NO. 12.

LOCAL NEWS.

Forty-two bales of cotton sold yesterday.

Over one hundred hands are now employed at the plate factory.

The market was well supplied on yesterday with fresh meats, stall fed beef, etc.

One case of assault and battery before Esq. Brinson yesterday. Fine $1.50 and cost.

The Rev. Geo. W. Shinn, of Newton, Mass., will preach at Christ church Sunday morning.

New Berne is quite a good market for eggs. A single boat brings in sometimes over five hundred dozen.

The Newbernian gives Hon. A. M. Waddell a good send off in designating him as his choice as Congressman at large.

Some very fine oysters at the market dock yesterday, measuring over ten inches in length—the hull—and four inches broad on the inside.

Judge Seymour holds U. S. District court next week at Elizabeth City; on the next week, April 24th, at New Berne and on the week after at Wilmington.

On account of the meeting of the nominating Ward conventions in the city on Monday night, Miss Bigbie will postpone her Reading, until Tuesday night.

The steamer Neuse left on her regular trip to Kinston yesterday. We noticed a large quantity of oyster shells aboard for John Tull, Esq., a large farmer near Kinston.

From parties in the city yesterday from Pamlico, we learn that W. T. Cahoon, Esq., of Stonewall, was married on the 12th instant to Miss Appie Riddick, of Beaufort county.

We are requested to announce that the name of C. E. Foy will be presented to the primary meeting of the second ward for the nomination for Councilman for the ensuing year.

We are requested to announce that the name of T. A. Green will be presented to the primary meeting of the first Ward on Monday night for the nomination for Councilmen for the ensuing year.

The steamer New Berne carried out yesterday a good cargo of cotton and naval stores, thirteen hundred and thirty-four boxes of peas and three hundred and fifty eight packages of fish, potatoes and eggs.

Mr. Thomas Rodman, a truck farmer near this place, shipped six boxes of garden peas from his farm on the 30th of March, and there will be over a thousand boxes shipped this week.

The first peas were shipped last year on the 30th of April. By this it will be seen that we are nearly four weeks in advance of last year.—New Berne Free Will Baptist.

"A live cat in a bag" was received at this office from LaGrange on "April fools" day. We suppose it was intended to fool our "devil." We learn also a similar present was received by Capt. Richardson of the Midland Road. Fortunately the genial Captain is not a "cursing man," or else the cat fur would have darkened the atmosphere when he opened the bag expecting to find a fat turkey or perhaps a live pig, and beheld a Tom Cat. Better not say cat to Capt. John for some weeks to come.—Messenger.

Large Shipment.
In the cargo taken out by the Experiment yesterday were two hundred and fifty thousand wooden plates and three hundred boxes of canned oysters. The plate factory has a standing order for twelve years to furnish one hundred thousand per day. To meet this demand new machinery will soon be added.

Pine Straw.
Mr. Mallett of the Clare Fibre Mfg. Co. has just returned from New York where he has completed arrangements and will resume on Monday next the manipulation of pine straw at his place at Riverdale. He has orders ahead for six months and will push the business vigorously.

Personal.
Dr. Jno. T. Walsh of Kinston, was in our sanctum yesterday. He preaches at Kitt Swamp on the north side of Neuse river to-morrow, and will preach in Temperance Hall, this city, to-morrow night at the usual hour. Dr. Walsh is the author of several able theological works, the last is, "Looking Down the Ages." It has received the warmest reception from the press and biblical critics.

Mrs. Dr. J. P. Bryan, and daughter, Miss Laura, of Kinston, were in the city yesterday.

Marine News.

Arrived—steamer "Tiger Lily," Oaksmith, commander, from Richmond, conveyed to Midland N. C. Railway Co.

Freights at the Midland Depot.
At the railroad warehouse on Friday were the following consignees:
F. Ulrich, Maxwell & Crabtree, J. W. Biddle, Wm. Cleve and J. L. Rhem.

The Peanut Trade.
The price of peanuts, as quoted in the Star of the 13th, in Wilmington is $1.45 to $1.55 for extra prime, while in New Berne they are in demand at $1.50 to $1.75. This crop is relied upon by many of our Onslow farmers as a money crop, and it is a trade that New Berne would do well to seek. With the shipping facilities we now have, there should be a demand for more than enough for mere local consumption.

Marriage in High Life.
Mr. Leinster Duffy's handsome young clerk, Amos Henry Esq., took unto himself a better half last night in the person of Miss Mahela Boyd of James City. Rev. S. B. Hunter united the contracting parties.

The JOURNAL special Reporter attended, and had the pleasure of sampling some of Mr. Windley's fine 14 year old wine. He wishes the happy couple many years of unalloyed happiness.

