AN EYE FOR BUSINESS.

The Way Biennial "Put One Over" on Publisher Colburn.

When the Hon. Mr. Ward wrote his novel "Tremaine" he was fearful of acknowledging himself the author until his fate should have been ascertained. He accordingly, the better to preserve his incognito, sent the manuscript copy by the wife of his attorney to Mr. Colburn. The work, although accepted, was not considered likely to pay extremely well, and consequently a trifling sum was given for it. Contrary, however, to Mr. Colburn's expectations, it ran to three editions.

The ingenious author of "Vivian Grey," then twenty-two years old, having heard of the circumstances, determined to use it to advantage, and accordingly having arranged his work for publication, he proceeded to find out the honorable gentleman's full messenger. This he quickly effected and upon a promise of giving her £20 induced her to be the bearer of his novel to the same publisher.

The woman was instantly recognized by Mr. Colburn as the same person who brought him "Tremaine," and, recollecting the great sale of that novel, he leaped at the manuscript presented to him with the utmost eagerness. It was quickly read and a handsome sum given for the copyright. A short time, however, enabled Mr. Colburn to find out his error, but too late to remedy himself. The work was not successful, and a considerable sum was lost by its publication.

TRAPPING AN ERMINE.

One of the Reasons Why the Prized Fur Is So Costly.

"This stole of imperial ermine is worth $1,000," said the dealer. "Dear? Nix. Just consider how the animals comprised in it were caught!"

"In the first place, they were caught in a winter of extreme cold, for it is only in such a winter that the weasel, or ermine, turns from tawny to snow white. In normal winters the ermine only turns to a greenish white, like this $400 greenish white stole here."

"In the second place, the ermines were caught young, for when fully developed their coats are coarse and stiff, as in this $250 stole, and to catch them young the tongue trap must be used. Any other trap would tear the delicate fur."

"The tongue trap is a knife, an ordinary hunting knife, smeared with grease, that the hunter lays in the snow. The little ermine sees the blade, which it mistakes for ice. Ice it loves to lick, and so it licks the knife blade and is caught fast, its tongue, in that rare weather, frozen to the steel."

"Yes, sir, when you see a stole like this don't begrudge a good price for it, for every ermine in it was tongue trapped in subzero weather—a mighty slow and painful hand process."—New York Tribune.

Butterflies That Live on Fish.

The butterfly was blue and transparent. As through blue glass its tiny heart could be seen beating inside its body, and the professor read a newspaper article through its lovely blue wings. "This," he said, "is the pieropoda, a Mediterranean butterfly. It eats fish. On its tongue are rows of pointed hooks. They serve as teeth. This beautiful creature would turn up its nose at a garden of roses and lilies, but it would feast ecstatically upon a putrid eel. Now and then a pieropoda is found on the Florida or the California coast. It is only abundant, though, in the Mediterranean."

TASTE, SMELL AND HEARING RESTORED

A Simple, Harmless Remedy Quickly Relieves Catarrhal Deafness.

The thousands who suffer the miseries of colds and catarrhs and claim they have never found a cure can get instant relief by simply anointing the nostrils with Ely's Cream Balm.

Unlike internal medicines which upset the stomach, or strong snuffs which only aggravate the trouble, this cleansing, cooling, and soothing balm instantly reaches the seat of the trouble, stops the nasty discharge, clears the nose, head and throat, and brings back the sense of taste, smell and improves the hearing. More than this, it strengthens the weakened and diseased tissues, thus protecting you against a return of the trouble. This remedy will cure a cold in a day, and prevent its becoming chronic or resulting in catarrh.

Nasal catarrh is an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and cannot be reached by mixtures taken into the stomach, nor can it be cured by snuffs and powders which only cause additional irritation. Don't waste time on them. Get a 50-cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and after using it for a day you will wish you had tried it sooner.

Mothers should give the children Ely's Cream Balm for colds and croup. It is perfectly harmless, and pleasant to take.

Stubborn Case

BAPTIST LAYMEN

WILL HOLD GREAT CONVENTION IN CHATTANOOGA, FEBRUARY 4, 5 AND 6, 1913.

Representatives of 2,500,000 Southern Baptists to Hold First Great Mission Convention in South.

