On Tuesday a JOURNAL reporter hearing a rumor that a man near Bath, ia Beaufort county, had found a large quantity of gold under a stump in Pamlico river, at once made for the market dock and boarded the schooner Dolphis in search of the particulars.

Reporter: 'Is this Capt. Stowe's?' "Yes sir."

"Where are you from, Captain?" "I am from Bath."

"Do you know a man over there by the name of Harris?"

"Yes sir."

"Has he got any money?" "Well," said the Captain, smilingly,

I should think he ought to have, for he has just found, about two weeks ago, one hundred pieces of gold, each the size of a $20 piece."

"Ah! how? when? where?" etc.
