LOCAL NEWS.

Journal Minute Almanac.
Sun rises, 7:06 | Length of day,
Sun sets, 4:50 | 9 hours, 44 minutes.
Moon sets at 1:39 p. m.

Go to the Theatre to-night at seven o'clock.

Thirty-five hundred bushels of rice in market yesterday. Sales were small.

The internal revenue collections yesterday for this district amounted to $850.

A county man inquired at the National Bank yesterday if they kept combs for sale there.

The young men of Vanceboro propose to have a grand tournament next Friday and ball at night.

A nice lot of Matamoras apples in market yesterday from Hyde county. They sold for $3.32 per barrel.

Several car loads of fine ash wood were brought down at the Midland road yesterday. It is held at $4.40 per cord at the depot.

Mr. Geo. R. Harris, of Hyde county, shipped last week, per Capt. Jim E. Berry, one hundred fine roosters to this city. Who will crow for Mr. Harris now?

Mr. C. A. Pitts, of Concord N. C., the newly elected member of the State Grange that met in Rocky Mount last week, was at La Grange last Saturday visiting relatives.

The entertainment at the Theatre to-night by Willoughby Reade will commence at seven o'clock sharp, in order to get through in time to let the audience stop at the Presbyterian Festival.

Mr. Richard Broad of Albemarle township, Duplin county, has a baby two years old, that will weigh four hundred pounds. The baby, as he calls him, was fattened on chufas and is a very fine hog.

We intended to say in Sunday's paper that no "receiver" was appointed by Judge McKee in the Oaksmith-Midland suit. An injunction was granted as will be seen by an extract from the Wilmington Review.

A number of the directors of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad will be in the city next week prepared themselves for the holidays by learning magic and slight of hand from a professional here. They are wild over their acquisition of knowledge and will "astonish the natives" now they are at home.—News Observer.

For the Children.
Professor Willoughby Reade requests all the children of the Graded school to assemble at the Theatre to-day promptly at 8 o'clock, when he will give them a pleasant entertainment free of charge.

Right Kind of Visitors.
A lot of our Lenoir and Greene county friends in yesterday, buying in Christmas fixings from JOURNAL advertisers. Mr. J. F. Mewborne was patronizing B. A. Bell and N. M. Gas-kill; Mr. E. L. Sutton with John Dunn and A. H. Potter; Messrs. Adam Bright and Ellis Sugg went to Detrick's and Whitman's, while Messrs. J. E. W. Sugg and J. L. Kennedy were buying promiscuously.

The Sociable To-night.
The ladies of the Presbyterian church were busy yesterday preparing for the "sociable." They have a fine display of Japanese goods, yases, china tea sets, boxes, hair pins, shell, dolls, fans, etc. The sale will begin this evening and continue to-morrow. A splendid opportunity to buy Christmas presents. Refreshments will be served. To-night at the lecture room.

Fire at Falling Creek.
From passengers who arrived on the train Monday morning we learn that the store house and goods of Messrs. Geo. A. Herring and J. Pipkin of Falling Creek were burned on Sunday night. Later in the day Col. J. W. Andrews received the following:

KINSTON, Dec. 18, 1882.
J. W. ANDREWS, Supt.—The R. R. station house and books were destroyed by fire last night. Ticket case saved. Will resign position as agent for present.
J. PIPKIN.

Here's Science.
"Here's science" exclaimed George Ash. He testified one of the witnesses before Justice Chapman as he threw himself into a boxing attitude, and waited the onslaught of Alex. McKay in front of his store Monday morning. But Alex called in with his fists flying like a wind-mill, and before "science" knew herself her guards were broken down, and she had carried his face in a town the balance of the day, covering a black-eye.

The testimony, however, showed that the witness was not in a position to give the difficulty, and he denied using the scientific words deposed to by some of the witnesses.

Willoughby Reade.
The audience last night were highly pleased. Burdette's "Brakeman at Church," "Karl the Blacksmith" and Dr. Bagby's "How Ruby played" were especial favorites.

He reads again to-night, commencing at seven o'clock, with the following program: Poe's Raven; Visit to the Dentist; The Lady and the Tiger; Mark Twain's Punch in the presence of the Passengaire; Consolation Poetry by Max Adeler; Hamlet (extract); Popping the Question; and Character Sketches and Personalities.

