COLD STORAGE AT THE ICE FACTORY

Innovation For Local Concern Has Been Introduced

WILL BE ENLARGED

Good Opportunity Here For Big Industry In Holding Produce

An innovation has been introduced by the New Bern Ice Company at their plant on Griffith street. Mr. A. Cook, the manager, has had constructed a cold storage room, with a capacity of one carload. A cold storage warehouse has long been needed in New Bern and there is little doubt that the capacity of the place will be enlarged shortly.

At present a fine lot of apples, grown in Craven county, are in storage, being kept for the coming fall.

Merchants of the city have often sustained large losses through fruit, nuts and other perishables decaying, when if a cold storage place had been available the goods might have been saved.

Not long ago eggs were selling at fifteen cents a dozen. Now they are worth double that. When eggs are plentiful, farmers could store them, avoiding a glut of the market and thereby saving the hen fruit for better prices.

Eggs are often sold in northern cities that have been in cold storage for years and it is said that the consumer does not object—if he does not know the age of the albuminous portion of his order of "ham and."

MAKE AUTO TRIP TO HENDERSON AND BACK

Mr. J. Y. Sawyer and party of friends spent Monday night here on their way back to Oriental after an automobile trip to Henderson. In the party besides Mr. Sawyer were Miss Alice Spruill, Mr. Cliff Spruill and Ralph Harris.

They left Oriental last Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock and came by New Bern on their way to the Northern part of the State, calling on the way up at Snow Hill, Wilson, Rocky Mount and Tarboro.

They reached Henderson at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Thursday they motored down to Louisburg and remained until Sunday. Sunday morning they went to Raleigh for the day and night, leaving there Monday morning at 11:30 o'clock and arriving here Monday night at 8:30 o'clock. Yesterday morning they left for Oriental.

They were traveling in Mr. Sawyer's Ford car and made the entire journey without the slightest mishap.

ANTI-TOXIN FOR MEASLES

Washington, Sept. 10.—With every hope for success, the scientists of the United States Hygienic Laboratory are now engaged in seeking an anti-toxin or preventive of measles, which annually claims a heavy toll among infants and children in the United States.

The research is based on the success of a recent experiment with monkeys conducted by Dr. John F. Anderson and Dr. Joseph Goldberg, by which the investigators for the first time in medical history actually inoculated a small colony of the animals with the disease. Taking this as a basis, the anti-toxin is to be developed, although the measles germ is so minute as to be undiscernible, even under the most powerful microscope.

The medical profession is watching the progress of the experiment with the greatest interest. With the exception of diphtheria and croup, measles is the most dangerous and deadly scourge to youth.

According to the Census Bureau figures, taken from the "registered area" in the United States, in which approximately half of the population lives, the number of deaths among children in 1910 from diphtheria and croup combined was 11,512, while measles exacted a toll of 6,598, of 12.3 lives in every 100,000 persons.

PROGRAM AT THE ATHENS TO-DAY

We will feature today one of the best pictures for a long time, entitled, "The Peculiar Puzzle," an original base-ball comedy in which over 300 editors and members of the National Press Association take part. Next is "Rock of Ages," a beautiful Vitagraph drama.

Then we have "Capt. Wilson's Reward," a splendid military drama.

Misses Rogers and Vera close their engagement with an tonight, changing their program.

At 10:30 o'clock, we will show a short story of "The Boy Who..."

START THE NEW YEAR SERVICES

Sermon This Evening at Jewish Synagogue by Dr. Merfeld

THEME, A RETROSPECT

Like All Jewish Holidays, Reckoned From Evening to Evening.

The initial service in New Bern in connection with the Jewish New Year or Rosh Hashanah will take place this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Synagogue. Rabbi H. A. Merfeld will preach a sermon on the subject, "Retrospection". Tomorrow morning at ten o'clock he will preach again, his subject then being, "The Message of the Day". A Sabbath service will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock and on that occasion the subject of the sermon will be "The Sabbath of Repentance".

The Jewish New Year, like all Jewish holidays, is reckoned from evening to evening. While owing to the variance between the solar and lunar systems of calculation, it may appear to occur irregularly, it is definitely set in the Jewish calendar as the first day of the seventh month, Tishri.

It is not known scripturally as the New Year. In scriptures it is termed the "Day of the Memorial of the Blowing of the Trumpet" (Leviticus XXIII-14) or simply, as the "Day of Blowing of the Trumpet" (Numbers XXIX-1).

The nature of the festival is what its name signifies, i. e., a marking of the passage of time and a memento of the uncertain tenure of human life. It does not commemorate any historical incident. Nor does it make its appeal to the racial consciousness of the Jews. Its appeal is entirely to the present and to the individual conscience. It is thoroughly universalistic and can be responded to by all religionists of whatever creed.

The day is observed seriously and solemnly. It emphasizes the sense of Divine guidance, and, at the same time, of human responsibility. The blowing of the trumpet, the Shofar or ram's horn, is the peculiar service of the day. It is the bugle-call of the Spirit, arousing the conscience in the contemplation of mispent hours and awakening the impulse to make the new, coming year more fruitful of noble and unselfish action.

COLORED CHURCH WORKERS CONFERENCE

An annual conference of colored workers of the Episcopal church of all parts of the country commenced last night at St. Cyprian's Episcopal church, colored, and will last through Friday. All of the delegates have not yet arrived, but when they all get here they will number between 125 and 150. Last year the conference was held in Orange, N. J.

