But few watermelons in market yesterday.

The Board of City Councilmen meet to-night.

Fresh meats were rather scarce in the market yesterday.

Miss Sallie Faison, we regret to hear, is still dangerously sick.

The funeral services of Miss Ida Amyett will be conducted at Christ Church this evening at five o'clock.

Capt. John Walker of Beaufort takes charge of the steamer Tiger Lily in the place of Capt. Hunt who returns to the railroad.

The teachers and scholars of Christ Church Sunday school will meet at the church at 5 o'clock p. m., to-day, for the purpose of attending the funeral of the late Miss Ida B. Amyett.

We are requested to state that the members of West street Christian Church extend their hearty thanks to Mr. E. W. Carpenter who gave them five dollars in aid of their new church building.

The regular weekly prayer meeting of the young men of the Baptist church will be held this Tuesday evening at the house of Mr. D. G. Smaw on East Front street at 8 o'clock. All young men are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

We call attention to the advertisement of the University of North Carolina in this issue. The authorities of this venerable institution are laboring to place it alongside the best in the land. Parents and guardians are invited to examine its claims.

The work of tearing down the old store occupied by K. R. Jones began yesterday. Mr. Jones has moved his stock to the brick building on the opposite side of South Front from the old stand. Mr. Pavie has his hands at work framing the new building.

The Trustees of New Berne Academy met yesterday evening and appointed a committee, consisting of Messrs. Allen, Ellis, Green Cutler and Miller, to correspond and hunt up a Principal for the graded school, and to invite some prominent educators to pay us a visit, and give an address on educational matters.

Grand Mass Meeting.
Large posters were being distributed yesterday announcing a Grand Republican Mass Meeting at Trenton on the 12th of August, to be addressed by O'Hara, Col. L. W. Humphrey and Messrs. G. W. Stanton and L. J. Moore.

River and Marine.
The schooner Winnie, Capt. Carrow, arrived from Rose Bay, Hyde county, on Sunday with a cargo of corn partly consigned to Burris & Co.

The Fleetwood, E. Flowers Captain, arrived on Sunday from Swan Quarter with a cargo of oats and corn.

Shooting Affair.
We learn through the mail last night that Mr. O. K. Uzzell shot and seriously wounded Dr. Sewell at White Hall on Sunday evening. The physician who attended the doctor reported his condition as critical. Mr. Uzzell left the neighborhood.

New Hotel at Morehead City.
We learn that a new hotel is to be erected at Morehead City near the Atlantic Hotel to ready by the opening of the next season. It will contain about forty rooms and will be conducted on the European plan. Mr. F. L. Perry, who has had much experience as a hotelist, will conduct it.

A Costly Calf.
On Saturday last W. G. Brinson, Esq. concluded a suit between two colored men concerning the title to a calf worth about six dollars. The cost of the suit footed up about twenty-four dollars besides the fees paid to two able attorneys in the case. But it is a glorious privilege of an American citizen to go to law even if it is costly.

A North Carolina Crop.
The Baltimore Sun of July 27th says: Mr. Wordsworth, a prosperous farmer living near Charlotte, N. C., comes to the front with a wheat crop which yielded 41 bushels to the acre, whilst his yield of oats was 108 bushels to the acre. This is equal to the rich grain lands of the West or Pacific coast, and shows what intelligent farming can accomplish in the Old North State.

Your Name in Print.
Miss Sallie Henderson is visiting Mrs. John C. Wooten near Kinston.
W. J. Best President of the Midland Railway Co. arrived on Sunday night.
Mr. H. B. Duffy, Dr. Frank Duffy, Mrs. John Thorpe, Mrs. Harrison of Hyde, and Mrs. Nelson of city were passengers for Morehead City last night.
Mrs. B. B. Davenport of this city is visiting friends at Portsmouth, N. C.

At Morehead.
A day or two at Morehead City is a delightful recreation for the hot, dusty and tired up-countryman. The breeze brings over one a drowsy spirit of contentment that defies worry or excitement. The hotels are filled and even the large Atlantic is overrun with visitors. Yet the spacious ball room and the many passages at that place afford so many retired nooks, that one thinks there is no crowd until the dinner hour—and then patience and perseverance must be assiduously cultivated. The new cottages are nearing completion, and will be a great addition.

