The lumber for the "cotton yard" came in on the Trent last night.

Three marriage licenses issued during the week by the Register of Deeds. All colored.

Mr. T. P. Clarke, the assistant Postmaster in this city showed us a T-T pipe stem yesterday, and says we can get bushels of them at Morganton.

Mr. Daniel Lane brought in on Saturday three magnificent pears, weighing jointly two pounds. No need to go North for fruit when we have such a penetrating nose.

Mr. Adams, of the revenue cutter Stevens reports that the cutter passed the schooners Addie Hill and Addie Henry on Friday evening off Southwest Point lighthouse, bound for Baltimore with lumber.

The firm of Holland & Guion have an imported "terrier" sent by the way from Wilmington, sent by the editor of the New South. It looks rather like a newspaper dog—keen-eyed, energetic body and a penetrating nose.

"A rousing, harmonious, enthusiastic Convention!" said Mr. Manix of the Democratic County Convention yesterday, when about a dozen Democrats assembled and made county nominations. He could not say "turbulent," "riotous" and "disgraceful," as was applied on the other side of the house a few weeks ago.

Mr. Fred Maler, the Baker on South Front, complains that he could sell no bread on Friday. Says his customers were all fasting and praying in contemplation of the comet's coming in contact with the sun at 9 o'clock on Saturday morning. As there was no "smash up," probably they bought double rations on yesterday.

Our attention has been called to the fact that we had three Norfolk cotton Commission merchants advertising in the JOURNAL, and a few days ago we spoke of only two. An unintentional error on our part. We take pleasure in recommending any desirous of shipping to send to Rountree & Co., or Parker & Carr or to Adam Tredwell & Co., all of whom have solicited your patronage through our columns.

As our Daily edition containing the Rules and Regulations of the Graded School run short, we will reproduce the same in the Weekly JOURNAL, and any family who wishes can get a copy next week. We take pleasure in calling occasional attention to the mammoth Weekly now issued by us. It will speak for itself in comparison with any paper in the State, and is calculated to render material assistance in pushing forward New Berne's industries.

"I accept the nomination for the Senate," said Mr. Henry R. Bryan, "upon the Platform adopted by the Democratic State Convention." We imagine Mr. George H. White or Mr. W. E. Clarke, Mr. Bryan's opponents, will give him a lively canvas in trying to reconquer the county government clause with the election of revenue officers. Better drop the Platform and make the issue on the record of the two parties on economy, and the superiority of the State Democratic nominees.

The plan and specifications of the Gymnasium building arrived yesterday from Philadelphia. They can be seen at Mr. R. O. E. Lodge's store, next door to the JOURNAL office. We suggest that the ladies in the city ought to stop in and look at the plan of the building. The Gymnasium, when completed, will be a great source of pleasure to them, and they ought now to encourage the men in pushing it forward. The building is a magnificent one, but it will take money to get it up—and that part of the problem must be solved before much further progress is made.

At the Convention held at the court house on Saturday, H. R. Bryan Esq. was unanimously nominated for the Senate and Wm. B. Lane for the House. They both came in after the nominations were made and accepted. The Convention was thinly attended. Mr. J. C. Olin of North Creek called upon, and was making some able speech on the tariff question, when Mr. Lane came in by request of friends he cut short his speech in order to give Mr. Lane an opportunity to accept the nomination.

A motion was introduced that no further nominations be made but the Executive Committee declined to bill vacancies if they were.

City Churches.

Christ church, Pollock street, Rev. V. W. Shields Rector. 11 a. m., morning prayer and sermon. 5 p. m., evening prayer—holy baptism. (7:30, holy communion at St. Cyprians). Prayers Wednesday morning at the Chapel on George street, and Friday morning and evening at the Church.

The public are cordially invited to the services of this church. Free seats for all visitors.

Your Name is Print.

Mr. N. B. Outlaw of Duplin was in the city yesterday. He says Col. Green is exceedingly popular in Duplin. Wasmom's speeches in Duplin have solidified the white votes against all Republicans.