New Berne as a Rice Market.
Over three thousand bushels of rice from Hyde county were in the market yesterday. The bulk of the rice in that county, we learn, is generally shipped to Charleston. But evidently it does not pay to ship it there with such little difference in the price. We have been quoting once a week the prices paid for rice in Charleston and Wilmington, leading rice markets, and the New Berne prices are so near to those of Charleston we think our Hyde county farmers are beginning to recognize the fact and will ship here.

Your Name in Print.
Mr. J. E. W. Sugg, of the firm of Sugg & Bro., near Snow Hill, is in the city with a flat load of cotton. Mr. Sugg advertised in to-day's JOURNAL for a first-class Sawyer. If any one in the city wishes to get a good situation Mr. Sugg could be seen to-day before leaving on the 3 o'clock train.

Mr. B. P. Sutton, of Lenoir, was in the city on Monday, for the first time in eight years.

Mr. David Dixon, of Hookerton, is in the city with a lot of cotton.

Johnson Bryan was in the city on Monday, looking for Santa Claus.

Steamer Arrivals.
The Varina, Capt. Frank Bell, from Sladesville on Sunday with a cargo of rice and cotton.

The Annie Farrow, Capt. Barna Peelle, on Saturday from Middleton with 1,500 bushels of rice and 400 bushels of corn.

The Lena, Capt. Joe. Rose, on Saturday night from Englehard with a cargo of rice.

The Gor. Vance, Capt. S. H. Spencer, on Sunday with cargo of rice from Hyde.

The Mary S., Capt. Jim Berry, on Sunday night from Juniper Bay with cargo of corn.

Steamer Arrivals.
The Goldsboro, of the Clyde line, came in Sunday night from Baltimore with a cargo of general merchandise.

The Jessamine, Light House tender, came into port on Sunday.

The Mellow Bug came in Monday evening from Hookerton with seventy-nine bales of cotton for Sugg & Bro.

The Caracadden arrived Saturday night from Hookerton with a cargo of one hundred bales of cotton.

The L. H. Cutler from Trenton and Polkville on Saturday night, with 61 bales of cotton, 400 bushels of rice and 232 bushels of cotton seed.

The steamer Trent, from Bayboro and Adam's creek, on Saturday night with 122 bales of cotton through and 6 local.

Bad Weather.
Ye agent had the pleasure of dining with Anthony Davis of Pink Hill on last Thursday, and he had some remarkably fine looking geese; said geese were a terrible noise in the yard when Mr. Davis remarked that we are going to have some bad weather.

Reporter—Those are fine looking geese; what variety are they?

Davis—Some call them White Chinese, but I call them Democrats.

Reporter—In what respects do the geese resemble Democrats.

Davis—Because they are so noisy.

Reporter—When Democrats are noisy it indicates bad weather does it?

Davis—Yes, to the Republicans in Lenoir county.

Cotton Yesterday.
Only thirty-six bales sold at the Exchange yesterday. There is a good quantity on the platform which will probably be put on the market to-day or tomorrow. Prices ranged from 9 to 2.40. New York futures closed easy. Sales, 70,000 bales. Liverpool unchanged.

Graded School.
Mr. Editor.—Some one has imposed on you in stating that Mr. H. W. Wahab's motive in moving to New Berne was on account of the Graded School. He has no children to send to school, and his moving here is on account of business strictly. The thing sounds exactly like one of George Credle's yarns.

You have not read the article close enough. The piece mentioned did not say Mr. Wahab was coming here to send children to school, but chiefly on account of our Graded School. If Mr. Credle did give us the information, he doubtless meant that Mr. Wahab recognizes the presence of a good graded school as a sure precursor of future business prosperity, and therefore New Berne is now a splendid place to do business.

And that is a right decision. The Graded School has already caused an advance in rents and price of real estate, and only the beginning has been felt. The session commencing in October was too late to capture a large number of young men and young ladies from the adjoining counties who had entered the excellent private schools at Kinston and La Grange, but next year all this will be changed and the New Berne Graded School will get nearly all of them; and their presence will help considerably to swell the revenues of both school and private enterprises. And in a few years the free education of every child in New Berne will begin to make itself felt in business circles, and the world will see what splendid progress an educated community can make in all that tends to develop trade, increase manufactures, and in fostering all business enterprises.

