This is the second time that such a dispensary has been conducted in Craven county and on the former occasion several thousand persons were treated and were greatly benefited. Not only will the dispensaries be open to those who wish to be examined and receive treatment but Dr. Leonard desires that every citizen of the county who is interested in this work visit the dispensaries at any time and make an inspection of the work.

WILL CONSTRUCT SEA WALL.

Call For Bids For Work at Beaufort Soon to Be Issued.

Says the Beaufort News of April 25: "Harry T. Patterson informed The News last week that the report on the Cape Lookout harbor of refuge project would probably be sent into the general board at Washington City in about ten days. He thinks that the call for bids for the construction of the great sea wall will be issued in about six weeks or two months. The successful bidder will be given from six to eight months in which to begin the work. It begins to look as though it will be another ten or twelve months before actual construction work will be started on the breakwater. However in the interim Carteret county is likely to see great activity in railroad building. It is expected that the Norfolk Southern will start on its extension to the cape immediately after the contract is let out for the construction of the sea wall, and Dame Rumor persists in reciting the story that the Norfolk & Western is very much interested in the Durham & Southern's extension coastward."

YOUNG MAN HAS NARROW ESCAPE

FALLS DISTANCE OF FORTY FEET BUT IS NOT SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Falling from a roof forty feet high and striking another roof in his descent and yet not being seriously injured was the experience of P. L. Gautier, a young man employed at a tinner by All-n Brother, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Gautier has been engaged in placing a tin roof on a residence, on Queen street which is being remodelled for the past few days and yesterday afternoon had reached a point where it was necessary for him to work near the edge of the roof. Placing his material at a convenient point the young man fastened his ladder, as he thought in such a manner that it would not slip. However, the ladder was not securely fastened and when the young man was near the top it slowly began to slip.

Realizing that it would be impossible for him to hold the ladder in position and knowing that to jump from such a height would be folly Mr. Gautier held to the ladder and was carried downward with it to the roof of the porch which projected about twenty feet below. Here he was knocked from the ladder and rolled to the ground. Those who witnessed the accident felt sure that the young man would be seriously injured but to their surprise he slowly arose from the ground and brushed the dirt from his clothing.

Mr. Gautier received a number of scratches and bruises but no bones were broken.

LOCAL BASEBALL TEAM WINS GAME

DEFEATS ELIZABETH CITY AGGREGATION BY A SCORE OF 14 TO 9.

After having suffered defeat at the hands of the Washington High School baseball team on the previous day, the New Bern High School team overwhelmingly defeated the Elizabeth City baseball team yesterday afternoon on their own diamond by a score of 14 to 9.

This was the second time that the Elizabeth City boys have lost to the locals, the former game being played several weeks ago in this city at Ghent Park. The New Bern team was badly handicapped on this tour by the absence of two players who filled important positions and their defeat at Washington on the previous day is attributed to this.

There was much interest manifested in the game yesterday and the result was awaited with interest by many eager fans and the news of victory was received with many hurrahs. The local team left Elizabeth City on the night train returning home.

While a young man may admire a bit of a girl he should remember that kittens grow up.

After a epistole has married she may discover that she merely drew a consolation prize.

CLAIM CHARGES ARE GROUNDLESS

Fish Dealers Deny That There Is a Trust Here Controlling Eel Bait.

"NO TRUTH IN STATEMENT"

Dealer Cites Instance Where Man Has Been Coming Here For Years to Trap Eels.

George N. Ives, A. L. Willis and Tolson & Smith, local fish dealers, have sent the Journal a signed statement to the effect that there is no trust in the charge of Ernest H. Lueders that there is a fish trust here or that his representative is not allowed to buy herring for eel bait.

O. R. Hawkins of Hyde county called at the Journal office yesterday afternoon and added his testimony to that of the fish dealers who sent the signed statement. He said that there was one town in this section where there was a fish trust, but every thing was wide open here. He said he had been in the eel trapping business in these waters for three seasons and had never had any difficulty in buying herring for baiting his traps.

The statement of the fish men is: "We notice in your issue of this morning that a party named Ernest Lueders of New York, claims that he wants to start an eel industry in this city, but that he is prevented from doing so because there is a fish trust that controls the herring needed for bait, etc.

"Now, we have never before heard of such a party, but if he had taken the trouble to have called on either of the undersigned, instead of getting his information from a colored fisherman, he could have obtained a better knowledge of the conditions in our market.

"There is absolutely no truth whatever in his statement that there is a fish trust in this city. Anyone who wishes fish can obtain them in the open market here. The citizens have never been debarred the privilege of buying fish directly from the fishermen and a half dozen or more colored hucksters get their supply of fish in the open market here."

WANTS TO FORM ASSOCIATION

Tarboro Man In City Yesterday To Explain New Plan.

E. B. Wilcox, secretary of the Tarboro Fair, was among the visitors in the city yesterday. The object of Mr. Wilcox's visit to New Bern was to confer with J. Leon Williams, secretary of the East Carolina Fair Association Company in regard to the proposed formation of an organization composed of the secretaries of the Fairs in Eastern North Carolina. Nothing definite has been decided upon in this matter up to the present time but Mr. Wilcox's plan materialize later on.

The parcel post business of New Bern merchants is constantly increasing. A. Castel, who has been regularly advertising his meats in the Journal, added three new parcel post customers yesterday, and now ones are coming in every day.