Walking Ahead.
"What will be the result of the Hubbs and O'Hara contest?" asked a JOURNAL Reporter at Morehead City, on Saturday night last, of a prominent O'Hara supporter, who was also a candidate for nomination before the Wilson Convention.
"Why O'Hara will sweep the field," was the reply. "He will carry Hubbs' own county and defeat every local candidate that supports Hubbs. It is war to the bitter end, and we are going to whip the Revenue ring, even if it is backed up by money from Washington."
"How about Lenoir and Jones counties?" asked the Reporter.
"At this time they are for Hubbs, but we will change all that before the election. O'Hara is the regular nominee and if the Republican nominees of those counties don't support him, we will put out an independent ticket and have them beaten. Take Sheriff Davis and other office holders in Lenoir, and if they don't stand up to the regular nominee they can't expect but that O'Hara will go in their county and whoop up an organized opposition to defeat them. We intend to come to Craven and defeat every Hubbs nominee on the county ticket. Not only that but we will fight every man on the State ticket that goes back on O'Hara. If Judge Moore wants the votes of O'Hara's friends he must come out and declare for the regular nominee."
"But suppose the State Executive Committee supports Hubbs, or calls another convention?"
"We don't care what the State Committee may do. O'Hara has already been regularly nominated and the State Executive Committee has nothing at all to do with it. If they call another convention we'll have nothing to do with it. O'Hara has been regularly nominated and we are going to have him elected, and those who fail to stand up to this rack will get no fodder in this District."

Mayor's Court.
The thermometer had fallen sufficiently for three cases to be drummed up on Monday morning.
AMOS STARKEY
was the first to "stand up before the Court," and plead guilty to the charge of violating section 11, chap. 8, of city ordinances, an assault on Sallie Black. Amos had become all tangled up with whisky, and not having the fear of the law before his eyes, went to Sallie's house and opened fire without any provocation whatever. He struck her several licks with his fist; she jumped out at the window into the backyard; he followed her up with a pole and struck at another woman in the yard, and would have killed her had she not dodged the blow.
"You were up here some time ago for a row," said His Honor, "and in this case it seems that you didn't care who you knocked down or killed. I shall have to swing it to you pretty heavy this time. $20 and costs or twenty days in prison."
HAYWOOD JONES
toed the line next for cursing and swearing on the public streets: He pleaded not guilty. The evidence convinced the Court that he was guilty. Haywood wanted to explain that he was not mad with any one, and had no cause to curse.
"Oh, well," said His Honor, "if you go along the streets and curse without a cause I shall fine you heavy. This being your first offence, however, I will let you off light this time. $2.00 and the costs."
L. J. NEWTON,
a genuine professional tramp, was up for vagrancy. "It becomes my duty," Mr. Newton, to send you out of the city," said the Mayor. "You are going around here with no occupation, picking up everything you can lay your hands on."

"I have took nothing but one watermelon and I've been in jail for that. My feet are sore; I can't walk," replied Newton.

"I give you three hours to leave the city, and the Marshall will see that you do leave."

"All right, sir."

WILSON, N. C., July 20th, 1882.

The undersigned, regularly elected delegates to the Second Congressional District Convention, held in the town of Wilson, N. C., on Wednesday and Thursday, July 19th and 20th, 1882, declare that it was our intention to have voted for the Honorable ORLANDO HUBBS as a candidate for the 48th Congress, and that we would have voted for him on the first ballot; and we do hereby declare the Hon. ORLANDO HUBBS the regular nominee of the Republican party.

DIED.

On Sunday, July 20th, at 9:30 p. m., at the residence of Capt. John A. Richardson, IDA B. AMYETT, aged 21 years, 8 months and 22 days.

Any resident of our city who knew in life the subject of this notice, would deem the sad duty of the chronicler ended in making the simple announcement, wishing for themselves to render individual tribute to the memory of their friend.

Bright, happy, full of the more beautiful elements that make up pure womanhood.

Ardent, joyous, and gifted with an intelligent dowry that marked her brilliant in the bright society that courted her.

Nothing but the promise of Him whose "burden is light" can do aught to bring consolation to those whose hearts now ache with grief, and who on this day follow to the "dark house and the long sleep" the bright eyed daughter and sister, the sweet friend, ah! more than friend of an hundred weeping mourners. May the Comforter bring them comfort.

Seven Springs Meeting.

