The Colliery sailed last night with about 800 bales of cotton.

Proposals for building the Gymnasium are postponed to Nov. 15th.

The Register of Deeds issued two marriage licenses during the past week. Both to whites.

Maj. Dennison's ginning establishment, ginned and packed 14 bales of cotton in 4 hours on last Thursday evening.

The Cutter came in from Trenton yesterday evening with 58 bales of cotton, and the Duke of Quaker Bridge Road as passenger.

About 800 bushels of rice in the market yesterday. Fifty bushels of this—extra nice—brought $1.15. The balance brought from 90 to $1.10.

The local acknowledges the receipt of a fine oyster supper "set up" by Mr. Perry, of the Exchange Lunch Room. They were of the Broad Creek variety.

Turkey and duck and oysters at 10 p. m. was what the JOURNAL office had to submit to last night. Fred Perry's Lunch Room was the cause of the trouble.

Eggs have ruled higher in this market for the past year than for many years before; yet they are cheaper than in most of the towns or cities in this portion of the State.

The steamer "Greenwich" Capt. John Sackett, from New York, on its way to Florida, put into this port last evening. She has injured one of the blades on the propeller and is to go on Howard's dry dock for repairs.

The Democratic (?) candidates in Pamlico county advertised that they would address the people at Vandemere on the 14th inst.; when the time arrived they had an audience of just two. Dr. Abbott kindly offered to swell the crowd with the addition of his mill hands, if the speakers would defer their demosthenic efforts till after 6 o'clock, at which hour he usually knocks off work. As the Wilmington Star is wont to explain, organize, organize—Newspaper DOT STAR SIGN.

New Berne—Newbern.
 The cerata questio of the right spelling of our city arises in a communication of Rev. Mr. Forbes' criticism of the spelling of Pollocksville.

The question has often been discussed in the papers of this city, and we think two things have been definitely settled: First, that Newbern is the legal name of the city; and second, that it was named after Berne in Switzerland, and the eternal fitness of things would demand the name of New Bernie. On this account the JOURNAL chooses to write it with the capital "B," although it acknowledges the other spelling to be in accordance with Legislative enactment.

Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal Company.
 The twenty-seventh annual meeting of the stockholders of this company was held in their office in this city yesterday. Marshall Parks, Esq., was re-elected President for the twenty-eighth time. The President read a brief report to the meeting showing the receipts and expenditures during the past year, and also what progress has been made in the construction of the Newbern and Beaufort Canal, and improvements now being made on the Fairfield Canal. These works when completed will be of great service to Eastern North Carolina, and afford the farmers of that section a cheap system of transportation for their products to the markets of the country.

Cotton Yesterday.
 Only 61 bales changed hands at the Exchange yesterday. The week's work shows 1307 bales against 1314 same week 1-st year. Thus far October falls behind same month last year about 300 bales. Prices yesterday remained unchanged. Liverpool futures rating dull and New York firm.

Campaign Nonsense.

On the corner of South Front and Middle streets about a dozen colored men assembled on Saturday morning and began to discuss the merits and demerits of the two Republican candidates for Sheriff. As the discussion proceeded the crowd gradually increased—every passer-by stopping to listen a little—until a JOURNAL reporter's attention was attracted hence.

"Timson is paying the laboring man more money dan enny body else. He pays from $4.50 to $30.00 a week."

"Dat ain't so; he don't pay 'em but 75 cents an' I kin prove it."

"Now tell me dis; spose Hahn sells you a hoss—doubt any money—how many does dat hoss feed? Sometimes a whole family."

"Spouse your want lumber to build a house; go to Timson and you get it, ef you aint got de money."

"Spouse your hoss dies where Hahn sells you. He'd go and sell the last cheer you had to pay for him."

"Yes, but he'd sell you another one, spouse your house git burnt?"

"Well, Timson would let you have lumber to build another."

"What has Hahn done? What has he done dat de people should be denominated?"

"Nothing, nothing!"

"Killed Christ."

"Somebody had to kill him; ef de jews hadn't of done it de gentiles would."

"We talk about de jews crucifying Christ, we ourselves are crucifying him every day."

"De scriptures don't say dat."

"Dei do."

"Dei don't. I like for you to show it to me. It says what we ought not to do, and what we ought to do, but it don't tell what we are doin."

"Gemmen," said an old gray bearded fellow that had just stepped up, "you may talk about de jews doin' dis, dat, and tudder, but I tells you some of us is jews dis day!" (Great sensation.)

"Yes, yes, yes; we're jews."

"De scriptures say de jews shall go to all nations, and shall wonder!! but it don't say dey shall reign over us."

"De scriptures say dis," said one who seemed to know exactly what he was talking about, "he dat believes shall be saved; he dat disbelieves shall be damned."

