The Graded School is now all the go. Master George Dall has imported "Tousser," a brau-new terrier from Baltimore.

The receipts at the Internal Revenue department for this district yesterday were about $900.

Mr. Ed Street was elected cotton weigher on Monday, in place of Mr. Styrum, resigned.

The Methodist Church Working Society will meet at Mr. Geo. Dall's on Wednesday night next.

Mr. Templeton takes the position of bookkeeper with J. U. Smith and Mr. Fallet is promoted to that of Receiver.

The Tiger Lily carried yesterday a large crowd of colored people over to Hyde to attend an Association.

"Able and eloquent speeches to small crowds" is the way the Greensboro Patriot says the canvass is being conducted.

Hon. C. R. Thomas of this city, as we learn from the News and Observer, has presented fifty-five volumes of books to the University Law School.

F. M. Aycock Esq., a very talented young lawyer, and Willis Brogden, a brother of the ex-Governor, are the Democratic nominees for the Legislature in Wayne.

Armstrong's Minstrels gave a capital entertainment at the Theatre last night. There are some fine voices in the troupe, and the negro personations were strikingly true to nature. The audience was well entertained.

The Kinston came in yesterday evening with 180 bales of cotton—100 through freight and 80 bales local. Among the passengers were Messrs. W. H. Rountree, J. L. Nelson, Willie Broadstreet, E. R. Hartly, W. A. Stokes and R. W. Stokes.

We learn that the Midland mail train ran off the track yesterday about three miles from Smithfield. The train was going backwards and struck a cow which threw several cars from the road. A brakeman was the only one receiving much hurt.

The Edgecombe Fair sends complimentary tickets to us and in consideration thereof wants us to tell our readers that the Fair will open on the 31st of October, and that Governors Vance and Jarvis will deliver addresses. We here-with comply.

Dr. H. D. Harper, Democratic nominee for the Senate in Pitt, and R. R. Cotton nominee for the House, have both declined. Pitt deserves a premium for producing two men who do not wish for office. Their election, we think, was reasonably sure.

The wrecked schooner Fannie E. Lawrence on the beach south of Hatteras was floated during the first part of last week, by the Baker Wrecking Co. but during a gale of wind she parted her cables and went ashore again. We understand the Baker Wrecking Co. have abandoned her.

The schooner James W. Haig, Ireland, Master, went ashore inside of Hatteras Inlet during a gale of wind from the North East last Tuesday evening, 26th Sept., and will prove a total loss. She was from Philadelphia bound to South Creek and partly loaded with hay and salt. All the crew were saved.

The Midland road is doing some good as the following extract from the Raleigh Visitor shows how Smithfield is improving under the new regime:

The old town of Smithfield is full of life, and is rapidly improving. More than a hundred bales of cotton is sold here every day. The improvements on the coast here are nearly finished when it will be one of the nicest in the State.

The Charlotte Journal has evidently heard Graber with the bells on his toes and the fiddle behind his back, and in appreciation thereof gives the following:

The Graber family are revived. They passed through the city Friday and appeared in Harper's yesterday. But no arrangements seem to follow here. They pass on to King's Mountain.

Your Name in Print.
Mrs. M. B. Dewey leaves this morning for New York to lay in a stock of millinery. She will be back in about a week and tell the JOURNAL readers all about it.

Mr. Henry C. South of Charleston, S. C., arrived on Sunday night and will take charge of the Edin this fall.

New Rice.

Mr. D. W. Cattle, of Pamlico, brought in the first new rice of the season on yesterday. It was bought by Mr. Elijah Ellis. Rice, as well as cotton, in order to bring a good price must be in good condition. The drier it is the better price it will bring.

Steamboat Gossip.

The Goldsboro, on present trip, will tow the Edin from Norfolk to Baltimore where the machinery will be put in and in a few weeks we hope to see her in our port.

