MESSAGE SENT BY MOUNTAIN

It is not your highest mountain, al-ways, that is the fittest palace of a god; or that has most mountain sweetness or mountain dignity. One could mention some that have but a thousand feet of stature, physically speaking; and yet, it would be an in-sult to call them mere hills. There is no savage impatience with them; their breasts are dearer than a mother's. Time was when they towered above the clouds, and were proud Himalayas for immensity; when they were all soaring unapproachable crags; repellent; concerned only with the heavens. But men and mountains drew togeth er, and subtle ties of sympathy were formed. Ages upon ages passed over the peaks, smoothed the jagged rocks, rounded and calmed the brows, filled the chasms, and mantled all with

The mighty mother set heather to bloom there, for symbol of the soaring, purple dreams that are within; "He is noted for his constancy. His she strewed them with the gold of al Wisdom, though the stems of it be thorny and your fingers shall bleed be fore you pick them, has for bloom a yellow and most sunbright gladness. Purple dreamings of unsatisfied aspiration; golden delight of arcane, ever living truth; green wizardry of the ferns and rushes-it is these things that ray out from the mountains I love and extol. Yes, there are mines there; but they do not penetrate the mountains, except in the merest material sense. It is the gorse and the heather and the bracken, the foxglove and the bluebell, the music and murmur of hidden waters, that proclaim the inward being of the mountains. It is the lone, august, and tender thought, the peace that seeps into the mind there; the compassion that fills the world when night, a blue flower, unfolds her splendor eastward, and the roses and daffodils of the sunset wane in the west-by these one may know the god in the mountain, and not despair for the world. Or when the lark rises from the heather in the morning, it is a word of the mountain message that he is concerned to proclaim.-From the Theosophical

As to Biographies.

The announcement comes from London that a biograph of Mr. Lloyd George in four volumes is to be published this autumn. It is the latest manifestation of a curious modern tendency to give to the world blographies of people while they are still alive. A biography used to be regarded ac the crown, posthumously awarded as the crown, posthumously award to a great man gone past recall, and a record of his deeds for the benefit of succeeding generations. An old man, at the close of a long and interesting life, might beguile t'm inisured autumn of his days by inding his memoirs, and nothing is more fascinating reading than such an autobiograph well done. But the modern world is too impatient to will it is too impatient even to wait till it is quite certain that a man in the populPains All Over!

"You are welcome," says Mrs. Nora Guiley, of Broken Arrow, Okla., "to use my letter in any way you want to, If it will induce some suffering woman to try Cardul. I had pains all over, and suffered with an abscess. Three physicians failed to relieve me. Since taking Cardui, I am in better health than ever before, and that means much to me, because I suffered many years with womanly troubles, of different kinds. What other treatments I tried, helped me for a few days only."

Woman's Tonic

Don't wait, until you are taken down sick, before taking care of yourself. The small aches and pains, and other symptoms of womanly weakness and disease, always mean worse to follow, unless given quick treatment,

You would always keep Cardui handy, if you knew what quick and permanent relief it gives, where weakness and disease of the womanly system makes life seem hard to bear. Cardul has helped over a million women. Try it.

far eye really deserves a biography at all. We remember, a few years ago, glancing at an "authorized" life and appreciation of Mr. G. K. Chesterton, gushers fail to group. and it seemed a foolish thing to publish the biograph of a writer of thirtyfive. It seems also a foolish thing to publish the biography of a statesman Burrill Casey and Leona Casey of forty-nine. We say this in no disparagement of Mr. Lloyd George, although the four volumes that are to be devoted to him at least suggest comparison with the three volumes long life of W. E. Gladstone,

Some Words You Don't Know.

What is the use of coining slang words to express your meaning in a more picturesque fashion than your of words just as queer and far more correct. Here are a few perfectly good words to be found in any complete dictionary of the English language. But don't you go to the dictionary for them-yet. See first if you can figure out their meaning. Then, when you have looked them up, spring them on the next fellow. He will either brand you as a highbrow or else admire you as the inventor of a new language, though you are neither. Here are the words:

Opuscule, tobacconing, noddy, node, futtock, galimatias, fadie, duvet, dziggetail, dwale, periotic, predicant, younker, quintal, propense, quib, beck et, chauvinism, beluga, gar, hypostyle aoudad, incondite, inly, kelp, jorum, rundlet, rupertrine, caddis, fissle, calcar, flinder, hopple, horary, thorp, usitative, woof, arcolith, gaum.

All of them in the diction. Almost none of them jawbreakers or over long. What do any of them mean?

APPLICATION FOR PARDON

Application will be made to the Governor of North Carolina for the pardon of Burrill Casey and Leona Casey con victed at the October term, 1911 of in which Lord Morley managed to the Superior Court of Craven County compress what was most vital in the of the crime of murder in the second degree and sentenced to the Penitentary for a term of ten years

The defendants claim the right to nardon for the following reasons:

If they were guilty of the crime charged, that is murder by poisoning neighbor when the dictionary is full they should have been sent to the electric chair, but the solicitor for the State and the Private Prosecutor asked the Judge for verdict for murder in the second degree and not guilty in the first degree:

Upon this the jury found verdict of guilty of murder in second degree and recommended the mercy of the Court: Upon this verdict the Judge of the Court pronounced a sentence for imprisonment in the Penitentiary for ter years while he might have made it

All this shows the prosecuting attorneys, the Judge and the Jury did not believe that the defendant were guilty of the crime of which they were charged.

The petitioners claim their pardon each of them each for himself on the ground of absolute innocence.