"Do you know what this fellow is after?" said Moses Phelps, who had been passing all the while and throwing in a word, as he caught hold of a Stimson man.

"No," replied several.

"He's gwine up to Timson's dis evening and draw rations."

The meeting adjourned until 8 o'clock next Saturday morning.

Trade of the Week.

Though the past week has been the most active at the Cotton Exchange, still we hear the cry of dull times among some of the merchants. They say they have never seen it so dull for this season of the year; but we think this more imaginary than real. We find the complaint pretty general with the dry goods merchants, while the grocery men report their trade for the past week from fair to good, but not as good as expected. The hardware men report from very dull to a satisfactory trade; the furniture dealers say nothing extra for the week; the jewellers report fair trade, as there were some marriages this week; the milliners say November is their time—dull now.

CAUSE OF THE DULLNESS.

The dull season, if indeed it is duller than usual, is accounted for in several ways. A furniture dealer gives this explanation: Short crop, low price and high provisions. To illustrate, said he, a man came in the other day who generally makes about 30 bales of cotton a year, and called for a bedstead, and to my surprise, nothing better than a two dollar and a half bedstead would suit him; though he had sold that day 10 or 15 bales of cotton, yet a 35 gold piece was all the money he had. When I remonstrated with him upon the silliness of a man making as much cotton as he does and then buying such a cheap piece of furniture, he declared that it was the best he could do. You see, he continued, he had to go across the street there and pay to one man over $300 for provisions furnished during the summer, and by the time he paid for bagging, ties, freight etc. there was not much left of that lot.

Others say that the country stores are full of goods, and the facilities for shipping are so much better than formerly that farmers see no use in coming to the city. They can get their supplies nearer home; can ship their cotton to commission merchants, and thus save both time and money.

While there may be some truth in both these statements, yet we think there is no cause for gloom. In the first place we do not think the season so much duller than heretofore. People are liable to forget dates and transactions. We hardly think a season passes but some one will complain that business is dull. In the second place we think the season being later and the price going down—which causes farmers to hold as long as possible—is the main cause of the light trade so far.

The pretty weather for the past week has enabled the farmers to prepare their crops for market. A little advance in the price now would cause them to bring it in and then trade would be brisk.

Pollockville—Pollockville.

MR. EDITOR:—I beg leave to call your attention to one error appearing in the letter of Rev. E. M. Forbes of 23d inst., which I presume, however, was a lapsus penne, as otherwise he would utterly destroy his argument as to legislative authority. He says: "You will find it so written in the old records of New Berne."

Are there any old records of New Berne? You will find in the old records of the State that in the 9th year of the reign of George I., 23d November, 1733, O. S., "An Act for the better settling of the town of Newbern" was passed, wherein "a certain plot of ground late belonging to the Honourable Colonel Thomas Pollock, deceased, * * * formerly laid out into a township by the name of Newbern * * * together with as much other land lying contiguous * * * as shall make the whole 250 acres * * * declared, confirmed and incorporated with a township by the name of Newbern." There has been no change of name by legislative authority, which is the only competent authority to act, since 1733. And Mr. Editor, before you commence to spell Pollockville, Pollockville, would it not be well to see if the same authority, in its great wisdom, did not see fit to drop the "c" in that, as it did the big "B" and the little "a" in the case of Newbern.

NATIVE.

Grand O'Hara and Stimson Ratification Meeting and Torchlight Procession.

OVER 2,000 VOTERS PARTICIPATE IN THE DEMONSTRATION!

MR. EDITOR:—Pursuant to previous notice a grand O'Hara and Stimson ratification meeting took place in New Berne on Friday evening, Oct. 27th, 1882. Over two thousand voters from all parts of the county and city joined in the demonstration. The large procession formed at the headquarters of the Stimson Campaign Club, on Middle street, at half-past 8 o'clock, and, with many carrying torches and transparencies in hand, marched with brass band in front through the principal streets of the city to the court house. The building was completely filled with human beings.

The meeting was called to order by I. B. Abbott, Esq., the chairman of the Republican County Executive Committee, after which Robt. C. Kehoe, Esq., was elected permanent chairman and secretary.

Speeches were made by Hons. L. J. Moore, Jas. E. O'Hara, Geo. H. White, Daniel Stimson, Esq., and Robt. B. Lehman, Esq. The meeting was the largest political gathering that has been held in New Berne in ten years. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed.

Resolutions endorsing Hon. James E. O'Hara for Congress and Daniel Stimson, Esq., for Sheriff of Craven county, Hon. Geo. H. White for the Senate, I. H. Lawson for the House and the rest of the Stimson ticket were unanimously adopted by that vast assemblage of people.

[COMMUNICATED.]