Anticipating an epoch-making period of three months, praying for success in so great an undertaking, many will be glad to see the great laymen all over the south, representing a brotherhood of 2,500,000 in one of the most favored sections of the south, are preparing to move on to Chattanooga, Tenn., for the great convention to be held in the city February 4, 5 and 6, 1913. The city has a capacity of 4,500 and will be especially fitted up with all conveniences for the occasion.

Ready to Welcome Visitors.

Chattanooga stands ready to welcome the visitors and the denomination is expecting. From all over the territory embraced by the Southern Baptist convention the hosts will journey to the East Tennessee metropolis to be present on the dates mentioned in order that they may join in what bids fair to be not only the greatest religious gathering of the winter, but one of the greatest in history. The promoters of the plans for the convention anticipate an attendance of 2,000 laymen and 1,000 ministers and they see no reason, realizing the strength of the Southern Baptist constituency, why there should not be 3,000 delegates present in all, to join in so great an occasion.

Chattanooga Baptists pursued an aggressive policy to secure this convention, which will be the first of its kind ever held by Southern Baptists. No efforts were spared in the campaign to secure it. Not only the Baptists but also representatives of other Christian bodies, as well as civic officials, joined in the effort. For days the meeting place of the convention was undecided upon, as other cities offered such flattering inducements, but finally the word was given out that Chattanooga had been selected and immediately all concerned got busy making preliminary preparations.

The president of the Southern Baptist laymen's movement is Dr. J. Harry Tyler, of Baltimore, Md., and the secretary is Dr. J. T. Henderson, of Bristol, Tennessee-Virginia. Both of these gentlemen visited Chattanooga and other contesting cities, and at Chattanooga, the place finally selected, they were guests of the Baptist pastors' conference, while they were looked out after by the wide-awake manager of the Hotel Patten, one of the largest in the south. Houston R. Harper, a Baptist, who was active in the campaign for the securing of the convention for Chattanooga.

After Chattanooga had been chosen then there began an active campaign throughout the south to organize the lay forces and impress upon them the importance of the convention and what it will mean to the denomination.

An Ideal Location for a Convention.

No better place than Chattanooga could have been chosen for the convention. When the laymen first met they held their convention at that city, but while they were in session a storm of protest was raised against the city chosen. The city of Chattanooga, however, was a comparatively new city and a few days of the storm had not done much to its growth and it was not so well equipped as Chattanooga. It was chosen as the most favorable place for the location of their destination.

A systematic campaign of the winter which is being made in Chattanooga is being made. In the first place, the convention will be held in the city of Chattanooga, Tenn., on the dates mentioned above. It is a city of 45,000 people and is one of the most favored sections of the south and will be especially fitted up with all conveniences for the occasion.

The fact that the convention will be the first of its kind ever held by the Baptists gives importance to it. Keeps interest is manifested as to the outcome.

Delegates Are Organizing.

In many southern centers the laymen have organized and the pastors have pledged their hearty cooperation toward securing large delegations to go to Chattanooga. During the day and night preceding the opening of the convention there will roll into Chattanooga special trains from all parts of the south and special care bearing delegates. For the time being Chattanooga will be the meet of all Southern Baptists and those who can not attend the convention will be much in prayer as to its success.

When Chattanooga entertained the Southern Methodist laymen, success was the result, and as soon as it was announced that the Southern Baptist laymen anticipated holding a similar convention there, immediately the hearts and the pocketbooks of public-spirited citizens were opened and the word, "Come," was passed out.

Chattanooga is the headquarters for preparation activities. A committee list of committees has been named and the secretary of the combined forces is the Rev. E. B. George, Superintendent of Baptist Missions in Chattanooga, who is successfully executing his duties as executive secretary of the laymen and looking forward to a successful result.

It is felt that if every Baptist will do his duty success is certain.

Gen. Ballington Booth, the well-known head of the Volunteers of America, while in Chattanooga recently, expressed it as his opinion that the Baptists were the most progressive denomination in America to-day. That spirit will be put to the test. Will it stand?

OBJECT OF CONVENTION

The object of the convention is to educate and inspire Baptist laymen for longer service in God's Kingdom. No collections. A registration fee of $1.00 will be charged all delegates and should be sent at once that reservations can be made. The fee goes to defray the necessary expense of the convention. All the interests of the denomination shall receive attention.