Mr. Wahab's choice is a wise one, and whether the Graded School influenced him or not, it is well worthy consideration from a purely business standpoint.

DIED.
In the village of Richlands on the 13th day of December, Cyrus Thompson Steed, infant son of M. B. and Orpha Steed, aged one year, six months and twenty-five days. Methodist papers please copy.

Near the village of Richlands on the night of the 13th of December, L. G. Woodward, aged sixty-seven years and six months.

Mr. Woodward was born in the State of Pennsylvania and graduated at Dickinson College where he received the degree of A. M. In the year of 1848 he came to the county of Onslow and for twenty-six years afterward he was constantly engaged in teaching school in the village of Richlands which was a branch of preparatory school for Randolph College of Virginia. Among his surviving pupils may be numbered some of the leading men of North Carolina today. He was a scholar of the first order but his quiet, unostentatious manner barred him from occupying that position before the public that his talents merited; the present social station of this section is largely due to his influence and mental training. Two years prior to his death he was efficiently filling the place of County Superintendent of Public Instruction. In his death Onslow has lost one of her purest and best citizens, and the Methodist church has lost one of its most consistent members, and a truly pious man. He leaves a wife, two sons and one daughter and a host of friends to mourn his loss. The angel reaper came and garnered in a harvest for the Lord. He fills life's mission and falls with honors clustering upon him. Peace to his ashes; in Heaven rest his soul. A FRIEND.

A Dangerous Citizen.
(Washington Capital.)
It was not a Democratic Governor who sat down to dinner with the President on Tuesday evening. It was simply Gov. Butler, the most dangerous citizen who ever effected a lodgment in either of the great national parties. Mr. Arthur has always had a fondness for Gen. Butler, and the little dinner party was a pleasant one. There is a bond between them now which is likely to grow stronger as the session advances. Gov. Butler has only one important aim at present—that is to secure the defeat of Senator Hoar. In that enterprise he has the sympathy of Mr. Arthur, and the common opinion is that they will carry their point.

A Good Chamberman.
A New York chamberman was arraigned Tuesday on charge of a petty theft, and being required to give bond, John F. Betz, a Philadelphia brewer, stepped forward. The justice, with commendable caution, wanted to know how much money Mr. Betz was worth clear of incumbrances. His honor could have crawled through a quill when the brewer replied: Two millions of dollars.

A mule, weighing over three hundred pounds fell at Mount Airy, N. C., Sunday evening. Its fall was accompanied by a violent explosion that shook every building in the town. There was a brilliant momentary illumination.

Fallen at his Post.
In Memory of REV. ELIAS DODSON.
(New South.)

If honor and humility doth lie,
And praise for faithfulness deserved be,
If toil and zeal unwearied merit have,
And ceaseless labor for the Master's cause,
Ensure his "well done faithful servant mine"—
Then honor, praise and reverent love we'll lay
Upon his bier who fell on yesterday.
Known through breadth and length of our whole State,
By mountain tarn and by the ocean's marge,
In hamlet, city, village, far or near,
This man of purpose high, and soul sincere,
Life's master—thought for him, God and his cause!
Unknown where fashion tricks the ways of men,
Scorned and derided by a shallow world,
And yet a hero, grander in his toil
Than he who conquers worlds and dies unwept!
Misfortune misses thee, and friendless poor,
Shall watch in vain the coming of thy steps.
Thy name shall pass—the workman buried is,
The work goes on unto thy glorious goal.
Oh wearied feet that never rested much,
Rest by the Jasper sea; 'bide gentle soul,
Within the sunshine of perpetual peace.
With reverent hand we lay our praises down,
And give to Him, the Man Divine, all praise,
Who moulded such a faithful soul from dust.
Though floral tributes did not mock thy bier,
And shall—while the magnolia sweet shall weep,
Her petals pure, in fragrant tears of love,
Lay down the tired pilgrim—face and eyes
So they can catch the "golden-ricing crown"
Of Christ sunrise. Hush! let all weeping cease,
He rests in God—call not his grave a grave,
Tis but the sleeping place. "The chamber Peace."
WILLOUGHBY READE,
Wilmington, Dec. 14, 1882.

Rev. Mr. Dodson was received and kindly ministered to by Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Oldham of this city, at whose house he died. He was buried beneath a beautiful magnolia, planted by Mr. Oldham some twenty years ago, in his burial lot.

