Skating masquerade at the Weinstein building to-night.

About 1800 bushels of rice were sold yesterday from $1.00 to $1.03.

Second growth of apple blossoms are on our table, raised in New Berne.

We noticed several large boxes of fruit trees on the steamer wharfs yesterday.

Raleigh cotton sellers complain about the trouble and delay in getting cotton weighed.

Mr. U. S. Mace has a windlass, and he thinks it ought to be used to lift Geo. Credle out of his bed every morning.

A prominent physician in the city says the article in yesterday's JOURNAL on "Near-sightedness" was worth a year's subscription to the paper.

Wm. Erwin reports to us that Mr. Durham Hassell has twenty-five collards that will measure five feet each across, and two leaves will "mess" the family.

Miss Lizzie Oliver, a teacher of considerable experience, has been employed to assist in the primary department of the New Berne Graded school. More new pupils came in yesterday.

Capt. Octavius Coke asks us to warn Democrats that bogus tickets are being circulated by Republicans which read, "Riden Tyler Bennett." The right ticket is "Riden Tyler Bennett."

Sheriff Murrill, of Onslow, is in our city. He brings good Democratic news from his county. A full vote will be polled, and the Democratic majority will be larger than it was two years ago. —W. L. Star.

In passing Hanf's Music House yesterday the reporter heard some one drawing the bow with the skill of a professional. This with an accompaniment from a cornet made some very fine music.

One of the Republican candidates for Sheriff in this county is reported as saying that if his opponent would "pay up" the costs so far incurred in the contest, he would withdraw. It is thought that costs on each side have run up to about $1500.

The New Berne papers speak of a shock being experienced by many in that city, on Monday of last week, which was similar to that produced by an earthquake at a distance from the seat of disturbance. The same shock was felt here, and was of sufficient force to cause windows to rattle in some instances. —W. L. Star.

Supreme Court Decisions.
We copy from the News and Observer the following statement of decisions by the Supreme court:

Starkey McDaniel vs. C. M. Pollock et al., from Jones; no error; judgment affirmed.

Ardon Williams vs. John F. McCoy, from Lenoir; no error; judgment affirmed.

State vs. Wright Daniel, from Pitt; error; venire de novo.

Graded School Fund.

In collecting up the contributions to the Graded School some few of the subscribers have not yet paid in the first installment. They ought to pay in promptly and not wait to be called on. In the beginning we published in the JOURNAL the list of names of the donors to the Graded School fund. It would not be a bad idea, at the end of the collections, to publish the list of names who subscribed and do not pay.

Your Name in Print.

Capt. C. D. Fox, George Summerville and Mr. Jenkins, of the firm of Bynum & Jenkins, all of White Oak, Jones county, were in the city yesterday.

Col. John N. Whitford passed down to Carteret last night to introduce his opponent, H. Frank Brown, to the good people of that county.

Alonso Leary, of Jones, and Nick Cox, of Onslow, were at the Exchange yesterday with cotton.

Telegraphic Communication with Beaufort.

The following telegram was received at 8 o'clock last night:

BEAUFORT, N. C., Nov. 2d, 1882.
TO NEW BERNE JOURNAL:—Beaufort sends greetings to New Berne and would have her join in congratulations that we are connected by telegraph with the outside world, all through the energy of Mr. Thomas Duncan. Beaufort is now in the line of progress.
N. M. JURNERY.

River Steamers.

Three steamers from up Neuse yesterday. The Kinston arrived from Kinston last night with 115 bales of cotton, 56 through and 20 local, and 15 passengers.

Following close upon the Kinston was the Neuse with 46 bales of cotton and 50 bushels of rice. The Contentnea brought up the rear with 12 bales of cotton, about 300 bushels of rice and seven passengers.

The L. H. Cutler arrived from Vanceboro yesterday evening with shingles and turpentine.

Stop Smoking.

The Cotton Exchange have directed signs to be painted and placed in conspicuous places, forbidding smoking of pipes, cigars, etc., about the cotton platform, and will ask an ordinance from the city council to that effect.

The custom of smoking there is a dangerous one, and no good citizen should object to having it abolished. While on the subject we would say that it is also a custom for persons to smoke in the sample room, although a sign prohibiting it is before them. This, we believe, is a violation of the ordinance on the building and should also be discontinued.

Rain Prophecies.

The rain yesterday recalled the fact that it had been foretold by at least two persons in New Berne two days ago; so we have some followers of Vennor in our midst. Mr. H. W. Lane of Stonewall was in the office on Tuesday morning, and confidently predicted rain for Thursday, "because," said he, "I have set that day to commence threshing rice, and it always rains at that time." The other prediction was from Captain Gates, who as an old sea captain has learned to watch the clouds and predict results. At three o'clock on Tuesday he confidently asserted there would be rain within 48 hours; and at 2 p. m. on yesterday the rain came down.

A Startling Telegram.