About one half the stock has been taken in the new steamer to run on Trent river. We think Trent and Neuse rivers have already too many steamers on them. If some of these boats, now running up the rivers, could be transferred to the lower waters, it would be much better for New Berne's trade. There is a broad field to cultivate in Pamlico, Beaufort and Hyde.

Big Yield.

We have no doubt the editor of the Charlotte Journal will again be surprised when he reads in our Swansboro items the account of the big yield of corn. Col. Waddell knows what "poor land" in Onslow means, and when it is stated that 15 acres of this poor land is expected to yield 97 bbls of corn, it may be seen at once what a wonderful variety this new corn must be! And the story should not be denied too hastily—at least it is no greater yarn than many of the crop reports that were published in Col. Folk's Hand Book some years ago. There is a big difference in farming on poor land and on a paper.

Cotton Yesterday.

The Cotton Exchange now have on the bulletin board the New York and Liverpool cotton reports, given three times a day. Yesterday all grades, both futures and spots went off 1/4 and a corresponding fall followed here. There were sold in this market 69 bales at prices from 10 to 10 1/2 closing at 10 1/2 for middling. We give below and will give every day the last quotation from the bulletin board.

NEW YORK MARKET, SPOT.

Middling 11 7-16.
Strict low middling 11 5-10.
Low middling 11 1/2.

FUTURES:

October, 11 03.
November, 10 85.
December, 10 85.
January, 10 92.

New Berne Cotton Market.

We take pleasure in making continual reference to the high price paid for cotton in this market, and in confirmation of our claim that the very best prices are paid in New Berne, we quote extracts from the Wilmington Star, Charlotte Journal, and Raleigh News and Observer of Oct. 1st on the prices paid on the day before. Read the extracts and remember that on the same day middling cotton sold here at 10 1/2 to 10 3/4.

COTTON—Market was quoted steady, with sales reported of 1,000 bales on a basis of 10 1/2 cents per pound for Middling, a decline of 1/4 on last reports. Later we hear of a sale of 120 bales on a basis of 10 1/2 cents for Middling.—W. Star.

Yesterday the market declined 1/4. At the close of business prices were as follows: good middling 10 1/2; middling 10 1/4; strict low middling 10 1/4; low middling 10 1/4. The market closed weak and it was difficult to make sales at quotations. Sales made in the morning were at prices 1/4 over those quoted above.—News and Observer.

The market closed on September 30 quiet at the following quotations:

Good Middling	10 1/2
Middling	10 1/4
Strict Low Middling	10 1/4
Low Middling	10

—Charleston Journal.

Railroad Matters.

A day or two ago we spoke rather slightly of the appearance of Mr. Bachelor in the meeting of the stockholders of the Atlantic road last week, in that he was representing some other railroad interest. In reading the official report of the proceedings we find, however, that Mr. Bachelor was one of the most level-headed of all the members of that body. Gov. Jarvis offered a resolution permitting Judge Caruth to sit in the meeting as a member, and to cast the vote allowed W. J. Best at the meeting in June. This resolution was promptly swallowed down by the meeting, as all the other wishes of the Governor, but Mr. Bachelor had the courage to enter the following protest:

"The undersigned, a stockholder in said company and member of this meeting, for himself and others represented by him, protests against the action of this meeting in allowing Judge Caruth to act as proxy and vote and represent stock in this meeting—the said Judge Caruth not being a stockholder in this company, and the by-laws of the company providing that only a stockholder shall act as proxy in a meeting of this company."
JOS. B. BACHELOR.

