Last day of October.
The thermometer was up to summer heat yesterday.

A carnival and masquerade is on docket for the skating rink next Friday night.

The South Crookers drew on New Berne for six wagon loads of cotton pickers yesterday.

The burnt cotton in the railroad freight yard will be sold at auction this morning at 10 o'clock.

John Allen Jackson and others, Greenbackers, will speak in James City Friday night, Nov. 3d, 1882.

Federal supervisors of the election to be held next Tuesday have been appointed for Craven county.

The ladies of the Methodist church, will have a dime party at the parsonage this Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

One thousand four hundred bushels of rice in the market yesterday. Prices ranged from 85 to $1.02 per bushel.

Esq. Stanly tells us that the Republicans are becoming disgusted with the Hahn and Stinson movements and are going to vote for Daniel Davis.

Mrs. A. R. Dennison and Miss Louise Dennison have requested to be elected to membership privileges of the New Berne Athletic and Social Club.

We were mistaken in our rice quotations in Sunday's issue. We thought our informant was from headquarters and knew the price, but in this we were mistaken.

The steamer Defiance, from Baltimore of the Clyde line, discharged a large cargo of freight at her wharf on Monday morning and sailed last night with a cargo of 800 bales of cotton.

The steamer Goldsboro, on her last trip, brought in a large boiler and engine for L. J. Haughton. It is for his Jones county plantation and will be carried up by the steamer Trent tomorrow.

Mr. R. O. E. Lodge has the agency of the celebrated "Rush" skate and, in the interest of the Gymnasium Association, offers to order skates for any desiring them, at manufacturers prices, which is 25 per cent discount on retail prices. Hands on an order to-day.

Pollock.
The spelling of Pollockville is not settled yet. We learn that old deeds bearing the signature of George Pollock are in the possession of Mr. A. G. Barnes of Pollockville. Bring out the proof; we would like to have the matter settled.

Change of Schedule.
The Superintendent of the Midland Railroad informs us that in the interest of the fishermen at Beaufort the old schedule will be resumed tomorrow for three or four weeks. This change is made solely for the benefit of the fishermen who had resolved to stop fishing if the present schedule continued.

In to the End.
Mr. Daniel Davis, the Greenback candidate for sheriff, requests us to state that he is in the field to stay until the voting is all over. He thinks the report will be spread abroad, just on the eve of the election, that he has declined, and to counteract such rumors, he now announces to his friends that he will fight it through to the end.

Silver Steamers.
The L. H. Cutler cleared for Trenton yesterday with merchandise.
The Trent sailed for Bay river yesterday with merchandise.
The Contentment sailed for Bell's Ferry yesterday.
The Neuse arrived last Saturday night with 111 bales of cotton and sailed on Monday morning for Jolly Old Field with merchandise.

Reduced Rates for Carrying Money.
The Southern Express Company has reduced the tariff for carrying money so as to make it cheaper than postoffice money orders. The following are the rates:
Sums of $30 and under, 15 cents
Sums over $30 to $40, inclusive, 20 "
Sums over $40 to $50, inclusive, 25 "
Sums over $50 to $75 inclusive, 40 "

Mayor's Court.
Louisa Harris, col., was before the court yesterday morning for loud talking and cursing on the public streets. Fine $3.00 and cost.
H. W. Bardsley was up for being drunk and cursing on the streets. He was asked to contribute $5.00 to the funds of the city treasury and pay the cost.

Gymnasium.

The secretary of the New Berne Athletic and Social Club, Mr. R. O. E. Lodge, has just received the Certificates of stock for the members of the Club. This certificate is very tasteful in design, and it is suggested that all the members come forward at once and pay up and get it from the secretary. The contract for building is to be given out on the 15th of November, and it is desired that all subscriptions be paid up before that date.

Romeo and Juliet

Were murdered twice last night—once by poison and before that by the acting. Romeo was a trifle true to life—about as much as the silly lover would expect to prove. The Juliet was the school girl of actual life and not of the stage.

In this criticism we do not say the troupe is without merit—only that it is not suited to Shakesperian tragedy. The playing is about equal to the Florence Richmond troupe which held the boards in Raleigh during Fair week. To-night they give a new play—The Lady of Lyons.

Cotton Yesterday.

One hundred and twelve bales of cotton sold at the Exchange yesterday. It was the dulllest day of the season, until late in the evening, the buyers were very backward. Spots were firm and unchanged in New York. Futures went off a few points during the day. The prices here ranged from 91 to 10.10. Mr. Wm. Dunn obtained the last named price for three bales raised from Ozier seed.

Your Name in Print.

Mr. J. S. Morton, of the firm of Morton & Son of Harlowe, was in the city on Monday with a lot of cotton for sale. He says the Hahn men are sweeping the field in his section.