We give below a telegram received from the Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee. It is difficult to believe there is any foundation to the rumor, and until further advised we will believe it is incorrect. We cannot believe the Republican party is so foolish as to proceed to adopt such desperate remedies. And yet the name of McLindsay carries many suggestions of those infamous days, and the movement in getting up Federal Supervisors in this peaceable country bodes no good for a quiet election.

The following dispatch has just been received:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2d:—The Post of to-day exposes the radical plan to bulldoze North Carolina. Northern hirelings and roughs are to be sent to the election precincts of the State to intimidate the people and influence the election. Mr. Hubbell, and heads of the department authorize this. McLindsay is employed to execute the work and negroes and other employees from the State are assessed to assist in paying the expenses of these desperadoes.
OCTAVIUS COKE.

At the Graded School.

The JOURNAL reporter, accompanied by Capt. Dewey, paid the Graded school a short visit yesterday to see what the 7th and 9th grades were doing. A few minutes were given to the German class in Miss Core's room. We were a little surprised to find only ten in the class. This study, as also French, is optional but it should be taken up by all the advanced pupils who can possibly spare the time. Miss Core's pronunciation is very distinct, and we think remarkably pure. The reporter has been too long away from his books, however, to speak ex cathedra on that point.

In Professor Wardlaw's room Latin was on the boards during our visit. Here we learn that the old-fashioned pronunciation is to be taught, and not the so-called "Kike" and "Dike" additions. It is understood that the pronunciation in our University and in other good Latin schools in the State will return to their first love in this respect.

We notice Prof. Wardlaw's method of teaching the Latin grammar includes incidentally a revision and study of the English language; and Latin, rightly taught, always does this, and for that reason has so long been considered an absolute necessity to a finished education. The exercises on the board, in translating, is a valuable aid to a proper understanding of the structure and dependence of the different parts of a sentence.

A pleasant hour was soon passed, and a promise to call again was readily given by both visitors.

Farmer's Public Meeting.

The following statement we copy from a printed circular handed us by C. L. Debruhl, Esq.:

A meeting of the citizens of Deep Gully, both white and colored, was held at that place on the night of Oct. 31st, 1882, for the purpose of forming a Farmers' Club, and organized by electing C. L. Debruhl, temporary chairman and Richard Bogey, secretary, and after transacting the business before the meeting, it adjourned to meet on Thursday night, Nov. 9th, at half past 7 o'clock, at which time and place a permanent organization will be made, and all farmers in Craven and Jones counties adjacent thereto are requested to attend. The objects of this organization are as follows:

Believing as we do that we have to submit to sundry grievances in the sale of our farm products in the city of New Berne, and knowing that all other classes of citizens have organizations for their own protection, this meeting is called to adopt some plan by which we may rid ourselves of said grievances, and if possible advance the interest of farmers.

E. R. Page, Capt. W. A. Thompson, Col. J. N. Whitford and others will address the meeting.

Postoffice Troubles.

The following correspondence will explain itself. The postmaster may be wrong in his surmises as to cause of discontinuing the office, but the result affects us to some extent. We are losing subscribers by it at that office.

NEW BERNE, Oct. 27th, '82.
To the Postmaster at Hollywood, Carteret County, N. C.:

We learn that your Postoffice and station has been discontinued. Please send us particulars, stating the number of papers and periodicals taken there, and the cause of discontinuance if you know it.
NEW BERNE JOURNAL.

HOLLYWOOD, Carteret county N. C. Mr. Editor:—In reply to your inquiry I respectfully state that this station (Hollywood) was established to take the place of Carolina City post office and station destroyed during the war.

This postoffice and station has been established about eight years, and has been of great service to the citizens. It is about 5 miles from Morehead City and has been discontinued, and this post office is broken up, as I am informed and believe solely through personal malice against Mr. Oaksmith by Messrs. Best, Caddagan & Andrews at present controlling the Midland N. C. R. R. They have established a new office and station called "Andrews" about five miles west from here by the county road, and propose to force our citizens to go there. No one will even go there from here; they prefer to go to Morehead if this outrage is finally consummated. Col. Andrews has ordered the trains not to stop here, greatly to the inconvenience of many living in the neighborhood.

It has been reported that this imposition was brought about through the agency of Wm. P. Canady, and that the Midland employees are electioneering in his behalf to pay for it. These are reports which have been circulated here lately. I know nothing more of the causes, but suppose the above to be true. Application will be made to Congress for an investigation.

The people here are looking anxiously to have the railroad back in the hands of Col. Whitford again, as they are sick of this dark lantern tyranny. The following papers and periodicals are now taken at this office (several copies of some of them):

Wilmington Post, Wilmington Star, New Berne Daily and Weekly JOURNAL, Goldsboro Messenger, Beaufort Telephone, Farming World, N. C. Farmer, Home and Fireside, Newbernian, Home and Farm, Biblical Recorder, Star and Covenant, State Journal, Dumb Animals, Sabbath School Messenger, Phila. Tribune and Farmer, Methodist Advance, Herald of Health, Phenological Journal, New York World, Home Journal, New South, Family Herald, American Register, Sunday School Times, The Farm, Ridley Magazine.