At 11 o'clock procession arrived, headed by La Grange Brass Band, followed by a large crowd of spectators. Gov. Jarvis, accompanied by Col. Nathan Whitfield, Col. Moses, Capt. Galloway and others, ascended the platform erected near the Springs. While awaiting the playing of music the crowd increased rapidly and standing room was in demand.

Col. Nathan Whitfield introduced the Governor, saying, the honor devolved upon him of introducing a brave soldier, a patriot, and a statesman, and more than all, an honest office-holder.

The Governor, amid cheers, began by expressing his surprise at seeing so large an audience. Said he was told in Goldsboro that he would be greeted by a large crowd, but he did not think everybody would come. He commented upon the introductory remarks of Col. Whitfield in reference to his honesty, saying that having been taken from the plow and dust of the farm by the people and elevated to the high and responsible position of Governor, he would prove himself unworthy of the mother that gave him birth and betray his constituents and people if he dare to be otherwise than honest. He gave a cursory review of the parties in the State. In several gubernatorial terms he proceeded to discuss the issues of the day, giving a history of the new Liberal party, which all readers of the political newspapers know. He explained what a suitable name the Liberal Anti-Prohibition party have chosen to take in weak-kneed Democrats and disappointed Republicans and contrasted the expenses of the State government under the two parties, showing how important it was to the State to keep in power the Democratic party. He reviewed the tariff question, showing how it damaged the agricultural interests of the country. The County Government system did not escape. He showed that the people of both races were living in prosperity, peace and quiet; that they did not care anything about the county government system, that a few hungry, seedy office-seekers were trying to disturb the peace and prosperity of the country by bringing up a question that would stir up strife. He made a strong appeal to the people not to allow these questions of county government and prohibition to create dissension in the party ranks so as to throw the State government into the hands of a party struggling more for office than for the good of the country. He spoke two hours, receiving good attention throughout and closed amid loud cheers.

After music by the band, Col. Moses proposed three cheers for Governor Jarvis, which the assemblage gave in style.

Capt. Swift Galloway was called upon and responded in his usual and forcible manner. He said that in after ages when administrations were talked about, that of Thomas J. Jarvis could be pointed to as the golden age.

After a piece by the band, Mr. N. J. Rouse of La Grange presented, on behalf of the ladies present, a beautiful bouquet to the Governor, T. J. Jarvis, in a beautiful and appropriate manner. The Governor replied and the meeting adjourned.

After our reporter left we learn that Capt. W. A. Darden of Greene county was called out and entertained the large audience in one of his best efforts of his life; after which the large throng of people on the ground began to disperse. All was done quietly and in order.

For the Journal.

BALTIMORE, July 27th, 1882.

EDITORS NEW BERNE JOURNAL:—Enclosed herewith I hand you post-office order for two dollars, in payment for one year's subscription to the JOURNAL. I believe I am several months behind hand. If you will kindly notify me when this, my second year's subscription to the JOURNAL expires, I will take it as a special favor.

It may be interesting to you to learn that I regard the JOURNAL as one of the leading newspapers in North Carolina, and far ahead of any paper published in the tide-water section of the State since the war. I have just returned from the Warm Springs section of North Carolina. The crops are remarkably fine—seasonable rains having fallen at regular intervals during the past weeks. Since the discovery six or seven years ago, that tobacco could be profitably grown in the counties west of the "divide," "Haywood and Madison counties have more than tripled in material prosperity." I get this information from Mr. Gudger, Superintendent of the Asylum for the Insane at Raleigh; himself a native of Madison county and an ex-member of the Legislature.

I found the hotel at the Warm Springs indifferently kept but crowded at $3.00 per day, and no reduction for white servants. This is a great pity, but it is consoling to know the lease of the present proprietors expires with this season. It is the determination of Col. Rumbaugh to lease the property to responsible parties in future, who will make the hotel an honor to the State. I succeeded in locating my family at Asheville in Buncombe county, a much more elevated situation and the scenery decidedly finer than at the Warm Springs.

