Dog days end.
The Midland shops have just turned out a new—second hand—elegant express and mail car.

Next Monday night is the time appointed for Governor Jarvis to speak in the court house in this city.

The young men of the city are organizing a gun club. Lookout for a challenge from the Falling creek sporting club.

The old Contentnea sailed for Polkville yesterday, looking like a new boat out and out. This is her first trip since being overhauled.

The Tiger Lily, as elsewhere advertised will leave at 7:30 this morning for points on the lower Neuse and Bay River, returning on Saturday afternoon.

The Bob Lee carried down Mr. J. F. Ives' engine for making brick yesterday. The brick yard is near Riverdale, on Mr. Gabriel Harrison's plantation.

The Cutler carried out yesterday a steam saw mill engine for Mr. J. H. Banks, who is erecting a mill on Trent river, in the neighborhood of Banks' landing.

The Trent River Transportation Company had its whole fleet up Trent yesterday. The Contentnea and Trent returned loaded with lumber from Whitty's saw mill.

The city tax collector has sold up to date 263 dog badges. This is supposed to be about one-fourth of the number of dogs in the city. The highest number listed by any one man is three.

Six car loads of rock came down yesterday for Gen. Ransom's work at Beaufort harbor. Already 300 feet by 30 feet wide of rock has been sunk and the improvement is beginning to be perceptible.

Steamer Neuse arrived yesterday evening, with a load of rosin and spirits of turpentine, through freight, from L. Harvey of Kinston, with Mrs. Jno. Lucas and Miss Bob Wood, who is visiting her Grand Father at this place.

The Tiger Lily arrived yesterday morning from Hyde county with corn for George Credle, and the following passengers: Geo. C. Credle, Mrs. Geo. Credle & Son, Dr. M. Solby, Daniel M. W. Hilliard Gibbs, Lafayette Spencer, and Mary Evans and Harriet Sadder.

Our Polkville friends are making an effort to have Gov. Jarvis speak there on the 16th, the time of holding the Senatorial Convention. The steamer Trent will go up on that day and return in the evening. The ladies will hold a festival at night for the benefit of the Baptist church which is nearing completion.

Athletic Club.
At a meeting of the Directors of the Athletic Club, held last night, a committee was appointed to procure the piling and begin the work immediately. The Board of City Councilmen have granted them the privilege of building at the foot of Broad street.

A committee was appointed to draft a lease for the same. They also made preparations for plans and specifications of building. Members who have not paid the assessments called for are earnestly requested to pay the same immediately.

Bottling Beer.
Mr. James Redmond has erected a bottling establishment in rear of his store and is now bottling the celebrated Bergner & Engel beer. He receives the beer in half barrels, stores it away in an ice house, and in bottling uses the latest improved ciphon which allows no gas to escape. He has a large tank for the reception of pure rain water with which he washes the bottles in the old style—with shot—and rinses them with the clean water from the tank. He says the demand for Bergner & Engel is constantly increasing.

White Oak Township.
Mr. Lewis Bynum, the jolly member of the firm of Bynum & Jenkins in Maysville, Jones county, was in the city yesterday, and in answer to the enquiries of a JOURNAL reporter stated that he had never seen such crops on White Oak as they have this year. "Corn," said he, "will be twenty-five cents a barrel. 'A bushel, you mean' said the reporter. 'Twenty-five cents a barrel,' he replied, 'the whole face of the land is covered with it; I don't believe they will ever house it.'"

"How is cotton?" asked the reporter. "As fine as I ever saw, if nothing happens to injure it from now on. The corn is already made, cotton may be

FOREIGN LETTER.

