WASHINGTON LETTER.

THE CHIEF OF THE DISTRICT TRIUMVIRATE DEAD-GUITEAU'S APPEAL TO-DAY-THE GARFIELD MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

WASHINGTON, May 9, 1882.

No death, since that of the late Presilent, has caused more sorrow in Washington than of Major Twining, President of the Board of Commissioners for perhaps, that the District of Columbia and the Territory of Alaska are the only despotisms over which the stars and stripes wave. All the other States and Territories, whether composed of railroads or ranches, have a representative government. That is, the railroads and ranches vote. The District of Columbia, though partaking of both the nature of a railroad and a ranch, cannot vote. No citizen of Washington can exercise this sovereign right or rite. But Washington has been all the happier and cleaner for the deprivation of the ballotbox. If it had been in her power to select a governor, aristocrat, autocrat or Democrat, she would have not have selected one so wise, honest and able as Major Twining. He came to take charge of the improvements of the National Capital at a time when there was great contracts for improvements had been given out and performed during the four years that followed the removal of ALEX the Board of Public Works. He soon showed that he was master of the situation, and quietly impressed upon hi Mr. George Allen sends us the follow- two associates the force of his ability. There are three District Commissioners but Napoleon the First was not more the the autocrat in the matter of District improvements. He had none of the arrogant supercilousness that usually at taches to a West Pointer placed in an important civil position. He was courteous and kind to those under him, and at the meeting of the District employees and much anxiety is felt in relation to the appointment of his successor. To-day the appeal of Guiteau to the Court in banc will be heard. The Chief Justice is desirous that a full bench. with the exception of Judge Cox-who is prohibited by law from sitting on a case originally tried by him-shall sit on this appeal. But Judge Wylie's time is so completely taken up with the Star Route caes that he will not be able to leave court. Four Judges, Carter, James, Hagner and McArthur, will, at all events, occupy the bench. The Government will be represented by Messrs. Corkhill and Davidge, while Mr. Charles Reed, of Chicago, will appear for Guiteau. The National Ladies' Aid Society of the Garfield Memorial Hospital, held a fair in the rotunda of the Capitol last Saturday evening, the object of which was to raise money for the proposed hospital. The fair was attended by the President and by the elite of Washington official, diplomatic and social cir-cles. Many of the different States were represented by distinctive booths or pavilions, from which chicken salad, coffee, deviled crabs, etc., were sold by the fair maids and maidens at fabulous prices. It is not yet known how much was realized, but it is supposed that the fund for the hospital was considerably increased Work House.

This city sadly needs a work house. or something on that order, to be used as a means of correction for vagrants and trifling criminals. Every week the Mayor has before him a class of offenders upon whom no punishment can be inflicted except imprisonment, and that is too severe for the offence. They are fined a small amount and that is the end guilty and shot. The army regulations of the matter, for they have no money to pay the fine, and it would only be running the county to expense to feed them in jail. hem in jail. At Squire Hill's court, on Monday.

one Mary Williams (col.) was brought a up for vagrancy. She was strong and healthy, about 17 years old, and confessed that she was guilty and had never done a day's work in her life. And her case was a sample of nine others who were before the same Justice this week.

In these cases the excuse of "no work to do" can not be given, for the farms near New Berne give abundant employment to even the women and children for the greater part of the year. Cotton chopping, cotton picking, pea picking and such work is abundant and affords good pay.

Let a place be provided for vagrante and petty offenders against the law.