Sheriff Davis, the Greenbacker, was in to see us on Monday. He reports the speaking at Swift Creek on Saturday as very boisterous.

Senator Matt Ransom was in the city on Sunday, the guest of his brother, Gen. Robt. Ransom. He left yesterday morning for Beaufort where he had an appointment to speak last night. The Senator is looking well and is making a vigorous canvass.

Messrs. H. R. Bryan, M. D. W. Stevenson, L. J. Moore, C. R. Thomas, F. M. Simmons and Clement Manly are attending Carteret court.

Col. John N. Whitford was in the city yesterday. He has completed the canvass of Onslow, and says the prospects are very encouraging for the Democrats. He will complete the canvass of Jones this week.

Rev. L. C. Vass left for Winston yesterday to attend the Sunday School State Convention. He is to deliver an address before the Convention, and also one before a mass meeting of the children.

Rev. R. O. Barton, P. E. Wilmington district, M. E. Church, was in the city yesterday.

Miss Carrie Rishton, a teacher of the Goldsboro Graded school, was in the city on Sunday and returned to Goldsboro yesterday.

Mr. E. Hubbs, special agent of the treasury department, left on a trip South yesterday evening.

Miss Sadie Manly took the train for Goldsboro yesterday evening.

Gen. W. G. Lewis, of Raleigh, is in the city.

Maj. W. A. Blount, of Beaufort, was in the city yesterday and left on the evening train for Kinston.

Jewels to the Front.

It was not the purpose of the Jewels to have much to say during the busy months of the year, but events of a public nature now demand their attention, and silence might be construed as indifference, so they again come to the front.
The action of the Democratic Convention at Goldsboro does not suit the Panel. If the party has distinctive principles, it should have distinctive candidates to represent those principles. If it has no principles it needs no candidate, as no candidate very effectually represents no principles.
If the convention was endeavoring to influence results in the Republican party, the members should reflect upon the great success attending a previous attempt to conduct a campaign for two parties at a time.

The memorable Prohibition campaign is charged to the account of the Democrats, who chaperoned the bill and harangued the people because they thought it more popular than it proved to be at the polls, and then like the old woman when the parrot was after her, "was opposed to the meeting at first," when the people had decided to take theirs without prohibition.

Adhere to principles is the advice of the Panel to all political leaders who wish to succeed. Leave expediency to demagogues who generally succeed only in showing that they are demagogues.

Then there is the matter of spelling again agitating the public mind. Old Mr. Pollock spelled it with a "c." Young Mr. Pollok now "c" it and spells it without a "c." Now as the old gentleman has quit spelling it at all, and the young gentleman still spells, the Panel have decided to let him spell.

This much they can say for the young man, and that is, his way is the shortest, and in saving so many "c's" it would, in the course of events, save oceans of trouble in writing and printing the name. The salvage by this method, it will be seen, amounts to just one seventh of the whole, and the seventh, be it remembered, was held in great reverence by a devout and loyal people in days that are gone.

The name of Newbern is again on the rack. This subject has engaged the careful attention of the Panel, and the conclusion reached is that the small "b" and terminal "n," as far back as the beginning of the 17th century, smacks muchly of a literary crank.

Whoever doubts this is referred to the bits of history in Sunday's JOURNAL for a true index to the style of spelling then practiced. When land is spelled lannde, and mast maste, it looks cranky to spell Bernebera. This question, however, has so often been up and so often decided both ways, that the Panel feel inclined to confirm the decision below, and deem the pronunciation in both cases of Pollok and New Berne so little effected by the different modes, as to likely never lead to serious trouble.

Many persons have argued upon these questions, and many have listened to arguments.

Many more have not argued upon these questions, and many more have not listened to arguments and yet there is no one in this great mass of beings that has any clearly defined, and well grounded opinion as to what time the Episcopalians will finish their spire or put more suitable gas fixtures in their church.

The Jewels feel inclined to congratulate the Cotton Exchange upon the near completion of their platform, and suppose the unalid planks are in some way affected by the Ohio news.

The Panel will in the warm days of next summer endeavor to show a more explicit appreciation of the advantages of it than they have heretofore.

Before the Jewels again address the people, a great election will take place. It is therefore proper that the Panel give advice as to that event. Be sure to vote, be sure to vote the ticket, be equally sure to vote the ticket of your choice, and remember that duties are man's, and consequences are God's.

Kinston Items.

Bryan Smith, coroner of Duplin county, was waylaid and shot to death while on his horse going to feed his hogs. The assassin nor the cause of the assassination has not come to light.

Our Superior court adjourned the fall term Saturday at half past 12 o'clock p. m. It has been quite a busy week, the criminal side of the docket taking up all the week. The civil docket was not reached.

