NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
JAS. REDMOND—Meeting of K. of P.
B. A. RICHARDSON—Improved roof paint.

Journal Miniature Almanac.
Sun rises, 5:24; Length of day,
Sun sets, 6:40; 13 hours, 16 min.
Moon sets 11:39 p. m.

Our neighbor, Mr. R. O. E. Lodge, has been getting in a large lot of Timothy hay.

The schooners Annie G. Midgette and Varina are on Howard's ship railway for repairs.

Howard's ship yard shows signs of unusual activity. Two schooners and one flat are on the ways, and one river steamer nearing completion.

The schooner Mary E. Gildersleeve, Capt. Elijah Hill, arrived from Baltimore on Sunday with a cargo of coal for the Trent River Transportation Company.

The steamer Defiance arrived on Saturday night from Baltimore. Among the freights were a large new lathe for Manwell & Crabtree, two cotton seed oil presses and other machinery for A. R. Dennison, a lot of flour for D. W. Morgan & Son of Harlowe's Creek and a large lot of furniture for P. Poesser, Sr.

Your Name in Print.
Miss Florence Rountree of Kinston came down on the Midland last night and leaves to-day for New York with the family of Mr. W. F. Rountree.

Misses Hannah and Mary Oliver and Misses Nettie and Sadie Hollister were off to Morehead yesterday evening.

Serious Accident.
On last Friday Miss Susan Mitchell, in attempting to open the front gate at Mr. W. F. Rountree's, gave it a jerk and it flew open suddenly, causing her foot to slip, throwing her down and breaking her thigh. Dr. James Hughes was called to treat it and yesterday evening she was reported doing well.

A Case in Admiralty.
Messrs. L. J. Moore and F. M. Simmons filed and reduced to judgment on yesterday a claim of $500 by certain discharged seamen of the steamer Susan for wages due. This is a small steamer on its way from Philadelphia to Mexico and put into New Berne for repairs. The case was tried before U. S. Commissioner Clement Manly, and is an illustration of speedy justice. One doesn't mind paying a good attorney's fee when he can thereby get his rights speedily.

River and Marine.
The schooners Tile G. Cruise, Capt. Bailey, and J. W. Haig, Capt. Ireland, arrived yesterday from Philadelphia with cargoes of coal for the Midland Railway.

Steamer Trent went up Neuse on yesterday with merchandise and several flats in tow.

Steamers Contentna and L. H. Cutler sailed for Vanceboro yesterday.

The Tiger Lily left on Monday morning with a good freight and passenger list for Bay River and Hyde county points.

Burglary.
Mr. Joe Davis' house on Metcalf street between Broad and Pollock was entered Saturday night through a window by a man evidently intent on mischief. There were two ladies in the house, who had retired for the night in a room on the second floor leaving a light below. They heard the thief enter and as soon as they asked who it was he put out the light. The ladies gave the alarm which caused a considerable crowd to gather there but the burglar had jumped out at the window and made his escape.

Mayor's Court.
Business was flush before the court yesterday morning. A good crowd was present, among whom were about six dozen women, colored, who seemed to be interested in the case of the youngster, Dan Moore, colored, who was taken up Saturday evening.

CHARLES HALL was charged with an assault on Dan Moore. He plead not guilty; that is, he did not "salt him with malice," was only foolin'. After hearing the testimony, His Honor said "foolin'" was a new name for an affray, and so Charles was asked to hand over $2.00 fine and pay the cost.

DAN MOORE was up, first, for violating section 11 chapter 8—loud talking, boisterous language on the public streets, and second, for refusing an officer in the discharge of his duty.

Upon the first charge, one witness stated that Dan had a naturally loud voice anyhow, but the evidence upon the whole was sufficient to make it necessary for His Honor to tone down his voice to the tune of $2.00 and cost. The second charge was regarded by the court as a very serious one, and His Honor went into the details of the evidence in order to have the facts fully brought out. It was clearly proven that Dan refused to be arrested by Policeman Hurt, and that after Mr. Hurt put the nippers on him he had to drag him some distance and then get a dray to haul him to the police station, and on the way to the station he attempted to get out of the dray, and was in the act of striking the policeman when he tapped him over the head with his club. Dan was requested to pay $20.00 and cost or go to jail for thirty days.