Addresses of welcome were delivered last night by Rev. J. L. Taylor, rector of St. Cyprian's church, and by Rev. B. F. Huske, rector of the Christ Episcopal church. Responses to the addresses of welcome were made by Archdeacon H. B. Delaney, of Raleigh, president pro tem, and by Dr. George F. Bragg, of Baltimore. All of these speakers were colored, except Rev. Mr. Huske.

There will be morning, afternoon and evening exercises until the conference closes on Friday, that day being largely given over to the Women's Auxiliary of the conference.

REMARKABLE LAMENT

(Communicated.)

One of the laments of a near neighbor of Senator Simmons in Jones county is remarkable. This neighbor has three sets of triplets all whom are progressive young men, who thoroughly endorse their father's brand of Democracy but who are as yet unable to express their views through the ballot box. However they can and do yell lustily, "Hurray for Wilson, Simmons & Co."

Would that every North Carolinian endorsed these views, even if every father could not be as progressive as this neighbor to our staunch leader of American Democracy!

FLAVOR WATERMELONS IN WEST TO SUIT TASTE

Pedrickton, N. J., Sept. 10.—What flavor will you have your watermelon. This is the question that the modern farmer is likely to ask his city customer not many summers hence if a custom now prevailing in some parts of the west is put into practice by the eastern watermelon growers. According to the story told by Enoch G. Hogsta, a former Salem County boy, now dean of the law department of Indiana State University, who is visiting relatives in these parts, the artificial flavoring of melons has been tried with some success in the Hoosier State.

Rev. L. H. Hardy of Reidsville was in New Bern last night, returning from the regular appointment at Reidsville, Ga., where he is pastor.

MIRAGE LINED IN WESTERN SKY

Cathedrals With Towering Spires Seen by Train Passengers.

NO OPTICAL ILLUSION

Neither Was Strange Sight Result of James City Stimulation

Just after sunset last night, a beautiful mirage appeared in the western sky. A city, with skyscrapers and factories, smoke pouring from the chimneys—in fact, a sky line much like that of New York—and beyond, towering spires and clearly defined cathedrals, were to be plainly seen. To make the strange scene incongruous and more fantastic, but more like the genuine article in the mirage line, farther to the south, about over Pollocksville, there appeared mosques and minarets with spires, and oriental architecture—Oriental, N. C., is not here referred to—and an occasional palm.

That his imitation mirage was not an optical illusion, or the result of James City stimulation, can be proved by a number of passengers on the west-bound Norfolk Southern train last night.

One gentleman, who left the train at New Bern, after gazing in amazement at the vision for some minutes, exclaimed "Well, that must be the Holy City!"

The people who saw the strange sight probably all realized that a mirage was unknown in this country, and that they are not so very common even in the desert of Sahara and on the coasts of the Mediterranean sea, but this thing seemed to be something more than a cloud formation.

One gentleman suggested that perhaps the mists from Trent river were reflecting New Bern on the western sky. That might account for part of the spectacle, but not for the truly oriental architecture depicted.

STIEL TALK GANNON FOR HEAD OF N. S.

(Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch)

It is still confidently stated in financial and railway circles here and at New York that F. S. Gannon, formerly president of the Norfolk and Southern Railway Company, will become President and managing head of the re-organized Norfolk Southern Railway Company, succeeding E. T. Lamb, who resigned August 1st, to become operating head of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railway with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. Gannon, who retired from the old Norfolk and Southern when it passed into the hands of receivers in 1908, still has many warm friends with the road who will welcome his return to Norfolk. While here he was popular and his departure from Norfolk was generally regretted. Mr. Gannon will re-enter the Norfolk Southern service, if he comes, and this seems now quite certain, as the personal selection of Marsden J. Perry, of Providence and New York, who at this time, is reputed to own 50 per cent of the stock of the Norfolk Southern Railroad Company.

There have been New York interests in the Norfolk Southern to oppose the return of Mr. Gannon, but this opposition which was strong has, it is believed, been overcome and Mr. Gannon will probably be elected to the Norfolk Southern Presidency at the next meeting of the Board of Directors of the Company at New York.

Upon his return Mr. Gannon will in all likelihood, re-organize the operating department of the system. Since the departure of former President Lamb several of the official heads of the Norfolk Southern have also resigned and their places are now vacant. Traffic Manager B. L. Bugg has retired to accept service with the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railway. General Superintendent W. R. Hudson has also resigned and accepted service in like capacity with the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic. Pending the election of a new President of the Norfolk Southern the duties of the President are being performed most satisfactorily, by M. H. Hawkins, Assistant to the President.

The duties of the Traffic Manager have been united with those of General Passenger Agent W. W. Croxton, and the duties of the General Superintendent have been united with those of Superintendent of Transportation Duggan.

UNDER QUARANTINE FOR TEXAS FEVER

Craven is one of a number of counties in North Carolina that have been quarantined because of Texas fever. Under the conditions of the quarantine cattle can only be moved or allowed to be moved interstate to points outside the quarantined area in accordance with the regulations for immediate slaughter. Other counties in this section quarantined under the instructions of the Department of Agriculture are Jones, Wayne, Lenoir, Graham, and Johnston.