We had also that Mr. Bachelor was chairman of the committee that made the report declaring the Lease void, and the following clause in that report gives the gist of the case:

"And whereas, the said The M. N. C. Railroad Company has violated the agreement and terms of said paragraph 6 of the Lease, in that it has made no arrangement, and taken no steps where-by the A. and N. C. Railroad may be made a portion of the main line of the railroad system of the said, 'The M. N. C. Railway company' from Beaufort Harbor to the Tennessee State line, and has confessed its inability to do so; and in that it has done no grading in the proposed line of railroad between Salisbury and Goldsboro since on or about Dec. 25, 1881; and in that it has laid no track thereon since on or about June 25, 1882; and in that it has constructed no portion of said proposed line since the execution of said lease, except the part thereof from Goldsboro to Smithfield, a distance of about 22 miles, and that in a careless, negligent, deceptive and unskillful manner, and in that it has not 'pushed' the work on said proposed line with energy according to its covenant and agreement, and has no intention, by express avowal, to proceed further in the construction of said proposed line under the terms, agreements and provisions of said Indenture of Lease."

Fishing.

The Star gives an account of the establishment near New Inlet of a "pound net," we believe it is called, whereby fish are captured by the wholesale. This new style of fishing is exciting considerable opposition among some of the Carteret county fishermen, one of their objections being the old exploded theory that it will catch too many fish and thus the fishermen will lose their employment. Such opposition has always been made to the introduction of labor-saving machinery, and in the end, the result has been that labor continually commands better prices where such machinery exists. It is a fact, we learn, since Messrs. Geo. N. Ives and Watson & Daniels of this city have inaugurated fishing on a large scale in and around Beaufort harbor, that the price of both fish and labor has increased, and certainly that is worth a dozen verbal arguments on the other side. We copy an extract from the Star giving description of the nets:

A kind of trap, constructed of nets, has been located near the Inlet, east of Zek's Island, running off five hundred yards from the beach into the ocean, attached to the trap is a leader three hundred and fifty feet long, extending the length of the intervening space from the shore, which cuts off the fish which ever way they may be swimming, and as they generally make for deep water whenever they meet with an obstruction in the more shoaly places, and as the trap is located in deep water, they naturally turn, and following the direction of the leader, swim directly into a heart-shaped contrivance which serves as an ante-room to the trap, through an aperture on each side of the leader, and thence into the trap itself, from whence very few of the imprisoned fish ever find their way out. Here they are pocketed, as it is termed, by raising the centre of the trap, which throws them into small net compartments at the sides of the sub marine prison, whence they are scooped out at will. The trap is perfectly round, and with its attachments, is kept in position and supported by twenty-five anchors, weighing fifty pounds each, and by pilings, to which the nets are attached by lines. Four sharpies are employed in the business, two in attending the nets and two in bringing the fish to market. The fish-trapping arrangement altogether cost $2,500, and it takes $400 a month to fish it.

The trap is entirely a new enterprise in these parts; at least, nothing of the sort has been attempted south of Cape Lookout, at which place there are two located; but they are quite numerous on the New England coast, where the idea originated. It is very likely that in time they will entirely supersede the small seines now so commonly used.

Markets for the fish so caught are found in this State, South Carolina and Georgia, while not a few are shipped to the Northern cities, and as the demand is constantly increasing it is fair to presume that the facilities for supplying it will continue to multiply.

A Big Walnut Log.

Mr. J. R. Wallace of Eastfield post-office, Cabarrus county, hauled to the city and sold to Mr. Josiah Asbury, a Walnut log 4 feet in diameter, and not quite 11 feet long. Mr. Asbury sawed it up and got 700 feet of good lumber from it. The log is the largest cut in this section for years. Its value here is about $35. In the north it would be worth from $75 to $100.—Charlotte Journal.

YADKIN COUNTY.

(Winston Republican.)

We were in attendance Monday and Tuesday of Court in Yadkinville this week, Judge Gudger presiding. The crowd was unusually small for Yadkin. The criminal docket, numbering some 80 cases, was in charge of W. B. Glenn, Esq., of this city, Solicitor Dobson being too unwell to attend. There were no cases of importance. In fact neither lawyers or people are taking much interest in the courts, politics engaging the attention of all. From our observations we must say Yadkin is the worst "mixed" of any county we know of. Always and under every emergency straight-out Republican, by at least 200 majority, Liberalism has played the mischief with the party. At least three out of four Republicans are anti-York, and for Cook for Congress. The county ticket, acknowledged to be a strong one, is in great danger owing to this dissension, and unless the wisest councils of the best men in the party prevail the result will be calamitous. On the other hand the Democrats are suffering more from lethargy than divisions. Content with the opposition of the Republicans to the Liberal ticket, they are standing with hands off, not a speech having been delivered by them during the court. Judge Furches, Liberal, spoke Monday at the noon hour. Dr. Cook, Independent Republican candidate for Congress, at the same hour. The attendance and attention of the people to these gentlemen were in marked contrast

DIED.