Lands in Madison county that went begging in 1876 at $2.00 per acre, are selling readily to-day, at from $7.50 to $10.00 per acre. At "Alexanders," on the French Broad river, in Buncombe county, Mr. Curtis, son of Judge Curtis of New York and a graduate of Trinity College, Cambridgeport, class of '80 has purchased five hundred acres of land at $11 per acre; he has two hundred and fifty acres under a high state of cultivation consisting of corn, oats, wheat and tobacco. Mr. Curtis expects to realize 40 per cent. for his entire crop of tobacco. Mr. Curtis also owns 3,000 fertile acres in Pennsylvania. This young gentleman has made himself quite popular with the hardy mountaineers, among whom he has taken up his abode. While disclaiming any sympathy with politicians he was elected a delegate to the recent Democratic Convention which assembled at Raleigh. From the railroad at "Alexanders" to his plantation, Mr. Curtis has no carriage or wagon road, but he has a regular civil engineer and a force of workmen engaged in grading a fine road through the mountains at regular intervals during the day, heavy detonations are heard in the direction of the "Curtis Improvements," which denotes that another blast has been fired in the solid face of the mountain, and so the work proceeds from day to day. Such settlers as Mr. Curtis are valuable acquisitions to any section of our country. He spends two months in New York city during the fashionable season, and on his return to his mountain home brings with him half a score of his College chums to enjoy the fine field and covert shooting, in which his property abounds. Mr. C. quite "took the natives by storm" when he first appeared seated upon his dog cart, holding the ribbons over a pair of Tennessee cots, driven tandem!

Speaking of Alexander's reminds me of the fact that its recent proprietor, Mr. Baird is own uncle of Senator Vance, and the present proprietor, Mr. Smith, married an aunt of the Senator. Alexander's has almost a national reputation as one of the sunniest and most home-like Inns in all this mountain region of North Carolina and Tennessee. It enjoyed wide celebrity more than 30 years ago, in the good old days when the stage-horn was heard to echo and re-echo adown the winding, picturesque French Broad. The Western North Carolina Railroad has published a book for travellers, in which the following paragraph appears: The name of "Alexander's" is synonymous in the mind of the traveller upon the French Broad, with homely, old-fashioned comfort: It is so much like some of the suburban resorts we visit near our larger Northern cities; low porched, long and shady. Its very wash-basin and clean towel, with waiting pail and dipper upon the end of the porch, seem to bespeak a welcome, and the cheerful smile of "Uncle Joe" does the rest. A day and night at "Alexander's" are numbered among the most pleasurable incidents of our tour upon the French Broad. This is not a "pull"—none is needed—house is always crowded.

Yours Respectfully, P.

Swansboro Items.

Five vessels in port; schooner Minnie Ward Moore is up for repairs, cleaning, etc.

Nash Dennis caught two large sharks with a hook yesterday, one of them nearly nine feet long.

Mullet season commencing. Capts. Healy, A. W. Moore and James Smith are catching loads of them; season sets in now in a few days.

Marine's still at the same place, (French's creek) is still about twenty-five barrels of turpentine daily. He keeps two vessels busy running off the spirits and resin.

Everything brisk. Town looks a little light, because Squire Piner, the white-wash man, has just about finished whitewashing, which adds 100 per cent. to looks, etc.

Rev. Mr. Warlick, accompanied by Rev. Mr. Kendall, with quite a large crowd went down to Straits, Cartoret county, to assist at a revival in progress there. They will return home to-day.

Among the visitors this week are Mr. and Mrs. McDaniel and Miss Alice Rhodes, of Jones county, Rev. J. T. Kendall and Miss Sadie Walker, of Brunswick county, and the Misses Sallie and Lala Hartsel, Miss Beulah Coston, Miss Viola Provow and Miss Kitty Holland and Messrs. Wm. Russell, Wm. Hartsel and Micajah Farnell.

Hancock's steam saw mill on French's creek, is sawing about five thousand feet of lumber per day. One of his mill hands met with a sad accident and came very near losing his life. He stumbled and fell on the saw while running, which tore his head and face badly, but I think he will get over it. Carelessness was the cause.

Grand picnic and Banks party at Col. E. W. Foxville's on yesterday; about five hundred people were present. It was very hot, but they all seemed to enjoy themselves finely. The Jacksonville string band, assisted by Mr. E. H. Barnum, of New Berne, made music for the occasion. Plenty to eat and drink, and some courting among the young folks of course.

John Pitman beats the State on toatoes and sweet potatoes. He had sweet potatoes the 22nd inst., from six to ten inches in circumference, one layman measuring 2 1/2 inches long, and 6 1/2 in circumference, and the largest tomatoes I ever saw; twelve of them weighed 16 pounds, one of them weighed 1 pound and 15 ounces. He has some very fine cotton, too. I counted on one stalk about 3 1/2 feet high, 106 forms, blossoms and boll; about 13 bolls nearly grown.
