SMALL CYCLONE VISITS PAMLICO

Considerable Damage Caused by High Winds in An Adjoining County.

LARGE DWELLING DEMOLISHED

Intense Excitement Prevailed Among the Citizens of That Section.

Passengers arriving in the city yesterday afternoon from Oriental told of a storm of almost cyclonic intensity which visited a section of Pamlico county shortly afternoon, and which left destruction in its wake.

During the early part of the day a high wind prevailed and this was augmented by rain. Shortly after 1 o'clock the sky suddenly became darkened and the wind increased in velocity until it was blowing a perfect gale and small objects which were not securely fastened down were hurled through the air with great force.

At Ashwood, five miles from Oriental a handsome dwelling owned by F. A. Whorton and which had just been erected was totally demolished. The contractors had only a few days ago turned the completed building over to its owner and he was preparing to occupy it within a few days.

Fences were blown down, trees uprooted, chimneys broken from their foundations and much other damage was done. All along the railroad for a distance of twelve or fifteen miles from Oriental there was evidence of the high wind which had visited that section. Inquiries were made at the different stations but so far as was learned no one was injured during the storm but the citizens were very much frightened.
