Principles—Men.

The Democratic slogan in olden times was, "principles, not men;" but in this campaign a good deal of the fight must be made on the men. We contrast, below, the two tickets and one at all familiar with North Carolina, talent will admit that there is no comparison in the relative strength of the two:

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE AT LARGE: RYDEN TYLER BENNETT, of Anson.

FOR SUPREME COURT JUDGE: THOMAS RUFFIN, of Orange.

FOR JUDGES:

1st Dis.—JAMES E. SHEPHERD, of Washington.

2d Dis.—FREDERICK PHILLIPS, of Edgecombe.

3d Dis.—ALLMANN A. MCKOY, of Sampson.

4th Dis.—JAMES C. MACRAE, of Cumberland.

5th Dis.—JOHN A. GILMER, of Guilford.

6th Dis.—WILLIAM M. SHIPP, of Mecklenburg.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE AT LARGE: OLIVER H. DOCKERY, of Richmond.

FOR SUPREME COURT: GEO. N. FOLK, of Caldwell.

FOR JUDGES:

1st Dis.—C. C. POOL, of Pasquotank.

2d Dis.—J. A. MOORE, of Halifax.

3d Dis.—F. H. DABRY, of New Hanover.

4th Dis.—W. A. GUTHRIE, of Cumberland.

5th Dis.—L. F. CHURCHILL, of Rutherford.

6th Dis.—L. F. CHURCHILL, of Rutherford.

When it comes to the "principles," the Democratic party would have made a better showing if it had adopted none, and instead, made the fight on its "men" and on its past record of economical State administration. We think Judge Bennett—if there be a joint canvass—will have considerable trouble in reconciling the revenue plank and the county government plank. One wants the officers who disburse National money to be elected by the people; and the other wants officers who disburse county funds to be appointed. It is evidently a Western plank and an Eastern plank; the revenue plank for the mountaineers to ride on, and the other for eastern Bourbons.

This thing of making political platforms and setting out party principles, when there is no timber out of which to construct a platform, nor any distinctive principles to speak of, is troublesome work. The only great principle that now divides the Democratic and Republican parties, and the only genuine platform that either side should enunciate, is contained in the few words, "we want possession of the offices." And since this is the case the voters might now take as their watchword "men, not principles;" for the men are good, but the principles are rather doubtful.

The North State, a Republican paper, has this to say of the nominations:

The Democrats yesterday at Raleigh nominated Judge Ruffin for the Supreme Court and Judge Bennett for Congressman at large. Judge Gilmer and the other nominees for Superior Court Judges were endorsed.

There is no disguising the fact that the ticket is about the strongest that could be put in the field. Judges Ruffin and Gilmer are familiarly known to everybody in Middle North Carolina, and command the respect and possess the confidence of all our citizens.

Our Superior Court recently decided that no State officer can be lawfully elected whose election is not provided for by statute. In view of the fact that there is no election machinery provided for electing a Congressman at large, it is believed the Governor and Council of State will call the legislature to sit in extra session. This, if done, will change the whole political situation. The legislature would of course redistrict the State; repeal the prohibition act, pass some general license law, which would satisfy the anti-prohibition people and satisfy the temperance advocates; and repeal the present county government system.

We would then have no political State campaign; the prohibition question would be eliminated, and the question of county government would be settled.

This is the strategic move which we have feared. It is a noteworthy fact that the Democrats have called no congressional conventions.

Hot Campaigning.

Governor Vance's erasade against the internal revenue department in this State has evidently worked up considerable feeling, and it may prove to be a considerable factor in the fall canvass. We copy from the Statesville Landmark an account of three political fights that occurred there in one day last week, all arising from the animosity engendered by the revenue troubles:

Yesterday afternoon while Hon. W. M. Robbins was lighting a cigar at the counter in the store of Messrs. Hoffmann Bros., M. L. Mott, a son of Dr. J. J. Mott approached him and before Maj. Robbins was aware of his presence, struck him upon the side of the head, addressing a remark to him as he delivered the blow. He struck two other blows in rapid succession with some instrument in his hand, cutting a considerable gash on his head with each, when Maj. Robbins turned and kicked him over a lot of watermelon lying on the floor. Directly after supper a discussion between Solicitor J. S. Adams and Deputy Collector W. H. Stockton, with regard to the occurrence mentioned above, resulted in an affray in Mr. W. E. Anderson's store, in which Mr. Adams was a good deal beaten. About 9 o'clock at night a difficulty, growing out of the other two, occurred between Messrs. John E. Osborne and S. C. Cooper, the latter a brother of the collector, in the course of which Cooper knocked Osborne down, and Osborne fired twice on him with a pistol, one shot taking off the index finger of the left hand and inflicting a scalp wound (Cooper having hold of the revolver at the time), the other passing through one of his shoulders, making a painful but not dangerous wound.

These fights occasioned, as can be imagined, much excitement in the community. As they will undergo legal investigation, comments are, of course, withheld. The original difficulty grew out of strictures made by Maj. Robbins in his speech here last Saturday, upon Dr. Mott. —Landmark.

Schools.

While the lawyers are at work in the technicalities in regard to the powers of the trustees of the Academy, let us see what the people who are deeply interested in this matter think of it.

The legal question, Have the trustees the right to delegate their powers in others, or to place their property out of their control, or to put the funds of the Academy in the hands of others? is not in controversy. No one perhaps has ever dreamed of such a thing, certainly no one has ever asked it. The question is this: Is there any legal impediment in the way of the trustees uniting their influence and efforts with the county Board of Education, the Griffin fund, and perhaps the Peabody fund, in establishing a first-class school in New Berne?

Is there any legal impediment in the way of their appointing a committee to confer with and to vote with representatives of the above bodies in selecting teachers; the trustees having the power to confirm or reject their selections; or have the trustees the power to instruct their committee who they will confirm if selected?

Is there any legal impediment in the way of the trustees selecting, one, two or more of them, and become responsible to them to the extent of the amount of money which they agree to expend, and to waive all further responsibility? We think the unanimous voice of the people will say there is no impediment. It must be remembered there are twenty-four trustees of the Academy, and only three representing the county, and only one representing the Griffin fund. The amount proposed to be expended is about $1,000 each on the part of the Academy, and about $500 on the part of the Griffin fund, and it is proposed that the trustees and the county shall in all matters of conference have two representatives and the Griffin fund one, being certainly an equitable arrangement. There is but one concession made by the trustees in this arrangement is carried out, viz, the rent of the building, but as the Academy was intended for educational purposes, and is intended to be so used even if they make the concession, it would amount to but little. There are some privileges contained in the charter, viz, the power of the trustees to visit the school, to appoint committees of examination, to select scholars, and to give them certificates of reward for good conduct, etc., which cannot be abridged, and the oftener these privileges are exercised the better it will be liked.

If we lose the present opportunity of establishing the school it may be many years before we will have another opportunity of starting one.

INSTRU TORS:

J. H. HORNER, J. C. HORNER,

J. M. HOKNER.

With such assistant instructors as the exigencies of the School may require.

The chief work of the School is done by the Senior Principal and his two sons. The less important work is given to assistant instructors, who are selected with especial reference to their peculiar fitness for the duties assigned them and the number of students will not be increased beyond the capacity of the Principals to take personal charge of all the classes in the leading branches taught, and to supervise all the work of the School.

The School has been under its present management for more than thirty years, and in this sense, it is, we believe, the oldest school in the South.

As several of the Cadets will leave for College, there will be room next Session for about twenty new students.