In this city at 11 o'clock, a. m., Monday, October 23, 1882, Mrs. Sarah F. Fulford, wife of Joseph Fulford, after a painful illness of five weeks, aged 60 years.

The citizens are invited to attend her funeral at 4 o'clock this, Tuesday, evening from Christ Church.

Swansboro Items.

M. Russell's steam engine has arrived and he will be ginning out cotton by the wholesale in a day or so.

All quiet now; very healthy; doctors still starving and the candidates are spending their money and breath freely. N. J. Green speaks here to-day, and the county candidates commence their canvass next week.

Mr. C. B. Frazzell has closed his school; so has Mr. G. W. Ward, the latter being a candidate for Register of Deeds, had to stop his school to join in the canvass. After he is beaten he will take his school again.

Mr. G. W. Smith has just received the largest stock of goods ever brought to Onslow county since the war. Says he has a $9,000 stock and reckons he has, by the looks of them, John Pittman has a fine stock also, so has Nash Dennis and E. W. Mattocks.

All the visitors gone except Mrs. F. G. Simmons of New Berne, and Mrs. Eli W. Sanders and Miss Lila J. Mattocks of Carteret county, with a few others. Hope by the next season we will have a large hotel here.

Crops are tolerable as to cotton, good as to corn. Mr. John Holland, jr., planted 15 acres poor upland in corn and made about 97 bbls corn on the 15 acres without any manure, but it was a new kind of corn; he says he got the seed from Mr. Ironmonger of New Berne, and thinks on good land with fair cultivation 3 bbls per acre may be gotten. The stalks bear from three to six ears each. Think every farmer ought to get some of this corn.

Mr. Jas. O. Frazzell, living at Piney Green, about 12 miles from here, lost his house and store by fire last Thursday night. Mr. F. was in his house asleep. The first warning he had was the explosion of powder in his store. He ran out and found his dwelling house and store both in a blaze on top. The buildings were set on fire by some one. Mr. F. did not save anything of much value, as no one was there to help him, not even his wife, who was in New Berne at the time. There was some insurance on the property, but not enough to cover near the loss. Mr. F. had just about finished his new house and had a good stock of goods just bought, and in two hours time all is swept away. Mr. Frazzell is a very clever gentleman and a good man, and did not know that he had an enemy in the world, especially of that kind.

After a storm generally comes a calm; such is the case here at this time. We have had severe weather for over a week—cold north winds, heavy rains, etc. Last Wednesday evening the heaviest rain fell here that we have seen for many a day; cotton washed out, potatoes almost ruined, but today everything looks like sunshine. Calm and pleasant—looks as though there never was a hard wind or heavy rain in this neighborhood. The shift of weather made it good on the fishermen. Mulletts swarmed all over the land. All the fishermen now are as stiff as you please—pocket full of money and plenty of fish on hand to last them two years if no more comes in that time. Capt. Heady caught 100 bbls, Capt. Yeomans 75 bbls, Capt. Guthrie 75 bbls, Capt. C. Moore 60 bbls, Capt. N. S. Moore 50 bbls and Capt. R. Smith 100 bbls all in one day's time, and as many more at different times during the week ending Saturday, September 30th, 1882, and as large mulletts as ever you saw—roe mulletts. They sell readily for 31 cents per pound. All who are in want of good fish and plenty of them, also fish roe, come to Swansboro and get them at once.