Mr. R. H. Hilton and bride arrived on Friday night from Baltimore. His many friends tender their congratulations.

Mr. George Wardworth has returned to make New Berne his home. He has gained fifteen pounds of flesh since moving to Dr. Blackhall's at Raleigh, although that is not to be wondered at, since he was in a fine position to add on extra weight.

Mayor's Court.

Mag Farrer and Rose Simmons were up on Saturday for being drunk and cursing on the streets. They both plead guilty, and it appeared from the testimony that they were old offenders. The policemen asked the court to send Mag out of the city, as she gave them a great deal of trouble.

His Honor ordered that Mag be confined in jail for twenty days and then be made to leave the city.

"No sir, I ain't gwine to leave the city. I don't know nothing about dem country niggers, I ain't gwine," said Mag with a toss of the head.

The Marshal was instructed to see that she left the city at the expiration of the 20 days. Rose was discharged on paying a fine of $3.00 and cost.

Cotton Yesterday.

New York Futures went off several points yesterday, and New Berne prices advanced very appreciably. This was owing to the fact that some of the buyers are governed entirely by the Liverpool market, and at that place there was an advance both in "spots" and "futures." The day's sales amounted to 114 bales from 10 1/2 to 10.65, middling cotton being in demand at 10 1/2. The week's sales at the Exchange foot up 710 bales.

Gossip Through the Telephone.

The station house "plant" having been fixed up by the Marshal, wrung in at Campbell's with a steamboat man and got loaded up again.

He then resumed his place on the witness bench in his old quarters with his leg ear to the telephone. He reports:

Policeman Hurr in the office asks Hardison at the Theatre:

"What's the matter up there; sounds like a high tide beating under a wharf?"

"No row, Mr. Jesse Kennedy of Lenoir county crying over the woes of Hazel Kirke. The whole audience was in tears."

"Alph, I can't find Ballance & Co's. 'It's next to states.'"

"No. Hall's is on one side and Kirk's on the other."

"Who is Kirke?"

"Don't know; but he has his sign out."

"Excelsior."

"Oh."

"Bill, where is Prof. Fetter now?"

"Garysburg, what do you want, Elizabeth?"

clothes I would not keep him waiting any longer."

"I believe you, aunt Maria."

"Frank they say Kate Desmond cried for Billy Morris' fan last night. She said (her last words) 'that fan! six yards of ribbon! too precious sweet! I despair droopingly!'"

"Billy says, you go to—"

"Go where?"

"Go to Baker's and buy her a—"

"Oh! all right."

"Mr. Gaskins, tell John Mayo—"

"Tell him yourself."

"John—"

"Line it out, line it out."

"John, prar meetin' at sister Wilet's dis evenin'. It's time to put on de milk-wite robe and trim dem wegin lamps. De comic an' de sun meets tomorrow and dey ain't no mo light arter dat."

"When de ginral roll is called we'll be dare, me and Melindy."

"Halleluia."

"Same to you."

"Walter is that you?"

"This is I."

"When do you get off?"

"In about an hour."

"Goodbye old boy; wish you good luck and long life. I hear she is rich. Don't let that trouble you. You will soon become reconciled to it."

"My regards to Dr. Capehart at Avoca. Farewell."

The officers on duty began to talk politics with Jim Hargett at Hackburns and the "s. h. p." dropped into a doze. He dreamt he was a naiaid sitting on a pile of the Athletic Club House gazing at the comet. He woke to find the Mayor holding court and himself on trial for vagrancy.

Cotton Markets.

Our friends of the New Berne Journal compare the cotton markets of Charlotte, Raleigh, New Berne and Wilmington as based on the quotations of Sept. 30th, to show the advantages of New Berne as a cotton market. Wilmington as a general thing courts a comparison with the best of cotton markets, but on the particular occasion referred to our serious disadvantage. And then the Journal, unintentionally no doubt, quotes the STAR incorrectly, or one-quarter of a cent below our lowest published quotations for the day, which does our market an injustice.—Wil. Star.

