, but the men were worn out, wet and hungry, and they thought discretion the better part of valor, so came away with their plunder. They have plenty of evidence to secure the conviction of the distiller, though of course they did not say so. That information came from another source. This distillery had been running for several years, and was exceedingly well equipped, with everything in good shape. It is thought a large part of the product went to debauch the neighboring settlement. That part of it would make another story. The revenue officers had been working on this case for the past twelve months, but this blockader was located in such an inaccessible place that Marshal Lilly says he might have searched for the plant for weeks, in the daylight, and never have found the thing.

Looking for stills in open day is not a healthful occupation, either. The hiding place was in reality stumbled upon by an outsider, looking for fence posts, who told of his find. This does not detract at all from the good work done by Messrs. Lilly and Cameron. They did a very good job.

TO BUILD PART OF HIGHWAY

Sheriff-to-be R. B. Lane was in the city yesterday. He says there is to be constructed a branch of the Central Highway from Perfection to Cove City, a distance of nine miles. Work is now progressing splendidly under the direction of Mr. E. W. Wadsworth, road supervisor for that section.

NO FOUL PLAY

John Cherry, a colored man aged 22 years, died yesterday morning at 4 o'clock in a house at the corner of Pine and Smith streets. The case was reported to the police by parties who led the officers to believe that there might have been foul play. But an investigation showed that Cherry had been sick for several days and died from natural causes.