City Improvements.
The handsome new dwelling of F. M. Simmons Esq., on Johnson street is having the paint brush applied and will soon be ready for occupation.

The "cunning work" on Mr. J. F. Ives' new building on the corner of Middle and Johnson street, is progressing. It has more ornamental wood work, save perhaps Mr. Elijah Ellis', than any building in the city. The designs were all originated in New Berne.

Mr. George Henderson is having an addition built to his residence on the corner of Metcalf and Broad which will contain a spacious bay window. It will be enclosed and ready for trimming in a week.

Mr. C. T. Watson's elegant residence on the corner of Metcalf and Pollock will soon be completed. Mr. Hay is applying the paint brush.

Dr. Chas. Duffy's building adjoining Hahn's stables, is being repaired. The building for the new firm of Simmons & Havens, commission merchants, will soon be completed.

The Trent River Transportation warehouse is receiving a coat of paint.

The store recently purchased by Dr. W. P. Ballance is having a new front put in and other repairs will be added.

The dwelling house being built by Mr. T. A. Green on the corner of Pollock and East Front is nearing completion.

The Mainly residence on the corner of Neuse and East Front has been thoroughly repaired and is being made attractive by the use of the paint brush.

Mr. D. Stinson is building a new saw mill between his old one and the railroad wharf. It will be 150 feet long by 48 wide.

Mr. Congdon is enlarging his saw mill.

The new passenger building and ticket office at the Millard depot is nearly completed. It has a handsome appearance.

Washington Items.

Your correspondent being under the weather, he has slighted the JOURNAL for the last few weeks.

Business is dull. Clerks are sitting on the goods boxes and reclining on the counters, and patiently waiting for autumn.

Your mammoth weekly is gaining golden opinions in this and adjoining counties. Long may the JOURNAL live to make the world wiser, better and happier.

A Teachers' Institute will open here Monday, under the management of Prof. Bagby of Greenville. Prof. Kinsey, of the Collegiate Institute was selected to take control, but he declines to come.

Rev. A. Latham has closed a very interesting revival of religion at Pantego, with several additions to the church. Mr. Latham is a very talented and able minister and is fully enthroned in the hearts of his people.

We saw the smiling face of Sam Street in town this week. He looks fat and reports all things well in his ramblings. It is said that Sam is a candidate and hopes to be elected sometime during this or next year.

Liberalism is booming in this county. The woods is full of political aspirants and it is a pity all cannot be elected. The Edenton Convention has given liberalism a setback in refusing to endorse J. B. Respass, the liberal nominee at Plymouth. Mr. Respass is thoroughly Republican, but his own party sat down on him, and he is very much disgruntled. G. A. Sparrow, a tried Democrat, was endorsed by the Republican Convention.

The contractor of the Washington and New Berne mail route has purchased a new hack and is now prepared to comfortably carry four passengers. The driver, Mr. Adolph Asher, is exceeding proud of the new accommodation, and he thinks his handsome face and graceful manners will draw more customers that he can accommodate. He desires the owners to put the road in good order so his new carriage will not be injured by falling into holes and bridges.

Two boys came near drowning Wednesday. The smaller one accidentally fell over while out sailing, and his brother jumped overboard to rescue him. The boat was under such headway that the boys were some distance behind before the captain could "round too." A boat from the shore went to their rescue and when they were reached both were nearly exhausted; the larger one was unconscious. Under the efficient treatment of Dr. Taylor they are rapidly improving.