EDITOR JOURNAL:—It having been circulated by bad designing men that I had received from Mr. Daniel Stimson fifteen dollars through the hands of Mr. C. H. Russell, and while speaking to good citizens of the 5th ward in the city of New Berne last Thursday night, the 26th inst., one Quash Slade asked me the question, where about was that fifteen dollars Mr. Stimson sent me by Mr. Russell, I told him I would find out where it was and let the good people of Craven county know through your paper, and I think the following certificate will even satisfy Mr. Slade and the rest of them:

NORTH CAROLINA,
 Craven County,
 I, C. H. RUSSELL, do hereby state that I never paid to Rev. S. B. Hunter fifteen dollars for D. Stimson nor for any one else.

C. H. RUSSELL,
 Sworn to and subscribed before me this 26th October, A. D. 1882.

W. G. BRINSON, J. P.

Now having done as I promised, will Mr. Slade, as a good citizen, tell the people of Craven about the three bales of cotton he had weighed and received pay for when he only had two bales. Where the third bale came from and who it belonged to, and his manner of changing two bales of cotton into three in such a short time is a mystery to good honest people would like to know.

Job, 38th chapter and 3d verse: "Curl up now thy loins like a man, for I will demand of thee and answer thou me."

S. B. HUNTER,
 to QUASH SLADE.

Kinston Items.

George R. Tull Esq., son of J. G. Tull, formerly of New Berne, and Miss Rowena Tull, daughter of John Tull Esq., of this county, were united in marriage on the 25th inst. at the residence of the bride's father near Kinston, by Rev. E. E. Orvis. The happy couple took the train next morning for Philadelphia, to remain with their relatives there until Christmas.

The whole of Friday was occupied with the case of the State against Wm. C. Collins, colored, charged with the murder of his own child, the solicitor prosecuting and M. A. Gray, Dan'l. E. Perry and J. R. Uzzell conducting the defence under assignment by the court. The jury took the case about 5 o'clock p. m., and at this writing had not agreed.

Our postmaster, J. W. Collins Esq., has been made chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of Lenoir county, Uncle Richard resigning. The Pope of Contentnea expected the place, but Uncle Richard "enchered" him, having the appointment made in his absence and without his knowledge; yet as between the two men, so far as Uncle Richard is concerned, it is only a "jump from the frying pan into the fire."

Our Superior Court was engaged all day last Thursday on the case of the State against Henry Kennedy, charged with the murder of Lewis Croom. The jury took the case about 10 o'clock Thursday night and, so far, has failed to agree. They are divided up into three "fractions"—a murder fraction—a manslaughter fraction and an acquittal fraction. They do, however, agree in one important point—fried chicken for breakfast and whisky straight for a settler.

Your Kinston Remizer has been absent from home this week, attending the U. S. Court at New Berne and helping to run that national institution. It is a "high consolation," as Jacky Bryan would say, that he received good pay for his services—had but very little to do and was well provided for at the Central Hotel, where his old acquaintance, Moses Patterson, caters to the wants of mankind. The best thing he found, however, in New Berne was at Whitman's "peep of day," where he took in several "keelers" of milk punch, the nectar of the gods—which Sam Lofin prescribes as the best settler for heavy meals.

The Star of Uncle Richard is in the ascendant—he is looking up higher, even ad astra. The small places of justice of the peace and State Senator no longer claim the ambition of one who ranks himself with Grant as a warrior, with Coking as a debater, and with Edmunds as a lawyer. Realizing that it is the unexpected that happens, he is looking for the fulfillment of Gen. Fred B. Lofin's promise to take him on his shoulders and "dump him into Gen. Ransom's seat in the U. S. Senate, if, as the News and Observer says, the Republicans get the next legislature. Ah! Uncle Richard!

"Tickle me Dicky, tickle me too, Tickle me Dicky and I'll tickle you."

The morning after it was announced here that Hubbs "had gone to his reward," Uncle Richard, Sheriff Davis, Lawyer Perry, our post master and E. Grady Esq., the late pale faced delegate, looked like they had taken their breakfast at a green persimmon tree and washed it down with alum water. All, however, have succumbed to the inevitable, and even Uncle Richard has "come down on his marrow bones" before O'Hara and congratulated him on having an open field. A noble spectacle indeed is the "great moral statesman" of Lenoir on his knees before a candidate whom he had publicly and wickedly charged with having two wives and with having perjured himself before a Congressional Committee!!!

The Wilmington Democrats are evidently lukewarm chaps. Ransom and Vance have both been sent there to stir them up. Vance spoke on Thursday night and Ransom on Friday night.

A Big Charlotte Business.

A Brookfield clothing manufacturer of this city, made one shipment last week of 270 pairs of pants to one firm on the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta road. He gives employment to considerably over one hundred women, and advertises for fifty more. This is the sort of business which makes cities of inland towns.—Charlotte Journal.
