

REV. J. W. HAM AT WILMINGTON
 Rev. J. W. Ham, of Atlanta, Ga., who recently paid a visit to this city and delivered several sermons at the Tabernacle Baptist Church, of which he was at one time pastor, is this week engaged in conducting a revival meeting at the Brooklyn Baptist Church, Wilmington, and the newspapers of that city say that he is drawing enormous crowds. In fact, there has barely been standing room on several occasions. Mrs. Ham is assisting in the meeting with her singing and the Wilmington Star speaks very highly of her ability.

HA, O JOHN, WHAT IS THE TROUBLE NOW?
 Why haven't you heard the latest? They brought old man economy down last night in an automobile and he is telling some strange stories. He was hung up on the fence for weeks watching the sheep feeding in the pastures, watching the wool grow, watching the shears clipping it off and went to the factory and watched every process until he was able to purchase the best line of foreign and domestic wools that has ever been his good fortune to do, and his correct fall fashions are now ready, prices lower than the lowest. He is again stopping with.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that on October 19th an examination of applicants for position of stenographer and typewriter in the government service will be held in New Bern, Norfolk, Elizabeth City, Raleigh and Wilmington. The examination will be open to both men and women over 18 years of age. Further information may be obtained upon application to the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at the postoffice in the places named.

Next Wednesday October 9th, has been set aside as Fire Prevention Day in North Carolina. Nothing means more than the enforcement of our fire laws and the education of the people in the prevention of fires. There is an annual loss of almost two million dollars in this State caused by fires that could have in many cases been prevented. On next Wednesday every property owner is asked to inspect his buildings and see that there are no defective flues or other sources of danger from fire.

Some one or chief yesterday relieved the following persons: Mr. G. C. West, who is Mr. J. W. Stewart's private secretary, of a new coat which he had just received from the tailor. Mr. West has a room in the

No Sick Headache, Bilious Stomach, or Constipated Bowels by morning.
 Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.
 Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.
 Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food that is making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out of the system all the consipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.
 A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

Workmen are now adding the finishing touches to the improvements being made at the Hazleton Hotel. This work has been in progress for several weeks and the entire interior of the building has been changed and every one of the rooms refurnished. Wagon repairs are completed there will be no more attractive hostelry in the State. Mr. Stewart has not yet leased the building, but there is every probability that it will be open in time to accommodate visitors to the Fair to be held here during the latter part of this month.

AN EXPLANATION.
 Editor of the Journal.
 As Judge Cline seems to think that my article in the Journal this morning may be construed as a criticism of his conduct in trial at this court, I wish to say that I intended to reflect in what ever on him, but that I regarded his decisions in the cases tried by him without a jury, as being fair and just. I very much regret that the Judge misunderstood the intent of my article and I hope that this explanation will set him right.
 Very truly,
 Inquirer.

Man has been attending horse races for thousands of years and will probably continue to do so centuries after the automobile shall have been succeeded by the airplane or some other means of locomotion. The horseless age will never appear if its coming be dependent upon the automobile or any other inanimate thing to supplant the horse in the affections of the people. The beauty of his limbs, his arched neck and quivering nostrils, his haughty movements, all appeal to the eye today even as they did thousands of years ago. Men with sufficient funds to gratify their desires will continue to pay fabulous prices for horses until the end of time. That men love horses is evidenced by the interest shown in the lithographs gotten out to advertise New Bern's great fair, which prominently feature the equine steed.

What New Bern needs as much as anything else is street signs. Then, to make a complete job, and render it possible for a stranger to find anyone in the town without securing the services of a guide, the houses should be numbered. As it is at present, one has no idea of the location of a building by its number, and when the house is finally located, it is ten chances out of ten that the house is not numbered. A stranger might hunt for a certain number on a certain street, all night, and be an unfortunate did recently rain for about an hour, and then arrive at his destination. Hope that the fact, however, that the number of aldermen have advertised signs for these much-needed street signs, and perhaps before long people will begin to number their residences.

Perhaps no class of people, aside from newspaper men, meet with so much or so severe criticism as school teachers. Much of this criticism is unjust and exists solely because parents and others listen to unverified reports and do nothing to acquaint themselves with the real inner workings of the school system. Any person fairly well acquainted with children knows that these reports, even when absolutely truthful from the children's point of view, are not to be implicitly relied upon. Any one who has had the training of children has had the mortifying experience of discovering that even the best of children sometimes lapse from good manners when away from home and among other children. Some mothers will not tolerate any correction of their children's manners from the teacher, being it as a reflection upon their own training, when it is really but the result of childish heedlessness or self will. No greater injury can be done a teacher than to condemn her at home in the presence of pupils. Too many people persist in believing that a "school maver" is always to be regarded with suspicion.

CAROLINA AND THE SOUTHERN CROSS.
 Carolina and the Southern Cross is the name of a magazine dated from Kinston, but just from the press of the Printing Company. Mrs. L. V. is the editor. This is a periodical devoted to history, not hatred. It is dedicated to the people who always have time for history but never time for religion. The magazine has an age from First to the history of our country. The magazine is recorded: Mr. G. C. West, who is Mr. J. W. Stewart's private secretary, of a new coat which he had just received from the tailor. Mr. West has a room in the