About seventy people get their mail here at present. Of course if the office is abolished, most of these papers will be discontinued. Mr. Oaksmith will have something to say shortly about this outrage. He is now in Raleigh, where letters will reach him at the Yarbrow.

Respectfully,
E. MASON, P. M.

The Sixth Internal Revenue Investigating Committee.

Senator Vance states that the Senate Committee, of which he is chairman, will resume its sittings on the 13th of this month at Morganton, and will continue its inquiries regarding the administration of the affairs of the Sixth Internal Revenue District of North Carolina. Senators Mitchell of Pennsylvania, and McGill of Iowa, are the two other members of the committee. These gentlemen could not come to North Carolina before the time stated, although Senator Vance endeavored to have the inquiry resumed before that time. —Charlotte Journal.

Pollockville-Pollockville.

BEAUFORT, N. C., Nov. 1st, 1882.

DEAR JOURNAL:—I had no idea when I wrote to you that I should see my "name in print," as I am not ambitious of notoriety. I have, it seems, awakened the criticism of "Nature" and must add a few words in my defense. Since writing to you I have examined a reliable and learned work on the "origin of family names," and this author says Pollock (with a c) is local, and derived from a Parish in Scotland by name Pollock, which name was given to the family by way of distinction. Therefore it belongs not only to a family but also to a parish, and no individual of that family has a right, through his own whim or by his own authority, to mispell that name because the name does not belong to him alone, but to a family more or less extensive and also to a parish. Again Dr. Francis Hawks not only examined the (I will not say "old") as that word seems to call up sad reflections in the mind of Nature records of New Berne, but went to England to search all the records there which could afford material for his History and he spells the name of Pollock with a "c," and any one who was acquainted with Dr. Hawks and knew of his great learning and accurate record would not question his authority in the matter. Again I have in my possession an old map of New Berne, drawn by Jonathan Price, who, I think, was noted for his accuracy and who had the means to ascertain the correct spelling of that name and he, in mentioning the street called Pollock, spells it with a "c." And last, not least, there is, I believe, a worthy and by no means ignorant family of that name in or about Kinston, and if I mistake not they spell their name with a "c." Now all that I can find against these facts is that there is a neat and thriving village in a neighboring county which spells Pollock without a "c," and a deed or a few deeds given by George Pollock in which the "c" is omitted while (I think) this same gentleman spells his name sometimes with a "c" and sometimes without a "c," but he being only an individual, had no right nor any authority to change the family name.

Yours, etc.,
E. M. FORBES.

Stonewall Items.

Mrs. J. H. Gaskins is very sick; and so is Mr. Jno. S. Riggs, one of our best citizens.

Mr. F. F. Cherry lost as fine a horse as the county holds on the morning of the 30th ult.; staggers the cause.

Mr. George Hinnat had the misfortune to lose his infant daughter last week, caused by whooping cough.

It is my sad fate to report the death of Mrs. Rebecca Woodward, the mother of T. F. Woodward, Esq., aged 70 years.

Daniel Cooper, one of the best colored citizens Pamlico contained, fell dead on the 28th ult. while passing rice to the thrasher.

Mr. F. B. Miller died at his residence week before last, aged about 60 years. He had been lingering for some time. He was one of our best citizens.

Mrs. Catherine Cahoon, the consort of Mr. Nathan Cahoon, died on the 30th ult., aged about 50 or 55 years. A good woman has passed over the river.

You will hardly hear from this quarter any more until after the triumph of Independents on the 7th inst., unless something turns up worth reporting; too much to see after. Politics is all I recollect.

Rena, about three or four years old, a twin daughter of Jos. O. Baxter, died on the 28th ult. Mr. Baxter has the true sympathy of all who knew Rena, and especially your correspondent, for she was a bright, interesting child.

I have just returned from Goose Creek Island. The good weather is causing a pleasant spread on the farmer's phiz, but the shortness of the crop prevents as much expansion as it otherwise would have. The cotton, as in all parts of Pamlico, is very short, and late corn is almost a failure. Rice is far below expectations, but there are three things that hold their own, i. e., fish, oysters, and the whole-souled hospitality of her people. I will venture the assertion that no living human being was ever charged a cent for a night's lodging and fare throughout the island; and if you wish to ride over the best roads in the State make one trip there, but you must not count the road getting on. —J. S. L.

County Canvass.

The county canvass progresses well for the Democratic nominees. Voters are being added to the cause every day. The Liberal move gains notoriety, but from appearances, losses, at every place, and by the day of election not many more votes than the candidates poll themselves will be found on their side. Mr. Simmons worries the bull dog of the Liberals at every point, and tells hard against the strength of the Republicans in the county, while all our candidates create good impressions on every hand. —North State Press.