If you will refer to your files you will see that we quoted your market correctly. We quoted Middling only and not Good Middling, for we do not get that grade in this market and wished to compare similar grades.

We consider it a high compliment to New Berne to be able to give as much for cotton as is paid in Wilmington, for it is admitted that that city has been the best market in the State; and if "want of freight room" was the trouble a week ago it is no better now, for the Wilmington market, in the Star from which we take the paragraph above, is quoted: "Middling 10 1/2," while same grade sold on same date in New Berne at same price.

Kinston Items.

Cotton went down to 9 1/2 cents last Thursday; it rose to 10c. Friday. Seed cotton sells at 3 1/2 to 4c. Receipts pretty good; business still very dull.

As "Old Bart" was being carried home from a grogshop last evening with more liquor than he could carry, he was hailed by a chap with "Hello, what's the matter." "Why-hie-why the fact ishishome of my friends have been betting on the election and have got me to hold the stakes."

A few days since while "Old Bart" and his friend were discussing the character of Uncle Richard, the friend inquired if Uncle Richard was a gentleman. "Gentleman!" exclaimed "Old Bart" with unutterable scorn, "I should think not indeed—why he never owed a hundred dollars in his life—"

Justice Fields had before him last week Lewis Bryan, Rev. Moses Anderson and Calvin Johnson, all colored, charged with hog stealing. The first was committed to jail in default of bail to answer at our next Superior court. Moses Anderson was committed in default of bail for further hearing, while Calvin Johnson was bailed in $200 for further hearing and has decamped, leaving his bail, Wm. Hunter, the bag to hold.

Justice Coleman, independent candidate for Superior Court Clerk and Lewis Grady, independent for county treasurer, have withdrawn from the contest and retired to the "post of honor, a private station." Grady's campaign jug will, however, be kept full for the consolation of himself and his friends, while the save leg argument will be used to compel the "Prohibition-no-fence legislator" to "tarry a while longer at Jericho."

Norfolk Local.

(Norfolk Landmark.)

Justice B. T. Tatem is yet seriously ill.

Nearly everybody has gotten back from the Springs.

The Rev. W. W. Wood, of the Cumberland Street Baptist Church, is seriously ill.

The schooner Ellen M. Golden sailed for New York yesterday, having finished her repairs.

The fishery along the Bay shores are reported as not as successful as in previous seasons.

The New York steamer brought on Wednesday evening 850,000 pounds "through freight."

The schooner A. H. Kanne was hauled up for painting at the shipyard of Capt. Graves Wednesday.

A cart from the country, loaded with barreled potatoes, broke an axle yesterday in leaving the Berkley ferry. Cargo saved.

A white man residing in the eastern part of the city made an attempt at suicide with a razor on Tuesday night, but failed.

A number of young Indians, male and female, arrived from New York on Tuesday, en route for the Normal School at Hampton.

Rev. Dr. Burrows, of the Free-mason Street Baptist Church, will preach at Salem Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

STATE NEWS.

Gleaned from our Exchanges.

Oxford Free Lance: At a called conference of the Baptist Church last Sunday, the resignation of Rev. C. A. Jenkins as pastor was formally accepted. This event had been expected by his congregation for some time, in consequence of the throat affection of which he has been suffering for the past year, Mr. Jenkins goes to Warsaw, where he will take charge of a school.

Newbernian: Our river steamers are now kept constantly on the go laden to the gannet with freights. Our merchants complain that this week has been one of the dullest, considering the season of the year, they have ever experienced in New Berne.—Several boats loaded with oysters have been in the market basin during the week. The oysters were a little better than the average at this season of the year.—Rice is now beginning to come in quite freely, the lots that have so far been placed on the market were of rather a superior quality; prices are not yet fully established, ruling at present from 95 cts. to $1.05 per bushel.