A gang of thieves have been perambulating the dark corners of the town for the last few months, and the most rigid efforts have been made to bring them to justice. One of the gang, a gentleman of color, has been apprehended and is now lodged in jail. A few weeks ago some one entered a saloon on Main street and took $145 and never returned. The suspected party escaped the penalty of the law, but suspicion rested so strong on him he has been closely watched, and to the utter astonishment of several, a white man of a most respected family was caught in the rear of Lockyears bar room, making his way out. He was taken before Mayor Warren and found guilty; a bond of $200 was required, and failing to give it was lodged in Market street brick house.

OCCASIONAL.

Letter from Catharine Lake.

Mr. Editor—I see in your Daily of the 27th of July and in your Weekly of the 2nd inst., what is headed "A Rejoinder of Warwick to the communication of E. Murrill, Sheriff of Onslow county;" in which he more grossly misrepresents the truth than he did in his first. He starts out by saying that "the officers in this county were created solely for the benefit of the people, and no man has any more intrinsic right to official station than another man." That no one denies, except that the people have a choice as to who shall fill those offices, and because they do not choose Warwick to fill some of them, as I said before, is what's the matter with him.

He speaks of the wonderful commotion produced among the Bourbon officials of Onslow county, by the short article written by him in the JOURNAL of May the 11th. Indeed, if that article had been true, or written by some one who had some character for truth, it might have done some damage to the officials of the county, but as it was, time will have to estimate the damages as there are certainly none visible yet.

I had begun to think from the lapse of time between my communication and his rejoinder, that those two small shots to which he alluded, though fired from smooth bores of small calibre, had produced fatal injuries; but the date of his rejoinder and the date of his publication tells the secret. I see it is dated June the 15th, and comes out in your Daily of July 27th, and brought out by special express, and circulated in this county on the very day of its issue, just two days before the holding of primary meetings in this county for the purpose of getting the sense of the people as to who should be their candidates for county offices. But his rejoinder fell as far short of its aim as his first article did.

Ah, Mr. Warwick, the proclamation of truth might make you wince, but it is the proclamation of lies, if told by truthful men, that makes me wince.

He says that in 1870 the commissioners were empowered by the General Assembly to levy a special tax of one half of one per cent, and again in 1872 they were empowered to levy another tax of one half of one per cent., making a tax of one per cent., which was levied in addition to the regular levy approximating $9,000. No one knows better than Warwick that the tax authorized by the Legislature of 1870 was also submitted to a majority of the qualified voters, and through and by the misrepresentations of him the people voted it down, and the tax was not levied. The tax of 1872, approximating about $4,500, was also submitted to the people, and they having by this time gotten a diagnosis of Warwick's disease, voted for it; and the tax was levied and collected, but was not quite enough to pay all the outstanding debt of the county. In 1877, as I said before, the commissioners (and they had been changed every two to four years) seeing that the county government could not be run under the constitutional limit, asked for power to levy the $3,000 special tax, which was submitted to the people, but Warwick was on hand against it as usual and the people voted it down again, saying, however, "satisfy us that the county funds are properly and rightfully applied and we will vote for a special tax." So in 1878 a committee of three good and honorable business men, and large tax payers, were appointed to investigate the management of the county affairs, particularly the financial department, from the year 1868 to and including the year 1878.

That committee met and worked from day to day; sent for persons and papers, invited the sore heads and growlers, and all others who could, to come and assist them, and at the end of their labors made a report and posted the same in the court house, exonerating all the county officers from blame, and that each one had properly accounted for all moneys that had come into their hands, and highly complimenting some of them for the manner in which they had conducted their offices. So in 1881 the Legislature empowered the commissioners to levy a special tax of $7,000 in three annual installments, which is to pay the outstanding debt of the county which has been accumulating since the year 1874; notwithstanding Warwick repeats the false statement made in his first article that in 1876 a statement was made public by authority of the commissioners that the county was out of debt and a surplus in the Treasury.