St. PETERSBURG, July 26th, 1882.
General Skobelev, whose death has caused so great a sensation throughout the country, entered the army on March 31st, 1863. Having finished his studies at the academy of the staff, he joined General Kaufman as lieutenant-colonel during the Khiva expedition of 1873. He commanded the van guard for a short time, and soon distinguished himself by military skill as well as by personal courage. He also took part in the capture of Khiva, and here accomplished his first exploit. General Markosoff, who commanded a detachment of circassian troops, and had to co-operate with General Kaufman, could not pass the desert nor send any news to his commander. Much anxiety was felt as to his fate, when Skobelev, disguised as a Turcoman, successfully passed the desert and the enemy's raiders, but only after great fatigue and suffering reached General Markosoff. For this he received the St. George's Cross of the Fourth Class, and was made an aide-de-camp to the Emperor. After the Khiva expedition he married a Princess Gagarin, but left her a week after, going to Spain to see some active warfare with the Carlists. He was present at the battle of Estella. In 1875 an expedition was organized against Khokand. Colonel Skobelev commanded a detachment, and before the other troops began to advance he had already defeated the enemy, and taken the capital. For this he was promoted to Major-General. In 1877 he left Turkestan, and presented himself to the chief of the army of the Danube. At first no commission was given him, but he soon made himself popular by his extraordinary courage. During the passage of the Danube he swam across the river on horseback. Before Plevna he first commanded a brigade and then the 16th division. In the two first attacks he alone always succeeded in driving the Turks out of their positions, but was obliged to retreat, as the main forces of the army suffered reverses. On July 30th, when the third attack was made, he alone found out the real key to Plevna, and captured the Krish position, whereas the main forces were uselessly sacrificed before Grivitza. The next day he was attacked by Osman Pasha's whole army, and not being supported, was at last overpowered and driven out of his position. After a desperate and brilliant defence, his troops having fought for thirty hours almost without rest. For this the St. George's cross of the third class was given him. At the battle of the Shipka Pass in January, 1878, he again distinguished himself. General Radetzky and Prince Mirsky had attacked the Turkish position, but without success. The next day Skobelev turned the Turks, captured the redoubts of Shenow, situated behind, and forced Verel Pasha, with 32,000 men, to surrender. After the failure of the Akhal Sekke expedition under General Lagareff in 1879, it was proposed to raise another army of 20,000 men, and the campaign to last from two to three years. General Skobelev offered to undertake the expedition with 10,000 men, and finished it in one year. On December 20th he laid siege to Geok Tepe, and after a desperate resistance, during which the Tekkes inflicted two serious defeats on the Russians, General Skobelev fought his sixty-first and last battle, on January 13th 1881. After nine hours fighting Geok Tepe was taken by storm, the enemy being thoroughly defeated. Eight thousand bodies covered the surroundings of Geok Tepe, and the fortress was filled with killed; only the women were spared. General Skobelev was a highly educated man, who spoke English, French and German, as well as Russian. He had thoroughly studied all military sciences. His remarkable courage and kindness to the soldiers and younger officers made him a favorite in the Russian army, which has lost one of her best if not the best of her Generals.

Mrs. Talbot, the wife of Bishop Talbot of the Protestant Episcopal Church, died at the residence of the Bishop, in Indianapolis, yesterday, of typhoid fever. She was 77 years of age.

The Rev. A. M. Osborn died at Peakskill yesterday morning. He retired from the Methodist ministry last spring, after fifty-three years of service. He was one of the oldest members of the New York Conference.

In Albany, on Saturday evening, William Christman, aged 19 years, and Charles Trinkle, aged 23, engaged in an altercation. Christman struck Trinkle with a brick, knocking him senseless, then kicked him while down, inflicting injuries which resulted fatally four hours later. Christman is still at large.

New Cotton.
MONTGOMERY, ALA., August 9.—The first bale of cotton received in this city was raised by W. C. Roy, Jr. It was sold at public auction this morning to J. B. Clisby & Co., of this city, for 33 cents per pound. It was classed scant middling.

STATE NEWS.

Gleaned from our Exchanges.
New Berne Free Will Baptist: We attended the quarterly meeting last Saturday and Sunday, we had a good meeting, and well attended. Crops are looking good in the Bay River Section. But we heard many complaining that their crops were ruined by the wet, it had rained every day for a week, and on Friday evening it rained the heaviest rain that has fallen there for a long time.

Wilmington Star: Last Sunday was the twentieth anniversary of the arrival at Wilmington of the blockade steamer Kate, famous as having been the instrument of introducing the yellow fever in our midst in the ever memorable year of our Lord, 1862.—Mrs. E. A. Sholar, who was stricken with paralysis at her residence, on Fifth, between Ann and Nun streets, on Saturday afternoon last, was reported yesterday evening to be in a dying condition. She has never spoken since her first attack.

Asheboro Courier: From our young friend, Rufus Brower we get the latest from the oats crop. His sample reaches 7 1/2 feet in height. Mr. Enos A. Blair of Bush Hill has the largest peach yet heard from. It measures 11 inches in circumference. It ought to go to the Fruit Fair.—Mrs. Dicey Lewis of Cedar Grove Township was seriously, if not fatally injured last week. It happened in the absence of the rest of the family and the unfortunate victim was unable to tell how it happened. It is thought that in one of her fits to which she is subjected she fell into the fire. She will hardly recover.

Greensboro Patriot: A novel feature of Poplar Tent fair, Cabarrus county, is two marriages which are to take place on the ground. The brides elect are two pretty young girls, and the grooms are two brawny-chested young well-to-do farmers. The brides are to be given away by Senator Ransom. It is expected that the attractions promised will draw an immense crowd.—The rains have been exceedingly heavy for the past few days. Mr. L. F. Smith lost a very valuable dam and a portion of his mill by the last rain. His loss will amount to probably $400.—The Inferior court meets here Monday. The solicitor has just exactly one hundred criminal cases on his docket.

Wilmington Daily Review:—We were shown through the Champion Cigar Factory, of this city, yesterday morning by Mr. I. Hirschberg, the Superintendent. The factory is the largest in the South, exclusive of those in Baltimore and New Orleans. Twenty experienced cigar union journeymen are employed and they turn out 50,000 cigars per week. The Messrs. Brunhill & Bros., who are the proprietors, are daily receiving large orders for their goods. All grades of cigars are made in the factory. We were shown some Havana tobacco which cost $1.40 per pound. We are gratified to know that the factory is being well patronized and that the proprietors feel very much encouraged with the success of their enterprise.