State vs. Lewis Bryant, receiving stolen hogs—convicted and sent to the penitentiary two years.

State vs. Moses Anderson, larceny—turned over to next inferior court.

State vs. George Jenkins, larceny—sent to the penitentiary two years.

State vs. Charles Barber, a youth, convicted and imprisoned in the county jail twelve months for entering the store of R. Edwards at night with intent to commit a felony.

State vs. Sylvester Lawhorn, for shooting Herman Bryon; on affidavit of defendant removed to Duplin county.

State vs. Henry Kennedy for killing Louis Croon—jury failed to agree—mistrial—continued and defendant bonded to spring term of this court, 1883.

State vs. Wm. C. Collins, a bright mulatto, for the murder of his child—verdict, murder; sentenced by the court to be hung at Kinston on the 8th day of December next between the hours of 12 o'clock m. 3 p. m. The judgment was solemn and impressive, but the doomed man seemed to be utterly indifferent to his fate.

The presiding Judge gave universal satisfaction and impressed his people with the conviction of his honesty, ability and impartiality.

Onslow County Items.

I have not much to write this week, as I am very busy on the tramp; having some fun now and then.

The people in this neighborhood can't get cotton pickers, and their cotton patches are white with cotton.

Some very bad weather for several days past but now it is fair and we had a heavy frost in this vicinity for two nights past.

Whitford and Brown get ashy and give one another severe blows; don't mean fifty cuff blows, but talking blows though I thought at one time they would get together. The rest of the candidates seem to get on very smoothly.

The negroes don't like their candidates here talking about not voting for Wasson for Solicitor, and say they won't vote for any one who will not support Wasson. Hoyt says he won't support Wasson but will support Galloway for Solicitor.

The horses are dying in this county considerably. Mr. Charlie Russell lost a fine mare a few days ago, one of, if not the fattest animal in the county in harness. Mr. Harvey Cox lost one also yesterday. Several others have lost some too. The disease is blind staggers.

Mr. Henry Sandlin has ten acres of as good cotton as any I have seen, except Mr. C. Stephens, who has a larger quantity and of course looks better, but Sandlin's will average 450 pounds lint per acre per ten acres, while Stephen's will average the same perhaps for fifty acres or more; the corn crops are all good. Frank Thompson, Onslow county's "mimic" is in fine spirits and in the best of humor, and well he may be, for he too has a splendid crop of cotton and corn, besides some of the finest potatoes we have seen. "Cousin Frank" as he is commonly called, is confident of his son's election to the legislature and that makes him feel proud.

The State Campaign.

(Wilmington Star.)
Col. O. H. Dockery will speak at Raleigh on Thursday night Nov. 2d.

Surry is certain, as everybody acquainted with her politics will agree. Fulton will get no less than 400 majority.—Mt. Airy News.

The canvass is progressing satisfactorily to our candidates and gives assurance that the entire ticket will be elected by increased majorities.—Goldsboro Messenger.

Senator Vance spoke to a large crowd at Graham yesterday. It was the largest assemblage that has been seen in Graham since the Vance-Settle campaign.—J. M. Leach, Jr., has declined to join his father in the discussion to-day.—Greensboro Patriot.

On Friday November 3d, the people of Iredell county will have a big day in Statesville, when Senator Vance and Hon. R. T. Bennett will deliver addresses. Upon this occasion, there will be a mounted street parade, and a free public dinner. Senator Vance has also made an appointment to speak at Mooresville, on November 4th.—Charlotte Observer.

A correspondent writing from Wadesville, Montgomery county, says the Democrats are hopeful of a victory. Mr. J. M. Brown, a young man of promise, is the candidate for the Senate for the District composed of Montgomery and Richmond, and he is giving Graham, the Mongrel candidate, a hot time.

Abandon Folk and the Liberals and elect Dockery and the Republicans on the ticket is now the cry of the bosses.—An esteemed correspondent writes us that Major Chas. Price was to have spoken Monday at Sanford, Moore county, but found ready to greet him an audience of but four negroes and one white man.—Raleigh News-Observer.

Finding a Baby in a Broadway 'Bus.

Driver Michael Mahoney detached the horses from the pole of omnibus 938 of the Madison avenue line at the stables yesterday, made his report to the company, and then found on a seat in the bus a squalling baby very richly dressed. In regular course it reached the hands of Matron Webb, in Police Headquarters, who has had to do with no end of babies, and who said that "this baby's very cool showed it to be of high degree."—N. Y. Sun.

Fall Oats.

Mr. Eugene Eckel has forty acres of oats now three feet high and heading. If he had three weeks more before frost they would do to cut; but, as it is, he fears he will lose his whole crop. He believed the cry of an early fall and sowed in July.—Greensboro Eagle.