In regard to the valuation of property in Onslow county, I will invite the attention of all concerned to the auditor's report of 1879, where they will find the lands on either side of Onslow, in Jones and in Pender, valued much higher than in Onslow, yet they have to resort to special taxes or disregard the Constitutional limit in order to run their county government. And as to the motto of the Sheriff being to increase the value of property, to increase the taxes, and thereby increase the Sheriff's commissions—the Sheriff stoops to no such underhanded tricks; he only wants commissions on a sum sufficient to pay the expenses of the government when economically administered. But when men, like Warwick, are so penurious as not to be willing to pay any more than can be extracted from them by the law, as it now stands, and a certain amount has to be raised, I say the only remedy is to increase the value of their property to its true value in money, or in the language of the law, "what it would bring at a fair voluntary sale." If that were done in this county we would have no use for special taxes. As to his Injunctions, I don't suppose Warwick would ever have thought of such a remedy had I not called his attention to the case of Frick against the commissioners of New Hanover county.

Now, Mr. Editor, I am done with Warwick. I shall not notice anything that he may say through the papers. I don't suppose that any one except the people of this county is interested in his statement or mine about the county officials of Onslow. And said people, notwithstanding "the wonderful commotion caused by his 40 pound shot, fired by a lawyer at long range, and his whole battery of artillery composed of Napoleon guns of heaviest calibre at short range," have shown their appreciation of them by electing the same board of commissioners, except two who declined a re-election, and by nominating the same county officers for re-election in November next.

Hoping that you will give the above space in your paper, I am

Very respectfully,
E. MURRILL, Sheriff of Onslow county.

Letter From Norfolk.

NORFOLK, VA., Aug. 18, 1882.
EDITOR JOURNAL—A lengthy chapter of events is recorded in the history of this city the current week.

Beginning with the arrival of Messrs. Johnson and Munden on Sunday, one in handcuffs and the other in a joyful anticipation of having a sure and certain Justice meted out to the robber of both his bosom and his pocket, followed in quick succession by the arrival of the Secretary of the Navy on an inspecting tour of Navy yards, and the serving of a warrant on the commander of the Talpoosa for a violation of the quarantine regulations of the harbor, and the arrest of a street car conductor for an altercation with a colored female passenger.

They all passed on, Johnson and Munden to the scene of "disaster" in North Carolina, the Naval Secretary to the Northern Navy Yards and the cases of the commander and conductor to the courts for adjudication.

The week has also been rather favorable to anniversaries, Wednesday the 16th was the second Centennial anniversary of the purchase of the land on which the city stands for the purpose of building "Ye towne of Norfolk" for a consideration of a number of pounds of tobacco, and the deed conveying the same was signed by the seller through making his mark not being able to write his name.

To-day there is a Sunday School anniversary celebration down at Ocean View, and to-day is also the anniversary of the great storm three years ago which blew down the steeple of the Baptist church and wrought much damage throughout the city and harbor.

Notwithstanding all these interesting events, business is going right on and appears to be very good for the season.

Truck farmers here distance ours at home so badly in the matter of large returns from small outlay, that I have quit quoting our success and take in all I am told with as little astonishment as possible.

Appos to our immigration theories I met a man just from Boston, accompanied by two stout boys and a hearty daughter, on their way to the Colony at Claremont, on the James river, in search of a home. He was from New Brunswick, but had lived near Boston for several years and was moving South on account of declining health. I filled his pockets with JOURNALS and his head with the "big bonanza" in trucking and other farming around New Berne.

Chicken raising is one of his designs and I assured him that no better soil or climate could be found than we possessed for the growth of poultry.

Spending of chickens reminds me (as the departed Lincoln would say) that I saw a little brood of seven thousand taking steamer for New York the other day. They were in charge of a party of men who, I learn, make frequent visits South, buy them up and take them North for sale. I have heard that these accumulations some times reach as high as forty thousand at a trip.

The proceeding seems to be a foul one and bodes no good to attendants on Southern camp meetings, nor is it calculated to enhance the comforts of the itinerant ministry, but commerce you know has no heart and moves only by the impulse of interest. N. S.