The Tiger Lily.
This handsome and commodious steamer formerly belonging to the "Richmond, Smithfield, and Hampton Steamboat Company," has been purchased by the Midland N. C. Railway Co. and will hereafter hail for New Berne and run in connection with the Midland. It is contemplated employing her as an excursion boat through the summer and placing her on the lower Neuse in the fall. Commodore Oaksmith who brought her from Richmond states that she is admirably adapted for above purposes, and was the favorite moonlight excursion boat of Richmond.

Passengers on the New Berne.
The following passengers came in on the New Berne yesterday morning:
S. Freeman, D. Griffith, O. Clifton and Jas. Hargrove.

On the outward trip there were quite a number of passengers among whom were the following:

Mrs. Dinsmore and daughter, Lieutenant Simmons, of the revenue cutter Stevens, and family, Misses Clover and daughter of Portsmouth, Va., Mrs. Rich and son of Brooklyn N. Y., Mr. Carter of Portland, Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Brown of Boston and Hon. A. S. Seymour of New Berne, Mr. W. S. Saunders of Norfolk.

Mormon Emissaries.
A few days since a man came to Magnolia, in Duplin county, accompanied by two ladies, one of whom he represented as his wife, and the other as his daughter. He gave his name as Mr. Gaylord Smith, of England, and introduced himself as desiring to lecture upon the "Crimes of the Government against the Indians." The people, being a little suspicious, refused to allow him to lecture in either of the churches, but he secured a hall and delivered his lecture on Saturday night last. We learn, from intelligent gentlemen who were present, that the entire discourse, instead of being devoted to the Indians, their wrongs and grievances, was in laudation and praise of Brigham Young and the prosperous and happy condition of the Mormons in Utah. It was the opinion generally of those who heard him that he was an emissary of the Mormon Church, and that his object was to introduce the tenets of that faith and to pave the way for the dissemination of its doctrines.—Will Review.

Congressman at Large.
A correspondent writing to us from Pamlico about the nomination for Congressman at large says:

Is there any section of the State where the Democrats have preferred claims to this nomination, or where, if made, the entire party would be strengthened; if so, where, and what are the nature of their claims? We think there is, and in our opinion that section comprises the Second Congressional District. Situated as they are, with a majority of eight or ten thousand against them, they have no possible chance of being represented in the halls of Congress, every county being Republican. They cannot even have a voice in their State Legislature, except by mere accident. Their county offices are filled by the opposite party in nearly all of the parties composing the district (except those offices which the Legislature in its wisdom has seen fit to place within their reach).

Without any hope of reward they have labored faithfully and earnestly for the success of Democracy. Their fealty to the party cannot be questioned. Then why not reward them when it can be done so easily without detracting from any others? When by paying them a debt they so well deserve it would undoubtedly add to the strength of the entire ticket? It certainly cannot be for the want of proper material. The district abounds in the best of material, such as the Hons. W. T. Dortch, Judge Howard, Hughes, Clark, Hill, Day, and a host of others that would fill the position with honor to the State. I am thoroughly convinced that the Democrats of the Second Congressional District are entitled to the nomination, which, if judiciously made, will add several hundred to our State ticket.—News and Observer.

Pollockville Items.

Dr. N.H. Street is already domiciled in his new Drug Store.

Hardly a respectable corporals guard left, everybody gone to court.

Quite a run of herrings for the past few days and many a heart made to rejoice.

Mr. N. B. Smith is improving his lot by building new fences, moving old barns, etc.

Business dull except now and then a fellow steps in and says he'd like to get a little "Gosamer."

The lumber for the new Baptist church is already sawed and work on it will commence at an early day.

Mr. Geo. Bishop one of New Berne's most energetic manufacturers was in the village a short while Thursday.

J. C. Whitty's sorrel pony made things a little lively on Cypress street this morning by running away with a cart load of lumber.

Cotton planting will begin in a few days. We notice Messrs. Oglesby and Pelletier busy in getting planters ready for all those in want.

Work is progressing in J. H. Bells new store and when completed will add much to the already improved appearance of Pollockville. It will be 24x50, two stories.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Congressional Picnics, Fishing Excursions, and Banquets—Increase of Wealth in Congress—Congressional Backhands.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.

In the spring time some United States Senators' fancies gently turn to thoughts of fishing excursions, picnics; anywhere away from the heavy debates of the Upper House. A party of Senators have just returned from a fishing excursion of several days in Virginia. To-morrow Senator Fair, the bachelor Senator from Nevada, with a snug little fortune of $40,000,000, will give a picnic excursion to a number of ladies and gentlemen to the Great Falls of the Potomac, twelve miles distant. Yesterday another millionaire, Congressman Allen of Missouri, was driven slowly on his last excursion in a hearse from the Arlington hotel to the railway station. He left a fortune of $15,000,000.

