

PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE DAILY JOURNAL, a 24 column paper, published daily except on Mondays, at $5.00 per copy, $2.50 for six months. Delivered to city subscribers at 50 cents per month.

THE JOURNAL.

NEW BERNE, N. C., AUG. 24, 1882.

GOVERNOR COLQUITT, of Georgia, candidate for United States senator, preacher, democrat, and Sunday school teacher, is out squarely for prohibition.

THE Republicans in this State have departed from their national reputation and practice in opposing prohibition. In Kansas they are committed without reservation to the prohibitory scheme.

MAJ. CLEM DOWD has been writing to Mr. Best suggesting a change in the route of the Midland after leaving Smithfield. He had better write him some suggestion about paying the $20,000 lease money due on the 1st of July last.

In various parts of the country the colored voters are expressing resentment against the republican party on the allegation that their votes have been demanded for the party with absolute regularity, but that they have never been admitted to the enjoyment of anything like their proportion of the spoils.

We get from the Biblical Recorder the following interesting item on the profits of silk culture in this State: From a four years' orchard of 3,000 white mulberry plants, Mr. Ed. Fasnach, of that city, reports that in April and May, with an ordinary laborer and his daughter, he gathered a crop of 200 ounces of eggs, worth $1,000, and the punctured cocoons (40 pounds) are worth 75 cents a pound, $30 or more.

Summering.
A good many people are discovering about these days that the hardest and most wearisome work of their lives is to do nothing. They have gone to some resort for pleasure or society or recreation or rest or air or cool breeze or fishing or bathing or boating, and to a greater or less extent they have found them.

many of our readers can testify, it seems singular that the resorts do not become known as places of sadness instead of mirth, and that they are not used as retreats for those who must undergo penance for overwork or overeating or some other excess. But the truth is, time-killers are much more common in this country than many suppose. To those who do nothing the year round, the opportunity to do nothing at a new place is an exhilaration and a genuine pleasure.

of loyal pride. We do feel like saying something about the beauty and attractiveness of the blue eyed, ethereal, charming young ladies, "whose sunny, luxurious loveliness filled my soul with a strange passionate delight!" But we forbear, as we do not know them; and mother told us when we left not to talk about folks that we did not know.

But the resorts also have their uses for people of busy habits. A break in the round of duty, however disagreeable, is wholesome for them. But it is good for them now and then to be caught at a do-nothing resort and be driven right home upon their own personal resources for entertainment. They may be surprised at first at the meagreness of these resources and the poor company they are in when alone.

Campaign Fund.
It has been demonstrated time and again in the management of political campaigns that the candidate who is rich, the man with the bar, as was the word in 1876, labors under a decided disadvantage. No matter how easily he may bleed, he will not satisfy the cormorants, who, in disgust, will go over to the side of the candidate who has paid out nothing.

As with the individual candidate, so with the campaign committee. The wide advertisement given to the fiscal operations of the Hubbell committee, and the contemplation of the rich resources of that committee, create the impression, probably justified by the fact, that it is in possession of an immense campaign fund. It is expected to raise not less than half a million dollars. This may be an exaggeration, but it can not be very far from the truth, for the committee has been boasting recently that it obtains more money from outside sources than from blackmailing civil servants.

Already the possession of this fund is proving a profound annoyance to the committee, and is likely to alienate many of its partisans. Demands are made upon the committee from Maine and the South which it refuses to meet. The impression is gaining ground that the members will use the money largely in their own interest, and for the election of such men as Keifer and Robeson. The result is widespread dissatisfaction among the carrion-crows of practical politics, and the probability that in sheer chagrin they will go over to the moneyless side.

To the Seashore.
To the boy who has never been farther from home than the nearest mill, and whose idea of geography is limited to a three months' term of the "Old Field" school; and whose conception of a city are no greater than the country village with two stores and a post office; a trip of a few hundred miles is a grand revelation and we have concluded to visit the Eastern part of the State, where we may feast our eyes upon the "ocean's changing wonders," and our stomach upon "the fullness thereof." The shadows of night have fallen, and we are ready to depart in peace, to a place where pleasures are more abundant. Well here we go, speeding through the darkness. Next day we arrived at the beautiful "city of oaks," where we spent a few days as pleasantly as any that have ever come to us along this dusty way of life.

district, Gen. Cox, who always does well whatever he undertakes, who has always been a success, has a shadow of opposition by one who has always been a failure. Cox has experience, has already achieved such prominence in Congress as to have been put on the Democratic Congressional executive committee, and will in the next House take a very important part.

Gen. Scales, who is honored and esteemed by men without regard to parties, a man of large experience and judgment and wisdom, it is thought will be opposed by Gen. Leach, one of "the variegated" whose years have not yet brought him discretion. Robbins and Vance have both served in Congress, and their people know them for their worth. They have made most excellent members in the past, and will take a high position in the next Congress.

The Candidates.
(News and Observer.)
A comparison between the Democratic ticket and the variegated ticket will illustrate the difference between the parties. Col. Dockery was once in Congress; what service did he render his native State or our people during that period? Did he introduce any measure for the benefit of North Carolina? Did he defend our people from the vile aspersions that were in those days so freely cast upon them? Turn to his record, and one will find nothing there calculated to advance the material interest, the welfare or the happiness of the people of North Carolina.

Trucking.
Truck farming in North Carolina is assuming immense proportions. Almost everybody who has land near the lines of transportation is going into it. If the stories told of the profits are true, this is not a matter of wonder. One man it is said sold $80,000 worth of Irish potatoes this year off his own place. Another cleared $35,000. Another, Mr. Joseph Rhem, of New Berne, went into the business five years ago with sixty acres of land, and has cleared since then $105,000, besides the increase of his land, which amounts to 900 per cent. His crop this year is worth $55,000 and it cost him $14,000. His sales for the first five days of the season averaged $3,000 a day.—Greensboro Patriot.

Tar Heels.
A Greensboro correspondent propounds this inquiry: "How did the term 'Tar Heel' originate and become to be applied to North Carolina?"
Who can answer! We have an impression it originated in the war and was first given in derision, because of the naval stores produced in the State. But if so, the splendid soldiery of the State glorified it and turned it into a title of honor. No soldiers ever had the sticking qualities more highly developed than those given to the cause of the South by North Carolina. There were more of them, too, to stick, by tens of thousands than any other State furnished. Truth, every word of it. Bah! for the immortal "Tar Heels!"—Wil. Star.
