THERE'S MYSTERY IN FOUR DEATHS

MAN, WIFE AND DAUGHTER BURNED IN HOME—NEIGHBOR DEAD

Glassboro, N. J., March 24.—Lying in the cellar of their ruined home, the bodies of Lee Wharton, 38 years old; his wife, Mary, 32, and their six-year old daughter, Lillian, were discovered following a mysterious fire early today, which destroyed the little farm house about ten miles from here. The body of John Hemphill, 45 years old, on a neighboring farm, was found in a shed behind the house with a load of shot through his heart.

Mystery surrounds the four deaths. What occurred up to the time Hemphill was shot, how he was shot and the house set fire are details which Coroner Stultz today vainly endeavored to ascertain.

A double-barreled shotgun, with one empty shell, was found near the body of Hemphill. According to neighbors Hemphill and Mrs. Wharton attended a moving picture show in Williamstown together Saturday night. Whether this led to a fight in which Hemphill was shot, or Hemphill killed himself after a quarrel, has not been determined.

An incubator which stood in the kitchen of the home may have been responsible for the fire. The bodies of the victims were so badly burned that it was impossible to determine whether they had been shot.

The theory that there was a scuffle in the kitchen is borne out by the positions in which the bodies were found. Hemphill's body was on the side of the shed where it is believed he was shot. Wharton is supposed to have been stunned by the explosion and staggered into his home. His body was found in that part of the cellar nearest the shed covered with debris from both floors. The bodies of the mother and child were in the other end of the cellar tangled in a wire mattress. That they had been locked in their room is believed from the fact that every lock found in the ruins had been locked and all bolts drawn.

Wharton was a carpenter who formerly lived in Yardley, Pa., across the Delaware river from Trenton, N. J. He purchased the little farm here four years ago from Hemphill who then became manager for an adjoining farm.

Miss Bessie Bramer, a school teacher who boarded with the Whartons spent last night at Williamstown with friends. She declared tonight that she had never noticed any familiarity between Hemphill and Mrs. Wharton.

No, Cordelia, an ossified man isn't necessarily hard to get acquainted with. There have been enviable reputations due to what other people don't know.

An open confession may be good for the soul, but it's apt to disfigure a reputation.

CHARGED WITH STEALING FROM FREIGHT CARS

Isaac Hatch, colored, was placed under arrest yesterday afternoon by one of the Norfolk Southern Railway Company's plain clothes men on a warrant charging him with assisting in breaking open a box car and stealing several gallons of whiskey. The alleged offence occurred several months ago and two of the men who broke open the car were captured at that time and their case taken to Superior Court. Hatch was placed in jail until a preliminary hearing can be held.