The past has been an unusually mild winter at the Capital, but there has been a great deal of sickness among members and senators. And there is reason for the suspicion that much of the ill-health arises from the system-wrecking dissipation that has become so fatally fashionable among members and senators during the last few years, or since the Senate has become the "House of Millionaires." At no previous time in the history of the country has there been so large a number of wealthy members in Congress. The present Senate contains at least a score of Senators, not one of whom is worth less than $200,000. The richest man in the Senate is, of course, Fair, of Nevada, who probably possesses as much as all the other Senators together. Next to him in lucre is David Davis, of Illinois, a widower, who is reputed to be the possessor of millions. It is somewhat difficult to name the Senator whose fortune ranks third in size, but if Eugene Hale, of Maine, has received the mantle of his father-in-law, Zach. Chandler, with its well-lined pockets, his fortune is nearly as large as that of David Davis. The wife of Senator Hale is the only daughter of the late Senator Zach. Chandler. Other very wealthy Senators are Miller of California, Mahone of Virginia, and Sawyer of Wisconsin—known to be worth more than a million each. Sewell, of New Jersey, is a railroad man, and is reputed very wealthy. Senator John Sherman, of Ohio, it is said, is worth more than $1,000,000, his property consisting largely of real estate in Washington. Among other Senators who write their fortunes with seven figures are Cameron of Pennsylvania, Davis of West Virginia, and Plum of Kansas. Senators Hill, of Colorado, Brown of Georgia, Groome of Maryland, McPherson of New Jersey, and Pendleton of Ohio, are all worth $500,000. Many other Senators are comfortably fixed, possessing little hoards of from $50,000 to $300,000. Among those who have but little, comparatively, here below, that is not more than $100,000 apiece, are Morrill of Vermont, Anthony of Rhode Island, Rollins of New Hampshire, Jones of Nevada, and Jones of Florida, Johnson of Virginia, Beck of Kentucky, Saunders of Nebraska, Allison of Iowa, and Harrison of Indiana.

The House has not many wealthy men in proportion to its members, but there are several millionaires in this body, and many more who, before this late day of colossal fortunes, would have been considered rich. It may be useless to moralize on the influence of this great increase of wealth in the two legislative bodies of the United States, and the undermining and virtue-sapping tendencies that the abuse of the wealth will produce on individuals and on States. But it is certainly more profitable to mortalize now that it will be at the inquest. There can be no doubt that the efficiency of members and Senators is seriously impaired by stomachs ruined, or brains clouded or crazed from the so-called "high-toned" dissipation in which some of our improvised statesmen disport their wealth. There is scarcely an evening that some wealthy Congressman does not give a dinner. These dinners are, to speak mildly, orgies of gluttony and drunkenness.

Wilson Letter.

MR. EDITOR:—Last night, at the request of the Mayor, our citizens assembled themselves at the Court House for the purpose of hearing Mr. Jonathan Havens, of your city, explain to us the importance of connecting our town by rail with the sea coast of North Carolina via New Berne. Mr. Havens had previously visited Snow Hill and Greenville on the same errand; and we learn that the people in those sections are enthusiastic on its subject. In his address he told us that he had no terms to offer us, but the sole object of his visit was for us to interest ourselves sufficiently in the scheme to send delegates, representing the different sections of the county, to confer with Mr. Best at Kinston, Friday the 14th instant. He told us of the wonderful energy, the great industry, the perseverance and impressibility of Mr. Best, and of the great changes that had taken place in the administration, and of the business of the A. & N. C. R. R.; that he had found it in such a condition as to be called in derision the "Mullet Road," but that now it might properly be called a "whale-of-a-road." He told us that in all of his experience as a California "48 miner," or as they were poetically termed, "Argonauts," he had never seen such changes for the better in so short a time. He complimented our citizens upon the beauty of our town, their energy and perseverance, and recalled to them the great changes for the better that had taken place in the past twenty-five years. He also congratulated us upon the prospect of having our town connected with the Roanoke River by rail, and told us with this connection to that point, and the advantages that would result to us from our connection with New Berne, that our future would be assured. The following delegates were appointed: Messrs. F. W. Barnes, T. J. Hadley, A. W. Rowland, Geo. W. Stanton, M. T. Moye, and Drs. R. W. King and D. G. W. Ward. D. S. C. April 13, 1882.

The Norfolk Virginian reports a rumored sale of the Elizabeth City & Norfolk Railroad to the Clyde Company. It states that Manager King says he knows nothing of such a sale. But the Virginian says that the report of such sale is believed in railroad circles.—Elizabeth City Economist.

- Mr. J. A. Crews is moving his residence, which was situated on Tarboro street below Lewis, to the head of Tarboro street. Lewis Washington from Kinston is doing the work.

Roanoke News: On Friday night a crowd of young men organized a squeak serenade with which they intended to awake to ecstasies the sleeping citizens and charm them with too utterly utter notes from that instrument and the horse fiddle. They arranged their programme and route of travel and proceeded on their way. They visited one or two places but before they had completed their route some citizen not liking the monotony of the music broke into it with a shot gun making two or three staccato notes in quick succession! not liking such a reception the serenaders took to their heels in different directions, scattering their instruments all over town and never stopped until they reached places of safety remote from the gun.