ROLLER SKATES CLAIM A VICTIM

Ellis Meekins Dies As Result Of Injuries Received Last Sunday Night.

BROKE HIP AND THREE RIBS

Congestion Of the Brain Set In And Death Occurred Short Time Later.

The roller skate claimed its first victim in this city yesterday morning at 7:40 o'clock when Ellis Meekins, the seventeen year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Meekins died at his home, No. 3 1-2 New South Front street, from the effects of injuries received when he fell while skating on Pollock street last Sunday night.

On the night of the accident young Meekins and several other boys and girls were roller skating on the sidewalk in front of C. J. McSorley's new home on Pollock street. Meekins had made several trips up and down the sidewalk without mishap and had not the least idea that there was any obstruction on the walk but some one had placed a small strip of wood across this and when his skates struck it he was thrown violently to the pavement. The young man fell on his left side and his left hip was broken and three ribs were mashed in.

Immediately after the accident occurred he was taken to his home and Doctors R. S. Primrose and R. DuVal Jones were summoned to give him medical attention. It was at first thought that his injuries were not serious but Thursday afternoon congestion of the brain set in and from that time on until death occurred there was not the least hope for his recovery.

Young Meekins was employed with the Texas Oil Company and was an industrious young man, was liked by all who knew him. The funeral service will be conducted from the residence this afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. B. F. Huske and the interment will be made in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Mrs. G. T. Farnell of Bayboro passed through the city yesterday enroute to Norfolk for a short visit.

Two full reels of

"The Mexican Spy"

Tom, son of Colonel Loring, is a handsome, but dissipated youth, easily influenced to moral transgressions. Mary Lee, the paymaster's daughter, loves Tom despite his failings, and tries desperately though vainly to reform him. Senor Luis Rivera, polished and apparently wealthy (in reality a spy) becomes intimate with Tom, who, to keep up his end and pay his gambling losses to Rivera, steals $5,000 from the paymaster's safe.

Rivera threatens to expose Tom's theft unless he steals for him the plans of forts in the Southwest, proposing to give back the money, which Tom may replace in the safe, if he does so. Tom cannot resist the temptation and secures the plans from his father's office, but before he has delivered the drawings to Rivera, Mary learns of the situation and by pawning her jewels and using a little legacy, raises enough money to replace that stolen. She then forces Tom to defy Rivera, and replace the plans. No one suspects Tom, but he realizes that he is breaking the hearts of his father and the girl, and swears that he will prove worthy of their love. Rivera has gone away.

Tom disappears, and under an assumed name enlists in the army. Leaving a note for Mary in which he tells her that she will not see him again until he has redeemed his shameful past. Shortly afterward the regiment

M'ADOO SMASHES BANK PIPE LINE

Fires Out, Bag and Baggage, Treasury Agent of the National City Bank.

TO-TREAT ALL BANKS ALIKE

None of Them Shall Have Any Advantage Of Rest If Secretary Has His Way.

Washington, April 25.—For more than eight years the National City Bank of New York has had a paid agent quartered in the Treasury Department who has obtained confidential news relative to other national banks. This agent, Miss Lotta Taylor, has been put out bag and baggage by Secretary McAdoo.

The discovery resulted from suggestions made to Secretary McAdoo a few weeks ago that certain national banks had a "pipe line" to the Treasury. Mr. McAdoo made an investigation and the "busting" of the "pipe line" followed.

In the Treasury statement issued on the matter Mr. McAdoo said:

"As a result of an investigation, it develops that the National City Bank of New York, acting through Mr. Alles, Vice-President of the Riggs National Bank of Washington, has employed a clerk outside of the Department who has been given a desk in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency, and who has, for the past eight or ten years made regular reports to the National City Bank on the condition of each national bank in the country promptly following every call of the Comptroller of the Currency."

Discussing the matter further the Secretary said:

"This, of course, is irregular and improper, and immediately upon its discovery, it was stopped. It is only fair to say that the banks claim that the information so obtained is only such as in due course is made public by the individual banks or the department. But the method employed, of installing a private employee with a desk in the Treasury Department, gives the bank so favored an undue advantage in the way of advance information over all other banks in the country."

"At the same time it tends to establish intimate relationships with the employees of the Government and the acquirement of information of a confidential nature that ought not to be given to private individuals or corporations, and which, if given at all should be published to the entire country."

to which Tom has been attached is ordered, to the southwestern border, on account of difficulty arising with the Republic of Mexico. In the meantime Mary has applied for and received an appointment as a Red Cross Nurse, and is herself sent to the border.

One day after her arrival she is sent by the Surgeon in charge to a point some distance away from the hospital and is greatly surprised to find the soldier assigned to drive the wagon furnished for her transportation, none other than Tom. The young folks are overjoyed to see one another again. Tom takes his seat with Mary and the escort inside and the journey starts.

Rivera with his troop learns of the trip, seizes an opportunity to secure revenge, and at the same time deal a blow at the hated Americans. He starts in pursuit of the little party. A running fight follows, and Mary and Tom are the only ones left alive on the wagon. Tom starts the wagon and hastily mounting Mary on one of the mules sends her in search of aid, while he undertakes to hold back the attacking Mexicans. Upon Mary's return with a troop of cavalry, they find Tom lying wounded. Tom is taken to the hospital and with Mary's careful nursing is restored to health. Later Tom is made Lieutenant, and secures Mary's hand.

"The Mexican Spy" is a two reel subject, by Lubin—a thrilling melodrama full of action and heart interest.
