JUVENILE HEROISM.

The Brave Mexican Cadet of the Defense of Chapultepec.

Many incidents in the Mexican war are still recounted to fire the hearts of Mexicans. One of those occurred during the defense of Chapultepec, a defense that was as gallant as was the attack. In this attack forty-eight Mexican cadets, among others, lost their lives. The story is a stirring one.

For many years the celebrated castle of Chapultepec, where Montezuma held his barbaric court in the surrounding groves of cypresses, where during nearly three centuries lived the successive viceroys of Spain and where Maximilian made his Imperial home, has been the West Point of Mexico.

When General Scott had taken the place by storm and General Bravo had surrendered, a Mexican cadet only fifteen years of age, seeing the flag of his country in peril, most of his comrades being already slain, climbed the flag-staff, tore the banner from its place, wound it around his body and slid down, intending to plunge over the precipice in order to save the colors from falling into the hands of the enemy.

That act of heroism being frustrated, the brave boy, with the banner still wrapped around him, fought until he was cut in pieces. Forty-eight of these schoolboys, ranging in age from fourteen to twenty years, lie buried in one grave at the foot of the hill. Year by year the cadets of Chapultepec strew flowers upon this sepulcher.—Harper's Weekly.

EARLY WORLD RECORDS.

Fossil Animals and Plants Constitute the Geologist's Key.

The work of the United States geological survey in paleontology—the study of fossil remains of animals and plants that lived ages ago—has a distinct bearing on some of the very practical economic problems of today.

The descriptive paleontologic reports are often treated as "pure science," yet instructive, striking or tedious as may be these delineations of the groups of animal or plant life which lived on the globe in some particular epoch there is not one of these papers describing the fauna or flora of a formation that does not prove sooner or later to possess practical value and to be essential to geology in its constantly increasing refinement of study and results.

Without paleontology the geologic classification of formations, their correlation and the determination of their mutual relations would be impossible. In fact, real and symmetrical progress in geology is impossible without corresponding interrelated development and refinement of its handmaid paleontology. The study of the economic geology of any region of complicated structure is blind and inconsequent unless the time relations of the strata concerned are known. These relations are indicated by the fossils which the strata contain.—Annual Report Director United States Geological Survey.

Cornish Place Names.

Cornish place names are remarkable for the number of obscure Celtic saints they commemorate, such as St. Tody, St. Cuby, St. Ury, St. Enodoc, St. Brice and St. Finbarrow.

A story is told of a Cornish candidate for ordination who, when asked by the examining chaplain where he was born, replied, "At St. Eval," giving the local pronunciation, "Sandeval." "Good heavens!" exclaimed the chaplain, "I know they have some strange saints in Cornwall, but I should never have imagined they would canonize him!"

There are three other Cornish villages whose names it would be hard to match for singularity—Brumbla, London Apprentice and Drunkards All—London Globe.

Wasted Time.

"Well, what did you do when the problem came up?"
"Wasted time. Went out and asked the advice of seventeen friends."
"What did you get?"
"Seventeen different solutions."
"And then?"
"Then I took the advice of an eighteenth friend and won out."
"And who was your eighteenth friend?"
"Myself."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Canadian Boundary.

The boundary between British and republican America is unmarked by anything in the nature of a wall or a fence. In traveling from Montreal to New York the train suddenly slows down and stops in the midst of green fields. It is then boarded by United States revenue officers, who want to know whether you have "anything to declare." That is how you know that you have reached the international boundary line.—London Chronicle.

Broken.

"Blinks has broken his engagement with Miss Hanson, he says."
"Why did he break it?"
"She decided she wouldn't marry him, and he said he wouldn't be engaged to any girl who wouldn't marry him."—New York Mail.