All Over The South.
Montgomery, Ala., has the electric light.
William Millsap, a Georgia Samson, easily carries 1,000 pounds on his shoulders.
The Texas penitentiaries at Huntsville and Rusk have been leased at $10,000 per annum each.
J. J. Sims, Postmaster at Oxford, Ala., is missing, together with $1,500 of Government money.
Nineteen penal convictions were made at the recent session of the Montgomery, Ala., City Court.
Of the forty marriage associations that were recently doing business in Memphis, but two survive.

A rich tin mine, said to be the only one in the United States, has been discovered in Clay county, Ala.

South Carolina rejoices because her securities are once more above par, and there is no floating State debt.

Ty Ty, Ga., is scandalized over the leading astray of a young daughter of Dr. Kendrick, a prominent citizen, by her uncle.

Henry and Chas. Chambers, brothers, had a quarrel at Belton, Ga., and the latter was stabbed and killed by the former. They are sons of a wealthy farmer.

Savannah has fixed February 12, 1883, as the day on which to celebrate sesqui-centennial of the settlement of Georgia, Gov. Stephens will be orator of the day.

A bill has been passed by the Alabama Legislature to apply to Congress to appropriate the amount of the cotton tax collected in that State as a public school fund.

The Savannah News predicts that as much money will be invested in cotton factories and cotton-seed oil mills in the South next year as there has been this.

At Lucy Station Tenn., Emanuel Black, colored, was shot in the back of the head while attempting to escape arrest. The ball did not kill him, but was found under the scalp, mashed flat.

Georgia thieves are, perhaps, the boldest known. The papers of that State have frequent accounts of the rascals stealing bales of cotton, and frequently they steal the mules and wagon with which to haul it away.

At Newport, Tenn., in a fit of jealousy, Wm. Ramsey, aged fifty years, shot and killed Val. Clas, aged twenty-one. Ramsey then shot himself in the head, but is still alive, though both eyes were put out by the shot.

Anti Dyspeptic
FOR COOKING.
Extract from the PUBLIC LEDGER,
Phila., October 7th, 1882.

THE NEW OLIVE BUTTER
is excellent for frying purposes. There's something in a name, but, probably, nothing of the "olive" in the butter, except its color; but, besides, being assured by chemists that this is a perfectly pure vegetable oil, all housekeepers who have tried it will agree that it is extremely economical and makes a very delicate frying material. Here was formerly the custom in the kitchen over the frying pan; you could take lard, which was not cheap, and "used up" very fast; you had butter, which, besides being expensive, required a skillful cook to keep it from burning; or you could use salad oil, which, though costing alarmingly to begin with, required so little to do the work that the cooking school would tell you it was like the widow's crust—it did not seem to lose perceptibly; after frying fifty oysters the bottle was nearly as full as before. But very few American housekeepers could be brought by its first attractiveness, to try using sweet oil, which is the frying material of all South Europe. We leave out of the list "clarified fat," or dripping, because there is seldom enough of this to do the entire cooking with, even with a conscientious person in the kitchen who understands how to save and use it all, as it should always be insisted on. The two best known vegetable oils that this country produces are cotton-seed oil and peanut oil, both of which are understood to have been for years exported to Europe, coming back to us in white-covered tins as Italian olive oil. Real olive oil from California is so small a product, as yet, to count much in the home market. The manufacturers of the new olive oil, however, have agreed to give us a home product, warranted pure, without the ocean voyage, though to contemplate our ridiculous American prejudices, do not label it cotton seed or peanut oil, the former of which it probably is. Anybody who tries it will agree that it cooks as well as salad oil; and as all vegetable oils heat at lower temperature than the solid animal fats, it does not burn away or waste so rapidly as lard. It comes in convenient cans, with a month's shelf life, like the French olive oil, so that you can pour off just the desired quantity for use, and, after cooking, this can be carefully strained and returned to the can, except it has been used for fish, when it must be put in a separate bottle and kept apart for this use. It has a slightly pungent smell when cooking, which is said to be entirely removed by the use of a pinch of salt, but which is no worse than other frying through the house. The egg-plants, oysters, clam or corn-brothers, that are turned out of olive butter by a good cook, have not a particle of grease about them, nor any taste whatever of the medium in which they are fried.
